Jersey Teamsters To Appear In Police Lineup

By PETE YOST
Associated Press Writer
DETROIT (AP) — Three New Jersey Teamsters, two with alleged Mafia ties, have been identified by a mysterious informant as the abductors and killers of James R. Hoffa. The three Teamsters — Salvatore Briguglio, his brother, Gabriel, and Thomas Andretta — have been ordered to appear in a police lineup before a second unidentified witness, who has told the government he saw Hoffa abducted.

The informant who will view the police lineup Saturday says he does not know the names of those who committed the crime, but would recognize them if he saw them again, the government said.

Federal and state law enforcement officials in New Jersey say Salvatore Briguglio and Thomas Andretta have mob ties to the Mafia family of the late Vito Genovese.

Robert Ozer, head of the U.S. Organized Crime Strike Force in Detroit, revealed the existence of both informants at a court hearing Thursday following the appearance of the trio before a federal grand jury probing Hoffa's July 30 disappearance.

William Bufalino of Detroit, the attorney for the Briguglio brothers and Andretta, said two of his clients had never been in the state of Michigan until this week. He said the third, Salvatore Briguglio, was in Detroit a few weeks ago for the first time, when he appeared before a federal grand jury.

"They weren't here last summer, I can tell you that," said Bufalino.

Ozer said in a written statement to the judge that the grand jury believes Hoffa's disappearance is linked to "a pattern of racketeering activity" engaged in by the three New Jersey Teamsters.

Ozer also said the government will seek a grant of immunity for Stephen Andretta, the brother of Thomas Andretta. A Teamsters source said Stephen Andretta is one of many persons who overheard Provenzano say he would kill Hoffa if Hoffa tried to return to Teamsters leadership.

It was unclear from Ozer's written statement requesting the police lineup whether the first informant who named the three New Jersey Teamsters had actually seen Hoffa abducted and murdered, or merely had second-hand knowledge of the crimes.

Salvatore Briguglio is business agent of Local 560 in Union City, N.J., the union once headed by Anthony "Tony Pro" Provenzano, one of three men Hoffa believed he was on his way to meet the day he disappeared.

The three Teamsters at first refused to appear in a police lineup. Ozer then went before U.S. District Court Judge James P. Churchill, who heard arguments from Ozer and the Teamsters' attorney, William Bufalino. Churchill then ordered all three to appear in the lineup.

Bufalino said the government informants must be "from the lunatic fringe.... They must be looking for a favor or a reduced sentence."

Bufalino said he does not know who the informants are.

"Two of my clients (Andretta and Gabriel Briguglio) have never been to the state of Michigan," said Bufalino. "The

Dutch Won't Yield To Rebels' Demands

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands (AP) — The Dutch government showed no signs today of yielding to demands of South Moluccan nationalists holding more than 60 hostages in the Indonesian consulate in Amsterdam and aboard a stranded train in northern Holland. More than 150 police surrounded the consulate in which six terrorists held an estimated 30 captives, including 11 children. Sharpshooters were perched on buildings around the consulate as the siege entered its second day.

At Beilen, 90 miles to the north, 600 troops and 45 armored cars reinforced police and troops surrounding a four-coach local train in which five terrorists held 38 hostages. The gunmen have killed three hostages since hijacking the train Tuesday.

There was no possibility the Dutch government would endanger its good political and commercial relations with Indonesia by agreeing to the political demands of the terrorists, and the Indonesian government is certain to continue to reject all demands for South Moluccan independence as it has all other secessionist attempts in its far-flung archipelago.

The terrorists are exiles or sons of exiles from the South Molucca islands in the Indonesian archipelago. The South Moluccas were part of the prewar Dutch East Indies and became part of Indonesia when the Dutch gave their vast island colony independence in 1949.

Thousands of the islanders fled to Holland when the Jakarta government took over after an unsuccessful rebellion in 1950, and there are now about 40,000 South Moluccans in the country.

The train hijackers issued a new set of demands Thursday, which in addition to safe passage out of the country included admission by the Dutch government that "great injustice" had been done to the South Moluccan people and a Dutch initiative for United Nations mediation of South Moluccan demands for independence.

Premier Joop den Uyl and senior cabinet members met though the night to discuss the twin acts of terror. Den Uyl said earlier prospects for a quick solution were "very somber." The government proclaimed a full alert of all royal marine and state police units in the country. The consulate building in Amsterdam also housed an in-

Reward Posted In Hit-Run Death

The family of an elderly man killed by a hit-run driver Oct. 29 has posted a $500 reward for information leading to the identity of the hit-run vehicle, the Benton Harbor state police post announced.

Trooper Gary Truskowski said the investigation into the death of Edward Grau, 76, of 258 Helmar court, Fairplain, is continuing, but he appealed to the public for assistance.

Truskowski urged anyone with information on the vehicle to telephone the state police post, and stressed that all information about the caller will be kept confidential.

The trooper reported a 1962 or '63 GMC truck is being sought in connection with the accident. Truskowski said the truck could be a blue-green and/or orange color, and noted it could be a pickup, stake, tractor truck or school bus. He added the vehicle may have some front end damage.

Grau was reported struck and killed while riding his bicycle to work around 3:35 a.m. on M-139, between Napier and Nickerson avenues in Benton township. A passerby saw the body in a business establishment driveway and notified police. There are no witnesses to the accident who have yet come forward, according to police.

Youths Freed Of Extortion Charges

The Berrien county prosecutor's office has dismissed extortion charges against six youths in connection with an alleged scheme to extort money from an elderly New Buffalo widow.

The dismissals came yesterday in Berrien juvenile court after two boys pleaded guilty there to assault charges stemming from another case.

The dismissals closed, a case which centered around the alleged extortion of some $1,000 from Mrs. Emma Welderich, 73, by a band of youths in New Buffalo, according to Asst. Prosecutor John Sullivan, who dismissed the charges.

Berrien Prosecutor John A. Smietanka labeled the case "fringe and frustrating."

Sullivan said extortion charges in connection with the Welderich case were dismissed against six boys because "we didn't feel there was sufficient evidence after hearing the testimony of Mrs. Welderich (at earlier proceedings)."

One boy was acquitted of a charge of extorting money from Mrs. Welderich during a recent jury trial in probate court, and last week a district court judge refused to bind the boy's parents over to circuit court for trial.

Judge John T. Hammond held there was insufficient evidence to bind the couple over on extortion charges. He said the principal witness, Mrs. Welderich, had difficulty remembering some of the important details. It was also indicated her testimony was difficult to understand because of her foreign accent and contained apparent contradictions.

The boy who was acquitted,

Michael Rheinoltz, 14, of New Buffalo, is the same youth who pleaded guilty yesterday before Probate Judge Zoe S. Burkholz to assault and battery against a 13-year-old boy Sept. 26 at the New Buffalo middle school. Sullivan said Rheinoltz was charged with beating the boy with his fists when a demand was made for 50 cents for each of four boys.

At the same time, Avery Caldwell, 15, also of New Buffalo, pleaded guilty before Judge Burkholz to aiding and abetting in the same assault at school. Sullivan said Caldwell

JUST FOR NEW TV SERIES Sonny And Cher Reunited

By JERRY BUCK
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sonny and Cher are together again, but it's only for a new television variety series.

The couple, divorced last June, will star in a show to replace Cher's present solo series on CBS in February.

"After we finish work every day we'll go our separate ways," said Sonny Bono, 40, at a news conference Thursday. Cher, 29, said she found her series limited and that she missed having Sonny to banter with.

Cher's tart-tongued putdowns were a characteristic of their hit show that ran for three seasons on CBS until its cancellation in May 1974 when their marriage broke up.

Although Sonny said the format of their new show is yet to be worked out, their witty battle of the sexes undoubtedly will be a part of it. She ad libbed several putdowns during the news conference. Sonny said, "Cher can hum and I know what she's thinking."

Sonny and Cher were married Oct. 27, 1964, and divorced last June 27. Three days later Cher married rock star Gregg Allman. She filed suit for divorce nine days after that, then filed suit for divorce in Macon, Ga., last month.

Cher and Sonny said they have no plans for a personal reconciliation.

Sonny's efforts at a solo series on ABC flopped last fall. Cher's show, which began last February, has been in serious trouble in the ratings lately.

Their show together was a hit and CBS obviously hopes that lightning will strike again.

Cher said, "It's not much fun working alone or working without Sonny. You have to build up a new relationship with a guest every week. I was getting very, very tired of working alone. When you want to ad lib there was no one there. I'd rather have more fun and half the glory."

Sonny said that although he enjoyed working alone "it's just not the same without Cher." He described their working together as "magic."

No Wonder Michigan Ranks 46th In Nation

A year ago Governor Milliken's office, the Muskegon city hall, the Michigan Chamber of Commerce and everyone else having a voice in that somewhat amorphous concept known as community betterment rolled out the red carpet for the North Star Steel Company.

The St. Paul, Minnesota, based firm had just announced that following a careful screening of many midwestern cities it has chosen Muskegon as the site for a new mill which when brought up to full capacity would hire 1,000 persons.

The announcement was particularly cheering for Muskegon which has its full share of the unemployment impact stemming from a yet to recover automotive nose dive and to the Lansing government which is greatly concerned with revitalizing the Michigan economy.

North Star's decision was hailed as symbolic of a turn-around in the abysmal opinion which most business and industrial people hold for our state.

Three weeks ago North Star informed the interested parties it had cancelled its plans to locate on the Muskegon waterfront.

The site selection required the company to submit voluminous material to the Army Engineers regarding the project's environmental impact.

Before the Engineers could get around to holding a public hearing on the matter a one-man outfit styled Muskegon Save Our Shoreline, Inc., filed suit in the Grand Rapids federal district court against North and the Secretary of the Army to enjoin permanently any construction.

The plaintiff cites all manner of state and federal laws as the basis for keeping North Star out of town.

In a letter, dated this past November 21st, to State Senator Joseph S. Mack, the Upper Peninsula's leading Democrat, the company cited the Michigan Environmental Protection Act of 1970 as the straw breaking the camel's back.

The North Star communication expressed confidence it could satisfy the Engineers and other federal standards, but pointed out the Michigan statute's wording is such that any obstructionist can hold up indefinitely in court any new business or industrial project on the flimsy ground it may influence the environment to some extent.

The key words in the statute read "is likely to have" a polluting effect.

In lay terms what the clause really does is to permit the mere assertion of danger to be the equivalent of an actual adversity until the petitioning planner proves to the contrary beyond all reasonable doubt.

The architect of that flummery is Thomas J. Anderson, a professor in the U-M law school.

Michigan legislators are no different than those who serve in other state capitols or in Congress. Few bother to read what they subsequently vote upon and only half of those who do peruse a bill probably understand its nuances and future implications.

Consequently it is not surprising the Anderson-Rockwell bill sailed through the state house during the early 1970's rush to cleanse the air, the waters and the earth between sunrise and sunset.

Mack who lost a battle a few months ago to amend the statute for the benefit of a mining project on Lake Superior's shoreline is still keeping up the fight to delete "is likely to have."

He is receiving precious little support for his effort.

His own party's leadership ignores him. While fighting the Democrats who want to boost Michigan's already ridiculously high workmen's compensation and unemployment benefits, Milliken sticks with the Anderson-Rockwell stumbling block. Only a few editors in the state's northern reaches support Mack. Those controlling the large circulation newspapers downstate paint him as a menace to the future generation's health and happiness.

So far as the North Star situation is concerned, there has been considerable journalistic speculation that money as usual lies at the bottom of the company's decision and that it merely cites Anderson-Rockwell as a convenience to hide other motives.

The environmentalists defend Anderson-Rockwell's "is likely to have" as the only means to avoid the classic difficulty of locking the barn after the horse has been stolen; that once a plant starts up, it becomes an uphill fight to force it to relieve what polluting effects it exerts.

The catch is that this prejudgment of guilt before a crime is even committed puts the entire economy behind the eight ball.

It is just one more element in our state's upside down approach which causes outside business and industrial leaders to rate Michigan as 46th among the 50 states as a desirable place in which to locate.

As most readers know, this column is not noted for its charity towards Democrats.

We are with Senator Mack, however, all the way in his fight.

Convictions Come Hard

People who continue asking why something cannot be done about the rising crime rate might wish to acquaint themselves with a case the U.S. Supreme Court refused to overturn. The case was appealed to the highest court after the Pennsylvania

Supreme Court upset a drug conviction in lower courts involving $6.8 million worth of illicit heroin and cocaine.

The case began with a speeding arrest on the Pennsylvania turnpike. The state trooper who stopped the car recalled stopping the same driver six months earlier and finding $25,000 in the vehicle. A check with Detroit officials raised the suspicion that the men in the vehicle might be involved in interstate shipment of narcotics.

After obtaining a search warrant, police searched the car and found fortune in drugs in the trunk. In a subsequent non-jury trial the men were convicted, fined and sentenced to prison. The state Superior Court upheld the conviction. But when the case was appealed to the Pennsylvania Supreme Court it was an entirely different matter.

That court ruled that police who stop a car for speeding cannot search the vehicle on the basis of suspicion or prior information alleging drug traffic by the occupants. It was that ruling the U.S. Supreme Court sustained.

Never mind that a search warrant was obtained prior to the search. It does not matter that the suspicions were confirmed by the contents of the car's trunk. It is inconsequential that police may have happened on to a major drug traffic link between the Midwest and the East. To act on mere suspicion and prior information, the courts have ruled, is unconstitutional.

Anyone still wondering why it is so difficult to put the criminal — especially the narcotics peddler — out of business?

EDITOR'S MAILBAG

LET'S BE OURSELVES, READER URGES

Editor, Shakespeare once said. The world is but a stage, and we are the actors.

Argument: The stage meaning the world, the people. There are people that act in show business for money. But in normal life, do we have to act?

Act: to perform, to behave as, to operate etc. Ask yourself concerning truth, is truth not what we strive for? Truth is positive truth is happiness, etc. Do we all in life strive for negative action?

Negative: Lacking positive qualities; not positive, stopping or withholding. Withholding is a good example. Who wants to withhold feelings? Does it make us feel good to withhold? Does it cost us to withhold? Bottling up feelings bring bad feelings. If we withhold, we deny the basis the constitution was written on, to free us!

We want to be free don't we? Answering that question is of course like answering the question of whether one and one makes two.

In the troublesome times of today, we all try to feel as good as we can. We have always tried to feel good, since the time of birth. I can think of no one, except a sick person, that wants to feel bad! Drink, dope, or what have you, will make us feel good. But if we get off that acting kick, and be ourselves the same results will come. Well you say that if you don't act in whatever case it may be, someone or something will not turn out to your benefit.

Thinking about this with all sincerity, realize that by acting, not being yourself, will bring a negative attitude. A negative attitude, only brings a false attitude. Why burden our minds with such. Believe me, and as you all know yourself, the less burden on our mind, the more free we are. That in itself is another thing that we look for. I hate to think of the artificial stimuli, which we as Americans and people of the world live on daily, to make us happy. When we have it right in our minds to think and find the truth that we seek.

We have to all ponder, and think this over for ourselves, as individuals. We are all in this world together, but we all have to choose our paths.

MEMORIES

Editor, Sitting in my old leather chair, I stretched out to take it easy. Lovely memories are coming my way of youthful happy days. Playing ball or going fishing in the St. Joe river, or taking a swim in the lake. We had so much fun. There was never a dull moment.

My memories took me to the Silver Beach Amusement Park. We enjoyed many different rides. The merry-go-round, the figure-eight, the fun house, roller skating, shooting gallery, the hot dog stands and many other places to have fun.

But this is past history, the amusement park is no more. We had rides on the side-wheeler steamboats from St. Joe to Chicago.

How about our first girl friend? We did not have much money. But there was enough to buy our first love an ice cream cone. When we got older, we took our girl friend for a buggy ride, or took her to a picture show. We used to go to a dance in Shadowland, we danced to the music of a waltz or a polka. Those happy days we will never forget.

Yes, times have changed, but memories will linger on. I am thinking of the old gang of mine. Just a few are left. I remember their names resting in peace. Memories, beautiful memories. Memories are not like a dream. A dream is just a dream, and will fade away. But memories are here to stay. Sweet memories, please come my way again, of days so dear to remember.

Dowagiac — Dowagiac milk consumers are getting milk for five cents a quart just the same as before the dealers' trust was attempted. About ten days ago the milk dealers of Dowagiac all got together and decided that because of the advance in the cost of feed and increase of the price of cattle they would raise the price of milk from five cents a quart to six cents a quart. Just a week was the new price operative, then it fell to the old price and the consumer is happy. As soon as the users heard of the advance they would either quit buying entirely, or purchase condensed milk until the dealers were forced to go back to the old schedule.

Police Can't Do It Alone

WASHINGTON — From the time Pilgrim officers issued shoot-to-kill orders as a means of defending settlement ladders from thievery, Americans have waged a vigorous and at the same time ineffective campaign against crime. Harsh punishments have not worked, dreadful penal conditions have been no deterrent, and more recent investments in a humane approach have failed as well.

Today the United States employs many of the most brutal law enforcement activities in the world, and also many of the most philosophically enlightened, yet according to poll measurements perhaps one of four adult Americans is attacked by thievery in any given annum.

So baffling has the dilemma become, actually, that increasing numbers of citizens and authorities are trending toward an accommodation with rather than an ultimate solution to crime.

Noting that law enforcement agencies now clear by arrest only about 20 per cent of known crimes, and perhaps less than 5 per cent of actual crimes, Boston Police Commissioner Robert DiGrazia says flatly that cops "cannot eliminate or reduce crime, that's something beyond our capabilities." Police might do it, DiGrazia allows, but only under conditions clearly unacceptable in a democracy: Police state authority.

Ominously, even though unacceptable the police state condition is not altogether an impossibility. Conceding to necessity, that is in the name of personal safety, crime-buffed Americans have already accepted numerous limits on their public freedoms. Surveys indicate nearly half the people in the nation are afraid to walk in their neighborhoods at night. Most communities statutorily forbid activities once considered routine: leaving keys in automobiles, for example.

Such curbs are undeniably the better part of wisdom, but their implication is ugly. It is a short way from a shakedown of passengers boarding a plane to, say, police frisks at intersections, or at the entrances to theaters, or in the checkout line at the grocers.

All of this, at best, leaves the citizen between the rock and the hard place. But perhaps there still is an alternative. The FBI is beginning what spokesmen say is a wide and enthusiastic exploration of what may be the last opportunity for citizens who want neither to live in a police or a criminal state. That opportunity is personal involvement. Police alone can't democratically defeat crime, says FBI Director Clarence Kelley, but a cop-citizen alliance may.

"We are asking citizens to stop taking the easy way out; to stop tolerating crime because to resist it involves personal sacrifice. Every American must resist crime as we resist other perils common to mankind."

The Bureau's hopes to this end are apparently high. They also are somewhat revolutionary, admitting as they do the long-neglected truth that citizens not only have a responsibility toward domestic peace but a right to that responsibility. Americans have not taken "the easy way out" of crime by choice, but because police have bowed them out. Woe be the bystander who involves himself in law enforcement; neither the cops nor the courts have appreciated his good citizenship.

Now, says the FBI, the citizen's worth is being recognized anew. And the Bureau will court his assistance through a "massive" education program called "Crime Resistance." Says a spokesman: "Our purpose is to teach people something about crime besides fear."

Convention To Attract Trouble

WASHINGTON — Can what happened to the Democrats in Louisville recently happen to them in New York City in July? Sure it can.

There is a very real possibility that the Democratic National Convention in Madison Square Garden will be the target of angry demonstrations and potential violence.

New York's fiscal problems will not have evaporated in the summer sunshine. The city will be full of frustrated workers out of jobs, organizations out of money, citizens upset about poor city services, and racial and ethnic groups that feel economically threatened. It is going to occur to a lot of them that picketing a political convention might call attention to their cause.

Democratic National Committee (DNC) officials are concerned about the potential for trouble. "Wherever we go, that party is like a magnet for that sort of thing," signed a DNC official.

Chairman Robert Strauss and his staff have discussed the problem but concluded that the convention must be held in Manhattan in any event. "We simply can't move," an official said. "It's too late."

Contracts have been signed. No other city could set aside at this late date the huge number of hotel rooms that will be required for the convention delegates. The telephone company has already begun its installation plans. The architects are at work on the hall configuration design.

Demonstrations have become practically synonymous with Democratic conventions. The 1968 convention was bloodied — and Hubert Humphrey's candidacy irreparably damaged — by anti-Vietnam war demonstrations and police brutality. The convention in 1972 was better protected from outsiders by police, but the delegates themselves were cross and unruly. Earlier this month, an experimental but important party conference in Louisville to debate current national issues was completely dominated in the media by anti-busing demonstrations and shrill busing arguments.

New York City officials have pledged to try to protect the July Democratic convention. The major labor unions have promised not to strike during the convention nor permit their members to demonstrate. (The latter, however, is dependent upon the union leadership's ability to control their members.) City police authorities are making careful plans to cordon off the area in which Madison Square Garden is located.

The city has 29,000 policemen and women, and Police Commissioner Michael Codd has promised, "We'll be ready for anything."

The DNC has retained as its security coordinator Clifford Cassidy, who formerly headed the Texas Public Safety Department, and as a security consultant, Rocky Pomerance, the Miami Beach police chief who successfully contained the demonstrations in that city during the 1972 Republican National Convention.

No Wonder Michigan Ranks 46th In Nation

A year ago Governor Milliken's office, the Muskegon city hall, the Michigan Chamber of Commerce and everyone else having a voice in that somewhat amorphous concept known as community betterment rolled out the red carpet for the North Star Steel Company.

The St. Paul, Minnesota, based firm had just announced that following a careful screening of many midwestern cities it has chosen Muskegon as the site for a new mill which when brought up to full capacity would hire 1,000 persons.

The announcement was particularly cheering for Muskegon which has its full share of the unemployment impact stemming from a yet to recover automotive nose dive and to the Lansing government which is greatly concerned with revitalizing the Michigan economy.

North Star's decision was hailed as symbolic of a turn-around in the abysmal opinion which most business and industrial people hold for our state.

Three weeks ago North Star informed the interested parties it had cancelled its plans to locate on the Muskegon waterfront.

The site selection required the company to submit voluminous material to the Army Engineers regarding the project's environmental impact.

Before the Engineers could get around to holding a public hearing on the matter a one-man outfit styled Muskegon Save Our Shoreline, Inc., filed suit in the Grand Rapids federal district court against North and the Secretary of the Army to enjoin permanently any construction.

The plaintiff cites all manner of state and federal laws as the basis for keeping North Star out of town.

In a letter, dated this past November 21st, to State Senator Joseph S. Mack, the Upper Peninsula's leading Democrat, the company cited the Michigan Environmental Protection Act of 1970 as the straw breaking the camel's back.

The North Star communication expressed confidence it could satisfy the Engineers and other federal standards, but pointed out the Michigan statute's wording is such that any obstructionist can hold up indefinitely in court any new business or industrial projection on the flimsy ground it may influence the environment to some extent.

The key words in the statute read "is likely to have" a polluting effect.

In lay terms what the clause really does is to permit the mere assertion of danger to be the equivalent of an actual adversity until the petitioning planner proves to the contrary beyond all reasonable doubt.

The architect of that flummery is Thomas J. Anderson, a professor in the U-M law school.

Michigan legislators are no different than those who serve in other state capitols or in Congress. Few bother to read what they subsequently vote upon and only half of those who do peruse a bill probably understand its nuances and future implications.

Consequently it is not surprising the Anderson-Rockwell bill sailed through the state house during the early 1970's rush to cleanse the air, the waters and the earth between sunrise and sunset.

Mack who lost a battle a few months ago to amend the statute for the benefit of a mining project on Lake Superior's shoreline is still keeping up the fight to delete "is likely to have."

He is receiving precious little support for his effort.

His own party's leadership ignores him. While fighting the Democrats who want to boost Michigan's already ridiculously high workmen's compensation and unemployment benefits, Milliken sticks with the Anderson-Rockwell stumbling block. Only a few editors in the state's northern reaches support Mack. Those controlling the large circulation newspapers downstate paint him as a menace to the future generation's health and happiness.

So far as the North Star situation is concerned, there has been considerable journalistic speculation that money as usual lies at the bottom of the company's decision and that it merely cites Anderson-Rockwell as a convenience to hide other motives.

The environmentalists defend Anderson-Rockwell's "is likely to have" as the only means to avoid the classic difficulty of locking the barn after the horse has been stolen; that once a plant starts up, it becomes an uphill fight to force it to relieve what polluting effects it exerts.

The catch is that this prejudgment of guilt before a crime is even committed puts the entire economy behind the eight ball.

It is just one more element in our state's upside down approach which causes outside business and industrial leaders to rate Michigan as 46th among the 50 states as a desirable place in which to locate.

As most readers know, this column is not noted for its charity towards Democrats.

We are with Senator Mack, however, all the way in his fight.

Convictions Come Hard

People who continue asking why something cannot be done about the rising crime rate might wish to acquaint themselves with a case the U.S. Supreme Court refused to overturn. The case was appealed to the highest court after the Pennsylvania

Supreme Court upset a drug conviction in lower courts involving $6.8 million worth of illicit heroin and cocaine.

The case began with a speeding arrest on the Pennsylvania turnpike. The state trooper who stopped the car recalled stopping the same driver six months earlier and finding $25,000 in the vehicle. A check with Detroit officials raised the suspicion that the men in the vehicle might be involved in interstate shipment of narcotics.

After obtaining a search warrant, police searched the car and found fortune in drugs in the trunk. In a subsequent non-jury trial the men were convicted, fined and sentenced to prison. The state Superior Court upheld the conviction. But when the case was appealed to the Pennsylvania Supreme Court it was an entirely different matter.

That court ruled that police who stop a car for speeding cannot search the vehicle on the basis of suspicion or prior information alleging drug traffic by the occupants. It was that ruling the U.S. Supreme Court sustained.

Never mind that a search warrant was obtained prior to the search. It does not matter that the suspicions were confirmed by the contents of the car's trunk. It is inconsequential that police may have happened on to a major drug traffic link between the Midwest and the East. To act on mere suspicion and prior information, the courts have ruled, is unconstitutional.

Anyone still wondering why it is so difficult to put the criminal — especially the narcotics peddler — out of business?

LET'S BE OURSELVES, READER URGES

Editor, Shakespeare once said. The world is but a stage, and we are the actors.

Argument: The stage meaning the world, the people. There are people that act in show business for money. But in normal life, do we have to act?

Act: to perform, to behave as, to operate etc. Ask yourself concerning truth, is truth not what we strive for? Truth is positive truth is happiness, etc. Do we all in life strive for negative action?

Negative: Lacking positive qualities; not positive, stopping or withholding. Withholding is a good example. Who wants to withhold feelings? Does it make us feel good to withhold? Does it cost us to withhold? Bottling up feelings bring bad feelings. If we withhold, we deny the basis the constitution was written on, to free us!

We want to be free don't we? Answering that question is of course like answering the question of whether one and one makes two.

In the troublesome times of today, we all try to feel as good as we can. We have always tried to feel good, since the time of birth. I can think of no one, except a sick person, that wants to feel bad! Drink, dope, or what have you, will make us feel good. But if we get off that acting kick, and be ourselves the same results will come. Well you say that if you don't act in whatever case it may be, someone or something will not turn out to your benefit. Thinking about this with all sincerity, realize that by acting, not being yourself, will bring a negative attitude. A negative attitude, only brings a false attitude. Why burden our minds with such. Believe me, and as you all know yourself, the less burden on our mind, the more free we are. That in itself is another thing that we look for.

I hate to think of the artificial stimuli, which we as Americans and people of the world live on daily, to make us happy. When we have it right in our minds to think and find the truth that we seek.

We have to all ponder, and think this over for ourselves, as individuals. We are all in this world together, but we all have to choose our paths.

MEMORIES

Editor, Sitting in my old leather chair, I stretched out to take it easy. Lovely memories are coming my way of youthful happy days. Playing ball or going fishing in the St. Joe river, or taking a swim in the lake. We had so much fun. There was never a dull moment.

My memories took me to the Silver Beach Amusement Park. We enjoyed many different rides. The merry-go-round, the figure-eight, the fun house, roller skating, shooting gallery, the hot dog stands and many other places to have fun.

But this is past history, the amusement park is no more. We had rides on the side-wheeler steamboats from St. Joe to Chicago.

How about our first girl friend? We did not have much money. But there was enough to buy our first love an ice cream cone. When we got older, we took our girl friend for a buggy ride, or took her to a picture show. We used to go to a dance in Shadowland, we danced to the music of a waltz or a polka. Those happy days we will never forget.

Yes, times have changed, but memories will linger on. I am thinking of the old gang of mine. Just a few are left. I remember their names resting in peace. Memories, beautiful memories. Memories are not like a dream. A dream is just a dream, and will fade away. But memories are here to stay. Sweet memories, please come my way again, of days so dear to remember.

SICKLE CELL ANEMIA, DYSTROPHY

Skate-A-Thon Will Raise Funds

A 24-hour skate-a-thon will be held beginning at 1 p.m., Dec. 29, at the G & W Skate-O-Rama, 453 Highland avenue, Benton Harbor, to raise funds for victims of sickle cell anemia and muscular dystrophy, according to Benton Harbor Fire Lt. Jim Means, chairman of the campaign.

Means said funds for the skate-a-thon, sponsored by the Benton Harbor fire department with the aid of the local chapters of the Sickle Cell Anemia and Muscular Dystrophy campaigns, will be split evenly between the two organizations.

Mavis Rogers, president of the Sickle Cell Anemia campaign, said the funds raised for that organization will be used to supply patients with medication, special diets, clothing and a tutor for those unable to attend regular schools.

She said testing for sickle cell anemia is currently being conducted by the Berrien County Health department, but that funds to serve local patients are limited.

The skate-a-thon is part of the Benton Harbor fire department's program of fund-raising campaigns for Muscular Dystrophy. Means said that the fire department has taken part in 21 previous Muscular Dystrophy fund-raising campaigns and has raised a total of $64,373 for the organization.

Skaters wishing to take part in the skate-a-thon can obtain sponsor blanks and instructions at the G & W Skate-O-Rama, according to Means. Skaters should obtain enough sponsors to skate for 24 hours, then return the form and money to the Benton Harbor fire station before 1 p.m., Dec. 29, when the 24-hour event begins, Means said. Skating at the skate-a-thon is free.

Health Agency Hearing Dec. 17

A public hearing is to be held in the Berrien county courthouse, St. Joseph, on Dec. 17, on the formation of the Southwest Michigan Health Systems agency.

The hearing is to start at 7 p.m. and be held in the board of commissioners' meeting room.

Under consideration will be the agency's application to the federal government for conditional designation as the Health Systems agency for eight counties, including Berrien, Van Buren and Cass.

If approved, the agency would review health planning in the counties and make recommendations to the appropriate state agency.

It would replace the Southwestern Michigan Comprehensive Health planning association, covering Berrien, Van Buren and Cass counties, and the South Central Comprehensive Health Planning association. The South Central group serves Kalamazoo, Branch, Barry, Calhoun and St. Joseph counties.

The two are being merged into the new agency.

Formation resulted from a federal requirement that Health Systems agencies (HSA) be created to serve areas with no less than 500,000 people.

Robert Azar, acting director of the new agency, said the hearing in the courthouse in St. Joseph, was the first of two scheduled. The second is to be held the following day, Dec. 18, at 7 p.m. in the Kalamazoo center, 100 West Michigan avenue, Kalamazoo.

Comments on the qualifications of the agency, the proposed work program and the proposed make-up of the governing body will be sought during the hearings.

Azar also said that written comments could be submitted to the agency at 842 East Columbia avenue, Suite II, Battle Creek, Mich., 49015.

The acting director said information about the group was available to the public in southwestern Michigan at public libraries in South Haven, Benton Harbor, Dowagiac and Niles.

Scouts Will Pick Up Paper

Boy Scout Troop 607 of E.P. Clarke school in St. Joseph will conduct a paper drive Saturday between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Anyone wishing to donate old newspapers or magazines should drop them off during those hours at one of four schools — Clarke, North Lincoln, Lakeshore high school or Fairplain junior high.

Papers also may be dropped off at the Louis Eisenhart residence, 628 East Glenford road, Lincoln township.

Elks' Memorial

Benton Harbor Elks Lodge 544 will hold their annual memorial service at 1 p.m., Sunday, in the lodge room on Kerlikowski road.

Dr. Chester Zwissler, past exalted ruler, will deliver the oration eulogizing departed members of the Benton Harbor lodge. Music will be provided by the Fruit Belt barbershop chorus and refreshments will be served by members of the Emblem Club 122.

REPLACEMENT CONSIDERED: Edward Broderick, Hagar township supervisor, said Berrien county officials are considering replacing township's Hyde bridge, carrying Bundy road over Paw Paw river under state's critical bridge replacement program. Narrow one lane bridge, constructed in 1906 of iron and wood, is similar to bridge extensively damaged on County line road Nov. 1. Under replacement program, federal funds pay 75 per cent of replacement cost with balance coming from either county funds or from special assessment district. (Cliff Stevens photo)

Lutheran School Gets Grant

Michigan Lutheran high school in St. Joseph has received a $1,100 grant from the Aid Association for Lutherans (AAL) to purchase teaching aid materials. AAL, a fraternal insurance society, is a nationwide organization of member Lutherans who buy insurance and take part in association activities, including support of Lutheran high schools in the country. The grant to Michigan Lutheran will provide funds for film rental, books and other materials and will also be used to send teachers to various workshops.

Fund In St. Joe Nears 1st Hurdle

St. Joseph Area Good Fellow fund took a $10 step toward its first major goal — $1,000 by the end of the week.

The $10 which included $5 from a friend and $5 from Debra and Ann Livengood of Lansing, formerly of Stevensville, boosted the fund as of today to $645.61.

Bookkeepers were confident that with a few reminders tossed about the campaign would hit the $1,000 mark over the weekend.

The total goal is $5,000 with half of that expected to be raised during the annual Good Fellow Newsie sale scheduled for Dec. 19.

The advanced gifts section of the Good Fellow campaign thus is an important part of making sure Christmas is for everyone.

NURSING GRAD: Rhonda J. Altie, Lakeshore's Junior Miss of 1972, has received her bachelor's degree in nursing from Ball State University, Muncie, Ind., and is now employed at Memorial hospital in South Bend. She is a 1972 graduate of Lakeshore high school and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Altie, 5515 Alpine ridge, Stevensville.

BH Good Fellows Push Fund Over $1,000 Mark

The Benton Harbor Area Good Fellow fund crossed the $1,000 mark today and Santa Claus thought "things are sure looking up."

The old gent was a little fretful earlier in the week when it looked like Good Fellows were lagging.

"But when there are organizations around like Benton Harbor Education Association, Dorie Miller Post American Legion Post 410, and the Women's Service League the Good Fellow fund doesn't stay down for long."

They are among contributors who sent in $102 today as the fund soared to $1,003.16.

The Benton Harbor Education Association gave $50 so Santa can put it where it's needed most.

Quick, now, who was Dorie Miller? He was the brave sailor who died firing his gun at Japanese planes in the attack on Pearl Harbor and the Legion post on Farmer street in Benton township is named in his memory. Post 410 contributed $25 to the Good Fellow fund.

The Women's Service League which serves the year round also boosted the fund with $25. And there was $2 in memory of Robert E. Anderson from his daughter.

The biggest package of Good Fellow gifts this year is going to elderly citizens, many of whom are shut-ins and others who lack the means to provide an adequate Christmas.

Santa Claus noted that in the early years of the fund the emphasis was on poor families with children. Now in recent years, larger percentages have been going to the elderly because of state and federal welfare programs which provide for families.

Cut Multi-Family Zones, St. Joseph Planners Told

Multi-family and two-family zoned housing areas in St. Joseph should be substantially reduced, the city planning commission was told yesterday.

The recommendation came from the Southwestern Michigan Regional Planning commission which was assigned to update the city's master plan.

James Muldoon of the regional planning staff recommended that multi-family housing be restricted to a seven-block area adjacent to the central business district. Two-family housing should be restricted to an area on the perimeter of multi-family housing.

The recommendations are based on statistics that the number of rental housing units in St. Joseph increased 26 per cent between 1960 and '70 while owner-occupied housing units decreased four per cent.

Yesterday's meeting was the first of a series in which regional planners will present findings to the city planning commission.

James Heathcote, chairman of the city planners, said the regional staff will be on the agenda the first Thursday of each month. The report on the St. Joseph business district being prepared by Barton-Aschman Associates of Evanston, Ill., will be presented on the third Thursday of each month.

Findings of the regional planners and recommendations of the city planners will be sent to the St. Joseph city commission. Any changes in zoning would be enacted by the city commission only after public hearings.

Muldoon said the regional planners recommendations are to restrict multi-family housing to a 7½-block area bounded by Lake boulevard, Pearl, Court, Market, Church, Broad and Elm streets. Two-family housing would be restricted generally to an area north of Sutherland, Central, Harrison, Wayne and Morrison streets and Kwanis park.

Muldoon said recommendations were based on land use patterns in the city's older neighborhoods and on the theory that housing congestion is responsible for accelerating decay of a neighborhood. Heathcote said his personal reaction might be an even smaller two-family area. He urged planners to review the report and comment on the recommendations at the next meeting.

Other recommendations made yesterday would be to eliminate industrial uses in the Silver Beach area, assist elderly property owners to maintain homes in the central part of the city, continue existing building code enforcement and develop port and related facilities on Radio (Terminal) Island.

In other matters yesterday, city planners voted 3 to 2 against a special use permit sought by Realtor David Flister to construct a two-story 2,300-square-foot office building on a vacant lot at the northeast corner of Pixley and Myrtle avenues.

The majority of the planners said the lot was too small to accommodate the building required parking. Flister said he will review the plan with the city engineer and inspection department to bring it under building regulations.

The building would be constructed for the accounting firm of McMurray, Marks and Edmunds, now located at 820 Napier avenue, St. Joseph.

Planners unanimously approved a lot split at 1315 Lewis avenue requested by Robert P. Machallock, of 1004 St. Joseph drive.

Stevensville Will Sue To Seek Mobile Park's Plat Compliance

The Stevensville village council last night voted unanimously to bring legal action against the owners of Lakeshore Mobile Estates Park, 3017 Johnson road, Stevensville, for allegedly failing to comply with building plans approved by the council in 1970.

The village will seek an injunction against Mr. and Mrs. John Sokel, Detroit, to reopen the park's Johnson road entrance, and keep the St. Joseph avenue entrance open for the health and safety of park residents.

The council notified the owners in September to reopen the Johnson road entrance but gave them permission to close the St. Joseph avenue entrance. The park owners had objected to through traffic in the park.

The council at that time was under the impression that approved plans for the park established the Johnson road entrance as the main entrance and that the St. Joseph entrance was approved by the council at a later date.

In reviewing the plans recently, council learned that both entrances were approved in the plans submitted in 1970 by the former owner and developer, Allen Grans. The park was sold to the Sekels last December.

Richard Beck, police chief, reported not only is the entrance still barricaded, but three humps are now installed in the drive, two of them six inches high, the third eight inches. A normal car could not travel the drive without damage to the underside, he said.

Beck had reported earlier to the council it would be hazardous for all park residents to use the St. Joseph avenue entrance, especially during the winter months as the drive slants downward toward the street which is the main and most traveled in the village. There are approximately 100 mobile homes in the park.

In other business, the council instructed Bernice Schoenfelder, clerk, to notify Roland Hendrix, 5565 St. Joseph avenue, he is to stop all alleged fur-buying transactions at his home which is located in a residential area.

Complaints have been received by the council from area residents for the past two years that the operation is a nuisance and health hazard.

Beck reported he met with Chesapeake & Ohio railroad officials and workmen are now in the process of repairing the crossings in the village.

It was voted to send a letter to members of the Lincoln township board informing them of the council's intent to bid on the township hall, located adjacent to the village hall. The township is planning to build a new hall.

Permission was granted to Alpha Pi Omega fraternity and Sigma Delta sorority to conduct the annual Goodfellow's Newsies sale in the village on Dec. 19, from 12:30-5:30 p.m.

He'll Just 'Borrow'

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken said Thursday he has decided to borrow, not eliminate, the $50 million Veterans Trust Fund to help the state avoid a $300 million deficit. Milliken said he changed his mind about the fund "after having reviewed the alternatives." He told the chairmen of the House and Senate Appropriations Committees that he supported a Senate bill to permit borrowing the veterans' money and setting a repayment schedule.

SICKLE CELL ANEMIA, DYSTROPHY

Skate-A-Thon Will Raise Funds

A 24-hour skate-a-thon will be held beginning at 1 p.m., Dec. 29, at the G & W Skate-O-Rama, 453 Highland avenue, Benton Harbor, to raise funds for victims of sickle cell anemia and muscular dystrophy, according to Benton Harbor Fire Lt. Jim Means, chairman of the campaign.

Means said funds for the skate-a-thon, sponsored by the Benton Harbor fire department with the aid of the local chapters of the Sickle Cell Anemia and Muscular Dystrophy campaigns, will be split evenly between the two organizations.

Mavis Rogers, president of the Sickle Cell Anemia campaign, said the funds raised for that organization will be used to supply patients with medication, special diets, clothing and a tutor for those unable to attend regular schools.

She said testing for sickle cell anemia is currently being conducted by the Berrien County Health department, but that funds to serve local patients are limited.

The skate-a-thon is part of the Benton Harbor fire department's program of fund-raising campaigns for Muscular Dystrophy. Means said that the fire department has taken part in 21 previous Muscular Dystrophy fund-raising campaigns and has raised a total of $64,373 for the organization.

Skaters wishing to take part in the skate-a-thon can obtain sponsor blanks and instructions at the G & W Skate-O-Rama, according to Means. Skaters should obtain enough sponsors to skate for 24 hours, then return the form and money to the Benton Harbor fire station before 1 p.m., Dec. 29, when the 24-hour event begins, Means said. Skating at the skate-a-thon is free.

Health Agency Hearing Dec. 17

A public hearing is to be held in the Berrien county courthouse, St. Joseph, on Dec. 17, on the formation of the Southwest Michigan Health Systems agency.

The hearing is to start at 7 p.m. and be held in the board of commissioners' meeting room. Under consideration will be the agency's application to the federal government for conditional designation as the Health Systems agency for eight counties, including Berrien, Van Buren and Cass.

If approved, the agency would review health planning in the counties and make recommendations to the appropriate state agency.

It would replace the Southwestern Michigan Comprehensive Health planning association, covering Berrien, Van Buren and Cass counties, and the South Central Comprehensive Health Planning association. The South Central group serves Kalamazoo, Branch, Berry, Calhoun and St. Joseph counties.

The two are being merged into the new agency.

Formation resulted from a federal requirement that Health Systems agencies (HSA) be created to serve areas with no less than 500,000 people.

Robert Azar, acting director of the new agency, said the hearing in the courthouse in St. Joseph, was the first of two scheduled. The second is to be held the following day, Dec. 18, at 7 p.m. in the Kalamazoo center, 100 West Michigan avenue, Kalamazoo.

Comments on the qualifications of the agency, the proposed work program and the proposed make-up of the governing body will be sought during the hearings.

Azar also said that written comments could be submitted to the agency at 842 East Columbia avenue, Suite II, Battle Creek, Mich., 49015.

The acting director said information about the group was available to the public in southwestern Michigan at public libraries in South Haven, Benton Harbor, Dowagiac and Niles.

Annual Candlelight Vespers Sunday

For Good Fellow Funds

Monday Musical club's 44th annual Christmas Candlelight Vespers will be held Sunday, Dec. 7, at 4 p.m. at First Congregational church, Benton Harbor.

As in previous years, the offering received will be given to the Benton Harbor Area and the St. Joseph Area Good Fellow funds.

The program will include the Monday Musical chorus under the direction of Mary Schlabach; Lissa Ray, flute soloist; Marilyn Lee, vocal soloist; Celebration Bell Ringers and Cathedral Bell Ringers, both of First Congregational church, Benton Harbor, under the direction of Philip T. Jenkins; Jeanne Dwan, narrator, and Keith Rasmussen, organist.

The chorus will present "Gloria," "Where Is The Child Today," "Ave Maria," "A Song in the Air," "I Sing Noel," "As It Fell Upon A Night" and "Jesus Christ Is Born Today."

The director, Mrs. Schlabach, is a member of the board of directors of Monday Musical club and a past president. She is also a member of the boards for Twin Cities Symphony and Community Concerts association.

Lissa Ray will perform "Greensleeves." Miss Ray is a sophomore music major at Western Michigan university, where she is a member of the wind ensemble and studies with Dr. Charles Osborne. A graduate of St. Joseph high school, she has studied flute for nine years with three summers at Interlochen music camp.

The Celebration Bell Ringers will present "Fanfare for Bells" and "Praise the God of Heaven Above." The Cathedral Bell Ringers will present "Bell Jubilee" and "Prelude and Etude." The Celebration and Cathedral Ringers are both members of the American Guild of English Handbell Ringers. The younger group participated in this year's National Festival in St. Augustine, Fla., and recently appeared in concert for the Fine Arts Series in South Bend.

Jeanne Dwan will be narrator for the service and will present the Christmas story according to St. Luke and St. Matthew.

Doris Parr will be narrator for the chorus and Fred Erbach will present the violin obligato.

Keith Rasmussen, organist at First Congregational church, Benton Harbor, will present the pre-service music, "A Lovely Rose is Blooming," "March of the Wise Men" and "Carol Rhapsody."

Members of the Monday Musical chorus include, Joanne Averill, Eunice Bird, Marguerite Blohm, Susan Campbell, Bernice Dehring, Donna Friedburg, Dolores Gunn, Marian Milnikel, Sandra Nye, Doris Parr and Ethel Washburn, sopranos; Lydia Daniels, Dorothy Freitag, Fay Kridger, Margery Holben, Erma Keltzer, Glenda Monteith, Caroline Siewert, Rosetta Myers, Sandra Tyrell and Roberta Smith, second sopranos; and Katie Anderson, Lucy Ann DeVries, Sue Fitch, Ardis Hornack, Ruth Howard, Marian Iannelli, Birdine Nupp, Dolores Smythe, Pat Snyder and Lou Zerbel, altos.

Dolores Gunn will be featured as a soloist with the chorus. Also assisting the chorus will be Anna B. Haupt, organist; Barbara Sickert, piano; Fred Erbach, violin, and Lissa Ray, flute.

Marian Iannelli is program chairman for the vespers.

Ushers will be Marna Fisher, chairman, Priscilla Adams, Beverly Docter, Muriel Learned, Susan Williams and Barrie Dewane. Decorations committee includes Lucille Erickson, chairman, Marguerite Blohm, Letha Paxson and Ethel Washburn.

Cathedral Ringers are Keith Lawton, John Fettes, Susan Campbell, Carolyn Donald, Virginia Steinman, Darryl Worth, Pam Silcox, Wendy Orth, Laura Roop, Doug Henkelman and Julie Cox.

The programs have been designed by St. Joseph high school students Laura Goodhart and Valeri Wendt under the direction of Andrea Belski, instructor.

Tickets are $1 for adults and 50 cents for students and may be purchased at the door.

The three plays include two comedies and one which deals with the supernatural.

Student director for "If Girls Asked Boys for Dates" will be Katy Lindenfeld.

Members of its cast include Sue Carter, Sue Dell, Laura Klos, Karen Montague, Bill Wood and Scott Albers.

"The Monkey's Paw," a play about the supernatural, will be presented by Jeff Thirkettle, Tammy Powley, Kathy Findling, Kevin Jones and Lori Archer.

Beth Bieri, Bruce Carlson, Shari Kiesel and Mark McFall will present "Family-Go-Round."

A "Thanksgiving" banquet sponsored by Child Evangelism Fellowship of Southwestern Michigan (CEF) will be held at Napier Parkview Baptist church, Benton Harbor, at 6:30 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 6.

Theme for the banquet, to which the public is invited, is "Today's Child — Your Future."

Wallace Grant, director of Child Evangelism Fellowship Leadership Training Institute, Muskegon, will be the featured speaker.

The Rev. Larry Whiteford, nationally known as "The Singing Pastor," of Niles, will present patriotic numbers entitled "I Love America."

Admission will be by ticket only. Complimentary tickets may be obtained by contacting the local CEF office, Second and Elm streets, Berrien Center.

A free-will offering will be received at the banquet for the ministry of the local chapter, of which the Rev. Dale Comstock is director.

Grant is a 1956 graduate of Moody Bible Institute and received a bachelor of arts degree from Houghton college. He has pastored churches in New York and Virginia. Having served as CEF's state director of West Virginia for seven years, he assumed the directorship of the institute four years ago and directs the training of over 100 prospective local directors each year.

Rev. Whiteford sings as well as speaks in his programs. He is pastor of Fulkerson Park Baptist church, Niles.

The new "Miss Southwest Michigan" will also have a part in the program.

Benefit Program Saturday

A benefit program, "Twas the Night Before Christmas," will be presented at 3:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 6, at Stevensville elementary school.

Proceeds from the show will be donated to the Lincoln township library for theatrical and performing arts literature.

Lakeshore Junior High Play This Weekend

The children's play, "Rumpelstiltskin," will be presented tonight at 7 p.m. and Saturday, Dec. 6, at 11 a.m. at Lakeshore junior high school by the drama club.

There will be no admission charge and the public is invited. Members of the cast include Bill Wright as Rumpelstiltskin; Elaine Dame as the lovely miller's daughter, and Rick McNeill as the king.

Others in the cast include Ann Klassen, Jeff Zordell, David Plesner, Janice Howell, Felicia Liogghio, Greg Robbins, Brad Perkins, Tony Whipple, Lori Jewell, Mindy Seel and Santana Santinella.

Carol Campbell, director, will be assisted by Nancy Summerfelt.

Many Sources Of Vitamin C

When we think of Vitamin C, we usually think of citrus fruits. But tomatoes, cabbage, dark green vegetables, sweet potatoes and potatoes, especially when cooked in their jackets, provide important amounts of Vitamin C too.

This can be especially good news to persons allergic to citrus fruits.

Winter Fashion Show

Poor-Boys Sportman's club will present "Getting Ready," a winter fashion show, Saturday, Dec. 6, at 6 p.m. at Fidelman's Mai Kai Lounge, South Haven.

Admission is $5 per couple, $3 per person, and children under 12 will be admitted free.

Proceeds will go toward the Miss Covert queen contest.

Fashions will be provided by Marty's Men's Apparel, the Horn Street Shop, and McKimmies, Inc., all of South Haven, Johnny's Fashions, Benton Harbor, and Beverly's of Kalamazoo.

Stephen Leuty, Darryl Worth and John Fettes. The Vespers will be held at 4 p.m. at First Congregational church, Benton Harbor. (Staff photo)

For Good Fellow Funds

Monday Musical club's 44th annual Christmas Candlelight Vespers will be held Sunday, Dec. 7, at 4 p.m. at First Congregational church, Benton Harbor.

As in previous years, the offering received will be given to the Benton Harbor Area and the St. Joseph Area Good Fellow funds.

The program will include the Monday Musical chorus under the direction of Mary Schlabach; Lissa Ray, flute soloist; Marilyn Lee, vocal soloist; Celebration Bell Ringers and Cathedral Bell Ringers, both of First Congregational church, Benton Harbor, under the direction of Philip T. Jenkins; Jeanne Dwan, narrator, and Keith Rasmussen, organist.

The chorus will present "Gloria, Gloria," "Where Is The Child Today, Today," "Ave Maria," "A Song in the Air," "I Sing Noel," "As It Fell Upon A Night" and "Jesus Christ Is Born Today."

The director, Mrs. Schlabach, is a member of the board of directors of Monday Musical club and is a former teacher in the Benton Harbor school system. She works with "Project Conquest" and is director of choirs of First Baptist church, Benton Harbor.

Marilyn Lee will present "Alleluia" and "The Virgin Slumber Song." Mrs. Lee is a graduate of the University of Michigan School of Music and teaches voice and piano in her home studio. She is a member of the board of directors of Monday Musical club and a past president. She is also a member of the boards for Twin Cities Symphony and Community Concerts association.

Lissa Ray will perform "Greensleeves." Miss Ray is a sophomore music major at Western Michigan university, where she is a member of the wind ensemble and studies with Dr. Charles Osborne. A graduate of St. Joseph high school, she has studied flute for nine years with three summers at Interlochen music camp.

The Celebration Bell Ringers will present "Fanfare for Bells" and "Praise the God of Heaven Above." The Cathedral Bell Ringers will present "Bell Jubilee" and "Prelude and Etude." The Celebration and Cathedral Ringers are both members of the American Guild of English Handbell Ringers. The younger group participated in this year's National Festival in St. Augustine, Fla., and recently appeared in concert for the Fine Arts Series in South Bend.

Jeanne Dwan will be narrator for the service and will present the Christmas story according to St. Luke and St. Matthew.

Doris Parr will be narrator for the chorus and Fred Erbach will present the violin obligato. Keith Rasmussen, organist at First Congregational church, Benton Harbor, will present the pre-service music, "A Lovely Rose is Blooming," "March of the Wise Men" and "Carol Rhapsody."

second sopranos; and Katie Anderson, Lucy Ann DeVries, Sue Fitch, Ardis Hornack, Ruth Howard, Marian Iannelli, Birdine Nupp, Dolores Smythe, Pat Snyder and Lou Zerbel, altos.

Dolores Gunn will be featured as a soloist with the chorus. Also assisting the chorus will be Anna B. Haupt, organist; Barbara Sickert, piano; Fred Erbach, violin, and Lissa Ray, flute.

Marian Iannelli is program chairman for the vespers.

Quiet Yuletide Of The Past At Greenfield Village

Christmas The Way It Used To Be

By ARLYS DERRICK
Women's Editor

DEARBORN — The quieter days when Americans had time to enjoy the simple pleasures of Yuletide celebrations are the focal points of Christmas observance at Greenfield Village and Henry Ford museum this year. Preparations were described by Robert G. Wheeler who is in charge of this year's celebration to those attending the 22nd annual Women of the Press, Radio, and Television Dec. 2 in Lovett hall.

Highlighting this year's Christmas observance in the museum is a special exhibit, "Little Things For Little People and the Young at Heart."

The display of miniatures does not include toys but patent models, salesmen's samples and exact-to-scale replicas of full-sized objects.

"In this exhibit," Wheeler pointed out, visitors of all ages will have a chance to glimpse the world of their forebears in greatly reduced size. Nearly every aspect of an earlier America is depicted in miniature.

Women of the media previewed the exhibit after the luncheon.

Items included the world's smallest steam engine which was originally exhibited at the 1876 Centennial Exposition in Philadelphia, a carriage once owned by the midget Tom Thumb, and a miniature steam pump fire engine as well as agricultural implements, small trains, ships, and musical instruments—all models, in scale, of their real-life counterparts.

Also displayed were examples of tiny furniture, ceramics, silver, pewter, and other domestic objects collected by the late Mrs. Henry Ford.

Preparations were underway along the Street of Early American shops where more than a dozen costumed craftsmen will demonstrate the skills that provided earlier generations with not only holiday luxuries, but the necessities of life as well. Simple brooms, pewter bells and buttons, delicate glass Christmas ornaments and fresh green wreaths will be among the crafts demonstrated when the Village and museum begin their Christmas observance Saturday, Dec. 6, continuing through Sunday, Jan. 4.

Both the museum and the Village are being trimmed in special Christmas finery for the holiday presentation. Press-women were able to view many of the wreaths, ribbons and cedar ropings which decorate lampposts and doorways as well as old-fashioned Christmas trees already set up along aisles and in hallways.

Wheeler also said that during the Christmas program, Yuletide music will be heard in the background and instrumental tunes appropriate to the season will be performed from time to time by costumed musicians on antique instruments and at other times, choirs will tell the Christmas story in song.

Wheeler said, "At Greenfield Village, the quiet atmosphere that marked Christmas past will be reality for the present...the Village will present Christmas the way it used to be — the way we often wish it could be now."

In and around the nearly 100 historic homes and shops in the village, any December snow will provide a carpet for horse-drawn sleighs, stockings will be hung by chimneys and the savory smells of holiday cookery will linger in century-old kitchens.

Strolling carolers, hot and spicy cider, fragrant candles, and festive tables will recall more than 300 years of holiday celebrations.

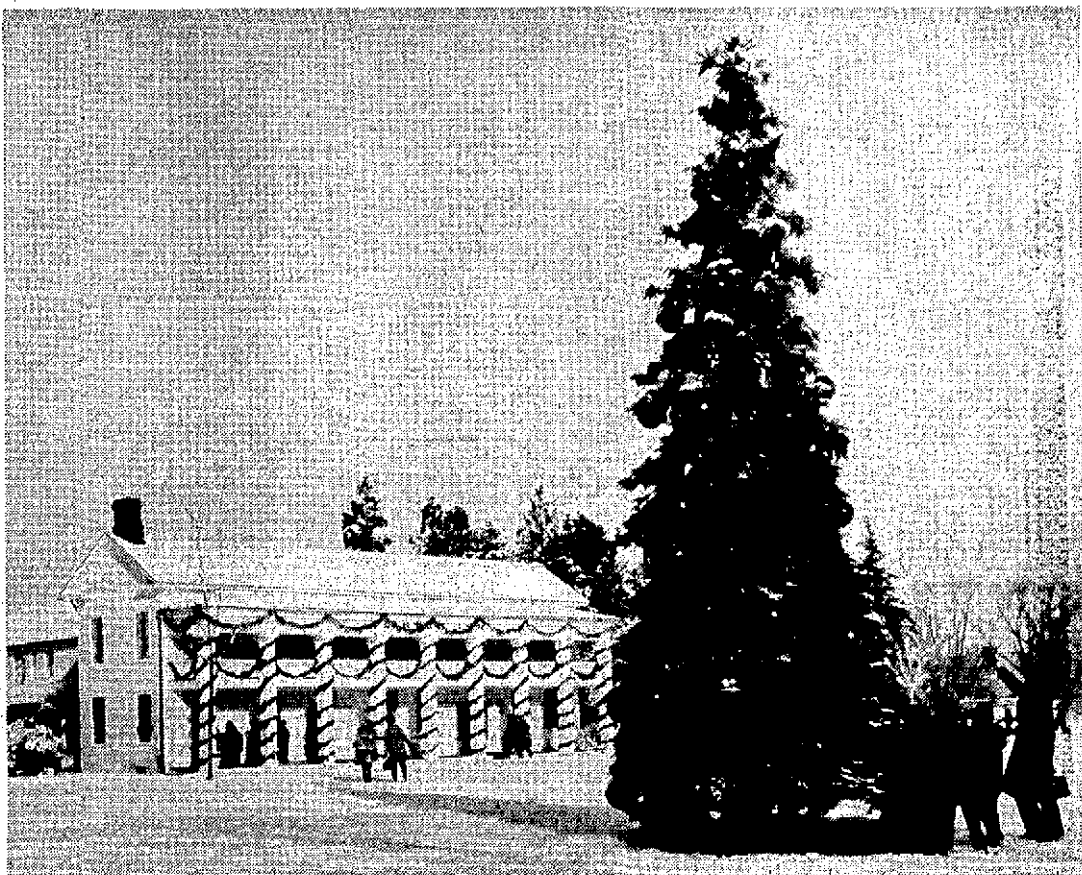

Wheeler said that in this carefully researched Christmas observance, the Village homes will be decorated as they might have been when their original famous owners observed the holiday inside.

For example, in the parlor of the home once occupied by Wilbur and Orville Wright, the tree will be decorated with glass balls, popcorn strings and colored electric lights. On the mantle will be Christmas cards of the type sent to friends around the turn-of-the century.

A table top tree trimmed with American flags and candles in tin holders will stand in the nearby 1880 Henry Ford birthplace.

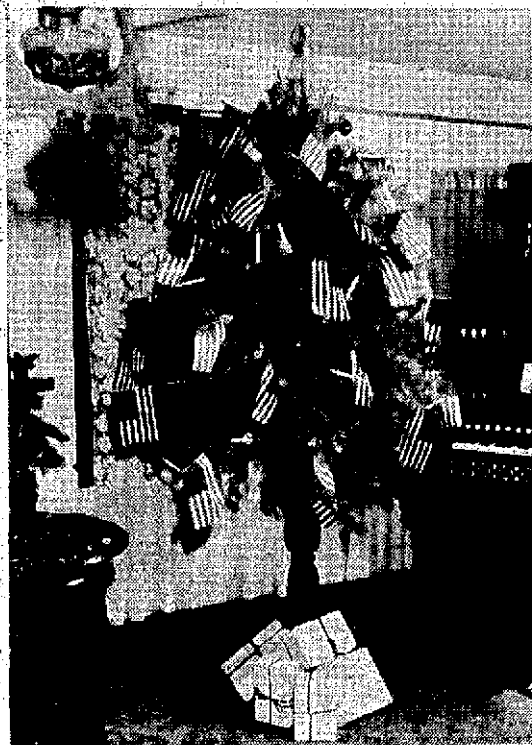

Crafts were demonstrated Tuesday at Lovett Hall for the media which will be included in the Crafts center, just west of the Village Green during the Christmas holidays.

These will include many working displays by skilled artisans who will produce objects reminiscent of the days when Christmas gifts were made by hand.

CLINTON INN: A shapely evergreen decorated for the season will capture attention of visitors on the Village Green at Greenfield Village during the Christmas season. In the background is the Clinton Inn, once a welcome sight for weary travelers on the road between Detroit and Chicago. Inside the Inn, guests may warm themselves beside a roaring fire and enjoy the festive decorations that will recreate Christmas in a roadside hostelry of the early 1800s.

PATRIOTIC TREE: Small American flags and candles in tin holders will decorate a tabletop tree in the 1860 Henry Ford birthplace at Greenfield Village. The idea for such a tree was taken from an illustration which appeared in an 1866 edition of "Godey's Lady's Book."

TINIEST STEAM ENGINE: Paul Leskinen, Henry Ford museum's assistant curator of power and shop machinery, holds what is believed to be the smallest steam engine in the world. The tiny engine is part of the exhibit, "Little Things For Little People and the Young at Heart," this year's special Christmas observance.

'New England' Is AU Film Topic

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Dowitt Jones will narrate his film, "The New England of Robert Frost," Saturday, Dec. 6, at 8 p.m. in Johnson auditorium, Andrews university.

The film is part of the AU Concert Picture Series. Tickets are $2.50 for adults. Children and senior citizens are less. Season tickets are available through the university business office.

The film portrays the American experience, complete with patriots of the past and idyllic scenes of the present, the rise and expanse of mountains, waterfalls, forests and canyons of New England, according to Jones.

Jones' film combines Frost's poetry with the lives of others living in New England today.

Jones has produced several films dealing with nature and man's environment, including "John Muir's High Sierra," which won the Cine Golden Eagle Award as the best environmental film of the year. He has also produced for national advertisers at Hollywood and for National Geographic magazine.

Art Guild Exhibit

At St. Joseph Library

Berrien County Art Guild is holding its annual Christmas exhibit at Maud Preston Palenske Memorial library, St. Joseph, through Saturday, Jan. 3.

'New England' Is AU Film Topic

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Dewitt Jones will narrate his film, "The New England of Robert Frost," Saturday, Dec. 6, at 8 p.m. in Johnson auditorium, Andrews university.

The film is part of the AU Concert Picture Series. Tickets are $2.50 for adults. Children and senior citizens are less. Season tickets are available through the university business office.

The film portrays the American experience, complete with patriots of the past and idyllic scenes of the present, the rise and expanse of mountains, waterfalls, forests and canyons of New England, according to Jones.

Jones' film combines Frost's poetry with the lives of others living in New England today.

Jones has produced several films dealing with nature and man's environment, including "John Muir's High Sierra," which won the Cine Golden Eagle Award as the best environmental film of the year. He has also produced for national advertisers at Hollywood and for National Geographic magazine.

Your Problems' By Ann Landers

'Friends' Unworthy Of Tears

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I have quit drinking. One of us had a serious problem with alcohol so we both decided to put it out of our lives. Our good friends are aware of this and have expressed their admiration.

This morning I received a real jolt. A "friend" who always leans on us when she's in trouble telephoned to say she is giving a rather large surprise party for a mutual friend but, "I didn't invite you because we'll be serving liquor and wine and the whole bit."

I wonder if she excluded any diabetics because she is serving a dessert. I had a good cry over the loss of our friendship because it died right there.

Please tell your readers (my former friend is among them) that alcoholism is a disease that can be controlled. We enlightened alcoholics realize it and can handle any invitation very nicely, thank you. — Making It

Dear M.L.: I don't want to pour kerosene on a brush fire, honey, but I think your "friend" already knows this. She didn't want to include you for another reason and that was her excuse.

The loss of her friendship is nothing to cry about. She's a phony.

Can you imagine anything duller than listening to a lot of garbage about what their kids did over the weekend or what happened at the Smith's party or the Schwartz's Bar Mitzvah? I'd rather read a book.

Death Hang-Up

Dear Ann Landers: I am writing to you because my husband and I are deeply concerned about our 17-year-old daughter. Molly is terribly obsessed with death and anything connected with it.

The moment the newspaper comes to the house, Molly must see it immediately and check the obituaries. If she reads about the death of a young person she clips it out and puts it in a scrapbook. She has been doing this for at least two years and is now on her second scrapbook.

Molly goes to the cemetery about three times a week to visit

$1,539 For Catsup

Figures have just been released that the cost of raising a child these days is running close to $100,000.

"Can you believe it?" I asked my husband. "That little number propped up in front of the TV set is costing us $100,000."

We both looked at our youngest son draped over a chair. From the back he looked like Goldie Hawn. His jeans were ripped at the knee. His shoestrings were knotted and threaded into every other loop. A faded T-shirt with the arms cut out covered his chest and he balanced a bowl of cereal, an empty ice cream carton, and a quart of milk on the edge of the chair.

"What's the matter?" asked my husband. "Are we behind in the payments or something?"

"No, it's just that it's expensive raising kids."

"But one hundred thou . . ."

"Take catsup," I said. "That model consumes two family-sized bottles of catsup a week. Over a 12-month period that amounts to $76.96 . . . or in a 20-year-period $1,539.20."

"I had no idea . . ."

"And that's only one small item. There are clothes, repairs, upkeep, insurance. Why just the care and feeding of his hair . . ."

"Hold it! He hasn't had a haircut in years."

"Precisely, but the grooming needs — shampoo, creme rinse, protein builder, split ends protector, dandruff fighter, dry scalp conditioner, hot comb and blower — run about $2,000 a year, not to mention the 40 gallons of hot water he uses every time he takes a shower to wash it."

"Two thousand . . ."

"Transporting a child through 30 years is probably the largest expense beginning with his delivery and continuing on through school buses, bicycles, car pools, motor bikes and eventually a car of his own."

"What about feet?"

"We have to protect our investment."

"Wait a minute!" said my husband. "Let me get this straight. We have a $100,000 investment that isn't self-supporting, that we can't borrow on, use as collateral, can't refinance, draw interest on, is a lousy tax shelter and takes 20 some years to mature. What good is it?"

"Remember when we were burgled last month?"

He nodded.

"We had $100,000 worth of assets asleep in the bedroom and they passed him right by."

"It would have served 'em right," he grumbled.

Library Film Monday

Part one of "The Volga" will be shown Monday, Dec. 8, at 12:15 p.m. in the Benton Harbor public library auditorium.

The public is invited and anyone wishing to bring a lunch may do so.

The film pictures a journey along the Volga River, showing major cities and their modern development.

Books added to the library's collection include "Making It In the Market," Richard Ney; "The Courage to Create," Rollo May; "Dr. Siegel's Natural Fiber Permanent Weight-Loss Diet," Sanford Siegel, D.O., M.D.

Others include "The Sisters," Anne Lamblin; "The Dragon," Dorothy Eden; "The Italian Woman," Jean Plaidy; "Ellery Queen's Masters of Mystery," edited by Ellery Queen, and "The Assassins," Joyce Carol Oates.

Dr. Lester Coleman

Many readers write and inquire about strokes. The confusion that exists is understandable because there are so many variations of this condition.

A stroke is sometimes called "apoplexy" or "cerebral vascular accident" (CVA). All strokes indicate that the normal supply of blood and oxygen to the brain has been interfered with. This could be caused by a spasm of an artery, by a break (hemorrhage) of an artery, or by a clot that forms within the blood vessels. The latter is known as a "thrombus."

The severity of a stroke and the symptoms associated with it depend, of course, on the size of the blood vessel that is affected.

When the blood supply to a large portion of the brain is affected, many different symptoms will appear.

The brain itself has many separate areas which are responsible for movement, for pain control, for speech, for hearing, for sight, and for all other functions of the body.

Stroke symptoms are therefore dependent on the part of the brain that is affected by the interference with the blood supply.

Not all people with stroke have their speech affected. There is a small part of the brain known as "Broca's area." It is responsible for the understanding of the spoken word. In a right-handed person the Broca's area is located in the left side of the brain. In a left-handed person, it is located in the right side of the brain.

If the blood supply to Broca's area is interrupted, speech will be affected.

There are many complex reasons why some people with strokes develop paralysis of the legs and arms, while others do not.

There was a time when a sense of hopelessness was associated with this condition. Today, victims of stroke, even very severe strokes, are now being released from the limitations of chronic invalidism.

The science of rehabilitative medicine has been responsible for the most ingenious techniques for retraining the person with stroke, and again returning him to comparative good health and personal dignity.

Psychological support, in addition to physical re-education, has been remarkably effective in the treatment of stroke convalescents.

Lawrence Carnival Saturday

LAWRENCE — A Bicentennial carnival will be held Saturday, Dec. 6, from 4 to 9 p.m. at Lawrence high school.

The public is invited.

Included will be games, an art show, a country store, Santa Claus, and an ice cream social.

Also present at the carnival will be the Lawrence high school dance band and the Ambassadors, a singing group from Bible Fellowship church, Lawrence.

Proceeds will go toward the high school publications department.

A cue bid followed by a seven-spade bid would be too obvious. Finally he solved his problem by just bidding seven spades.

It was up to West to lead. He thought and thought while he was thinking and was told to stay away from the table until the hand was finished.

It didn't take long. West decided that North was surely void of hearts. He led the king of clubs and Mrs. Jacoby had no trouble making all the tricks.

$1,539 For Catsup

Figures have just been released that the cost of raising a child these days is running close to $100,000.

"Can you believe it?" I asked my husband. "That little number popped up in front of the TV set is costing us $100,000."

We both looked at our youngest son draped over a chair. From the back he looked like Goldie Hawn. His jeans were ripped at the knee. His shoestrings were knotted and threaded into every other loop. A faded T-shirt with the arms cut out covered his chest and he balanced a bowl of cereal, an empty ice cream carton, and a quart of milk on the edge of the chair.

"What's the matter?" asked my husband. "Are we behind in the payments or something?"

"No, it's just that it's expensive raising kids."

"But one hundred thou . . . he kept repeating.

"Take catsup," I said. "That model consumes two family-sized bottles of catsup a week. Over a 12-month period that amounts to $76.96 . . . or in a 20-year-period $1,539.20."

"I had no idea . . ."

"And that's only one small item. There are clothes, repairs, upkeep, insurance. Why just the care and feeding of his hair . . ."

"Hold it! He hasn't had a haircut in years."

"Precisely, but the grooming needs — shampoo, creme rinse, protein builder, split ends protector, dandruff fighter, dry scalp conditioner, hot comb and blower — run about $2,000 a year, not to mention the 40 gallons of hot water he uses every time he takes a shower to wash it."

"Two thousand . . ."

"Transporting a child through 20 years is probably the largest expense beginning with his delivery and continuing on through school buses, bicycles, car pools, motor bikes and eventually a car of his own."

"What about feet?"

"We have to protect our investment."

"Wait a minute!" said my husband. "Let me get this straight. We have a $100,000 investment that isn't self-supporting, that we can't borrow on, use as collateral, can't refinance, draw interest on, is a lousy tax shelter and takes 20 some years to mature. What good is it?"

"Remember when we were burgled last month?"

He nodded.

"We had $100,000 worth of assets asleep in the bedroom and they passed him right by."

"It would have served 'em right," he grumbled.

Library Film Monday

Part one of "The Volga" will be shown Monday, Dec. 8, at 12:15 p.m. in the Benton Harbor public library auditorium.

The public is invited and anyone wishing to bring a lunch may do so.

The film pictures a journey along the Volga River, showing major cities and their modern development.

Books added to the library's collection include "Making It In the Market," Richard Ney; "The Courage to Create," Rollo May; "Dr. Siegel's Natural Fiber Permanent Weight-Loss Diet," Sanford Siegel, D.O., M.D.

Others include "The Sisters," Anne Lampton; "The Dragon," Dorothy Eden; "The Italian Woman," Jean Plaidy; "Ellery Queen's Masters of Mystery," edited by Ellery Queen, and "The Assassins," Joyce Carol Oates.

Dr. Lester Coleman

Many readers write and inquire about strokes. The confusion that exists is understandable because there are so many variations of this condition.

A stroke is sometimes called "apoplexy" or "cerebral vascular accident" (CVA). All strokes indicate that the normal supply of blood and oxygen to the brain has been interfered with. This could be caused by a spasm of an artery, by a break (hemorrhage) of an artery, or by a clot that forms within the blood vessels. The latter is known as a "thrombus."

The severity of a stroke and the symptoms associated with it depend, of course, on the size of the blood vessel that is affected.

When the blood supply to a large portion of the brain is affected, many different symptoms will appear.

The brain itself has many separate areas which are responsible for movement, for pain control, for speech, for hearing, for sight, and for all other functions of the body.

Stroke symptoms are therefore dependent on the part of the brain that is affected by the interference with the blood supply.

Not all people with stroke have their speech affected. There is a small part of the brain known as "Broca's area." It is responsible for the understanding of the spoken word. In a right-handed person the Broca's area is located in the left side of the brain. In a left-handed person, it is located in the right side of the brain.

If the blood supply to Broca's area is interrupted, speech will be affected.

There are many complex reasons why some people with strokes develop paralysis of the legs and arms, while others do not.

There was a time when a sense of hopelessness was associated with this condition. Today, victims of stroke, even very severe strokes, are now being released from the limitations of chronic invalidism.

The science of rehabilitative medicine has been responsible for the most ingenious techniques for retraining the person with stroke, and again returning him to comparative good health and personal dignity.

Psychological support, in addition to physical re-education, has been remarkably effective in the treatment of stroke convalescents.

DR. LESTER COLEMAN has a special eye-care booklet available called, "What You Should Know About Glaucoma and Cataracts." For your copy, send 25 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lester L. Coleman, M.D., (Eye booklet), P.O. Box 5178, Grand Central Station, New York City 10017. Please mention the booklet by title.

Bargaining Law Debaters Keep Growers Anchored

By NICK SMITH
Staff Writer

GRAND RAPIDS — Is the state's agricultural bargaining act "a real favor" to the fruit industry, or is it contributing to a "loss of business and markets for Michigan growers?"

These two viewpoints, and other opinions, were expressed by a panel made up of growers, marketers and a processor yesterday on the final day of the annual meeting of the Michigan State Horticultural Society.

A surprisingly large number of the estimated 2,500 industry people who came here for the three-day meeting stayed late into the afternoon to hear the opinionated and sometimes-angry speakers.

The controversial Michigan Agricultural Marketing and Bargaining Act was the topic. It provides for binding arbitration between growers and processors when they can't decide on fruit prices; is the subject of lawsuits; and expires next year unless the legislature acts. Presenting opposing views were Jack Leaver, a director of Gerber Products Co., Fremont, and Harry Foster, manager of the Michigan Agricultural Cooperative Marketing Association (MACMA).

They indirectly accused each other of spreading half-truths about the Act. However, they both agreed that this year's apple harvest and price negotiations illustrated that, when bargaining is necessary, final prices are set too late in the season.

Leaver said processing of this year's crop didn't begin until October. This meant the out-of-state buyers of finished apple products were uncertain of Michigan as a supply source.

This means the whole industry will lose money, he said. The very existence of such an act, which according to Leaver "processors have opposed from the beginning," has caused processors to slow down expansion plans. Foster admitted MACMA has received grower criticism in connection with this year's apple price, which was low. But he said the criticism has been fed by misleading information.

Although the MACMA apple committee (which markets most processing apples in the state under the law) was criticized, its decisions "got the most money for the apple industry," he said.

Agreeing with him was Berrien Springs Apple Grower George Stover, who said he and other members of the apple committee are "proud of what we did in 1975 for the apple growers in Michigan."

Pete Nesbitt, a New York state apple grower, said growers in his state are watching "the pioneers here in Michigan" with interest. New York growers got "ridiculously low prices" this year without a state Act, he added.

Leaver was angry because the marketing board has no members who are pro-processor, while it has at least three pro-grower members.

Also yesterday two nurserymen explained that research is in progress to develop a good dwarf tart cherry tree.

Wallace Heuser, of Hilltop Orchards at Hartford, said beating the problem of disease in the smaller tree is hard. Jerry Frecon, of Stark Brothers Nursery, Louisiana, Mo., agreed.

KING'S GUEST: Janie Hubschman, 15, relates her experiences after returning from trip to Jordan as guest of King Hussein. It started when Janie wrote King for information about his Middle East country to complete high school assignment at Yellow Springs, Ohio. After some correspondence, she received a round-trip ticket to Jordan where she got her information first-hand. (AP Wirephoto)

According to the men, Red Delicious apple trees head the nurserymen's best-seller list, followed by McIntosh, Cortland, Golden Delicious, Idared and Stayman. Apples falling out of favor are Spartan, Mutsu, Northern Spy and Northwest Greening.

Both predicted that Jersey Mac, a relatively new summer apple, has a terrific future.

Charles Kesner, northwest Michigan extension horticulturist, visited Oregon this summer and told of a unique method being used to protect tart cherry orchards from spring freezes.

He saw orchards that were kept dormant longer into the spring by irrigation. When most danger of frost was gone, irrigation was stopped and the trees began their cycles. Harvest is delayed a week or two, he said.

Kesner explained that irrigation can hold temperatures below 40 degrees at most times. But the idea might not work in Michigan. It works out west because humidity is lower and evaporative cooling is therefore more effective.

Deputies Say Arrests Clear Up 9 Break-Ins

Berrien county sheriff's deputies said Thursday they believe the arrest of three 15-year-old juveniles has cleared nine break-ins during the past two weeks in the Lake Michigan Beach area.

Detectives Dave Sweet and Fred Reeves said the three were picked up Thursday by St. Joseph city police while hitchhiking and that questioning by sheriff's officers implicated all three in the recent break-ins.

Sweet said two of the youths were released to their parents and the other detained at the county juvenile center pending petitioning to juvenile court.

He said all three are residents of the Lake Michigan Beach area.

Six thefts were investigated by Twin Cities area police Thursday in which valuables totaling nearly $2,300 were stolen.

Machined brass bushings, with a replacement value of more than $1,200, were reported stolen from J.V. Burkett Construction company, 3880 US-31, Royalton township, Berrien sheriff's deputies said.

Jerry Kalin, vice-president of the company, told deputies the bushings, used for a crane, were taken from a large storage building. He reported the scrap metal value of the brass, that weighed between 300 and 350 pounds, would be about $75 to $100.

Another theft reported to Berrien deputies was a 12-horsepower outboard boat motor, an anchor and six gallons of gasoline, valued at nearly $190, from the garage of Mike Turkin, 4579 Camp Warren road, Hagar township.

Thefts reported to Benton Harbor police were:

—A snowmobile engine, valued at $500, from a snowmobile in the repair shop at Gardner's Favorite Sports and Marine store, 741 Riverview drive.

—Household items, valued at $200, from the apartment of Evelyn Powell, 718 Thresher avenue.

—A watch, valued at $100, owned by Paul Yaket, 1514 Morton avenue, St. Joseph, from a shelf at Wolf's Supermarket, 449 Pipestone street.

Debbie Gallagher, 5946 McKinney, Hagar township, told state police of the Benton Harbor post a tape player and tapes, valued at about $45, and $38 in cash were stolen from her car, parked in the 2800 block of M-139, Benton township.

Hearings Asked On 2 Charges

A 22-year-old Benton Harbor man demanded examinations in Berrien Fifth District court yesterday on charges of receiving and concealing stolen property and delivery of heroin.

Demanding examination was Ross E. (Buddy) Webb, 22, of 605 1/2 Columbus, Benton Harbor, on a charge of receiving and concealing stolen property over $100 from the home of Benton Harbor City Commissioner Carl Brown on Nov. 18.

Webb also demanded examination on a charge of delivery of heroin, second offense, Oct. 30 in Benton Harbor. He was arrested on a warrant issued along with 35 others as part of a Metro Narcotics raid last month. Webb was jailed in lieu of a total of $27,500 bond.

Also in District court Thursday, one other man demanded examination, four people were bound over to Circuit court and 16 were sentenced.

Michel W. Thomas, 25, of Coldwater, on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon (pistol) in an auto without a license Dec. 4 in Three Oaks. He

Car Becomes 'Third Trailer' In Freak I-94 Mishap

A Detroit motorist found his car as the "third trailer" on a semi-truck Thursday after he apparently fell asleep and his car ran into the back of the semi on I-94, Coloma township, Berrien sheriff's officers reported.

The motorist, identified as Leon L. Cegers, 31, was treated for a bump on the head and released from Watervliet Community hospital after the accident that occurred east of Friday road about 7:50 a.m. He was ticketed by deputies for careless driving.

Driver of the truck, Harry H. Maas, 53, Kalamazoo, told deputies he felt the second trailer on his truck "fish-tailing" and pulled off the freeway. He said he found Cegers' car attached to the rear of his truck. Maas was not hurt, deputies said.

Man Mute On Booze, Pot Charges

PAW PAW — A Battle Creek man stood mute to charges of possession of marijuana and open intoxicants in a motor vehicle when arraigned Thursday in Van Buren Seventh district court.

John A. Rapson, 24, was released on his own recognizance pending a pre-trial hearing.

According to Van Buren sheriff's deputies, a van operated by Rapson was stopped for a traffic violation Wednesday on 29th street in Pine Grove township, and a pint of whisky and quantity of suspected marijuana were found during a search of the vehicle.

Pre-Trial Hearing Is Scheduled In False Alarm Case

A pre-trial hearing has been set for Tuesday for a 43-year-old Benton Harbor man charged with disorderly person (calling in a false report to firemen).

Early E. Smith, 43, of 157 Jefferson, Benton Harbor, appeared in Berrien Fifth District court Oct. 23 and pleaded innocent to the charge and demanded a jury trial and was released on $1,000 bond. The incident allegedly occurred Oct. 22 in Benton Harbor.

In another accident investigated Thursday by Berrien deputies, a Royalton township motorcyclist received minor injuries when he fell from the cycle while riding in a field near his home.

Kent Andrew Goff, 15, of 4802 Woodland drive, was treated for bumps and bruises and released from Memorial hospital, St. Joseph.

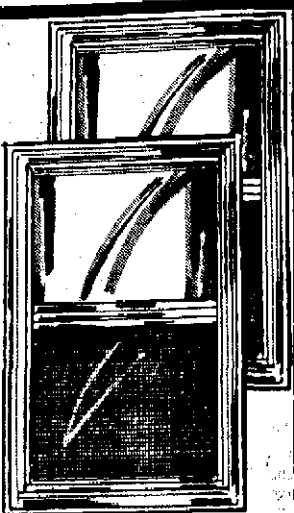

Benton township police Thursday ticketed a Fairplain driver for disregarding a red traffic signal after a two-car collision at the intersection of Napier and Colfax avenues about 1:45 p.m. John Gerencser, 80, 281 Kublick drive, Fairplain, was treated for cuts and released from Mercy hospital, Benton Harbor. The other driver was identified as Mary Viola Williamson, 51, of 2088 East Empire avenue, Benton township.

Storm Windows are THE BEST INVESTMENT you'll ever make...

"In as little as six years, they pay for themselves in lower heating bills; after that, it's like getting a 13 percent dividend on your investment every year. If you have air conditioning, leave storm windows on in summer. You'll keep 30 percent more of the cool air you are paying so dearly to get."

...from Reader's Digest, December, '74

According to the American Gas Association, "Storm windows and doors. Smart buy. If your home doesn't have storm windows and doors, you may be losing as much as 20% of your heat! So you can readily see how they can pay for themselves in very little time."

The Price of Storm Windows Will NEVER be Lower!

Windshield Washer Liquid Labels Ripped By Kelley

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Four manufacturers of windshield washer antifreeze solutions have been ordered by Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley to stop making inaccurate claims on their products' labels.

Kelley said Thursday tests on the solvents found they actually could cause ice on windshields and "instant and unexpected obstruction of vision."

"In winter driving, there is a direct correlation between the ability to keep a clean windshield and safety," Kelley said.

Manufacturers have 48 hours to stop making the inaccurate claims on their labels, Kelley said. If they do not, Kelley can file lawsuits removing the products from the market or requiring their labels to be changed.

Most of the products claimed to be good to 25 degrees below zero, Kelley said, but tests showed they were not even good to 15 below.

The products found to make inaccurate claims are: The Solvent People, made by Metro Petroleum Co. in Fenton; Nasco, made by National Solvent Corp. of Medina, Ohio; Champion 25-degrees, Champion 20-degrees and Redi-Mix Ammoniated, made by Golden Eagle Products of Chicago; and Rev 500, made by Dealer Service Speciality Corp. of Huntingdon Valley, Penn.

Kelley said claims for several other products were slightly inaccurate.

Those products are: Thermo Chem and Blue Crest, made by the Thomas Solvent Co. of Battle Creek; Sun Pre-Mix, made by Sun Swimming Pool Chemicals of Livonia; Camelot, Ful-Value, Perry Drug Pre-Mix and Ful Vue, made by Patterson Laboratories, Inc. of Detroit; and Shell Pre Mix made by Shell Oil Co. of Houston, Tex.

Shed Burns And House Is Scorched

Fire Thursday destroyed a small storage shed and caused some damage to the rear outside wall at the home of Otis Matten, route 1, Townline road, Benton township firemen reported.

Firemen said the blaze apparently spread from a trash fire started earlier. The fire was reported about 12:30 p.m. No damage estimate was given.

Hugh Scott To Leave Senate

PITTSBURGH (AP) — After 33 years in Congress, Hugh Scott has decided to end his elective political career.

There was no fanfare, no exit in a blaze of glory, as the 75-year-old Philadelphia lawyer called it quits at a Pittsburgh dinner honoring another Pennsylvania Republican.

There was also no news conference, which he had often used with consummate skill to make his point during the 16 years he served in the House and the 17 more in the Senate where he has been Minority Leader since 1969. He has 13 months to go in his present term.

Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., the assistant minority leader, and Sen. John G. Toer, R-Tex., are considered likely candidates to succeed Scott in the leadership post.

In a brief, written statement Thursday night Scott said he would not seek re-election next year, alluding to his already long service to his state and his country and to a desire to spend more time in rest and recreation.

Never once did Scott mention the current controversy raging around him, centering on charges he knew about illegal cash contributions to him from the Gulf Oil Corp. for almost two decades.

Scott has been generally silent since the Gulf story broke, but his office released a response on the subject. It said:

"I have never knowingly received any corporate funds from anybody, anytime. I am not going to have any further statement."

Two Factions Eyed In Miami Bomb Blasts

MIAMI (AP) — Police theorize two separate groups may be responsible for seven bombings that have shaken Miami in the past two days, but their investigation has been hampered by a wave of phony threats.

The New Black Revolutionary Front and the Cuban Youth Group claimed responsibility for the blasts. The latter was linked to a bomb found recently at the University of Miami, but police and FBI officials said they knew little about the groups.

'Pepsi Connection' May Have Triggered Chile Venture

By DAVID C. MARTIN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. efforts to overthrow Chile's Salvador Allende, which one senator has called the Nixon administration's Bay of Pigs, may have been triggered by a "Pepsi connection," according to evidence before the Senate intelligence committee.

Testimony taken both in private and at Thursday's public committee hearing shows that on Sept. 15, 1970, Donald Kendall, president of Pepsi Cola and a close personal friend of President Richard M. Nixon's, arranged a meeting in Washington among Henry A. Kissinger, then the president's national security adviser, Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and Augustin Edwards, publisher of Chile's leading newspaper, El Mercurio.

According to Edward Korry, U.S. ambassador to Chile at the time, Edwards also was the principal bottler of Pepsi Cola in Chile.

The evidence shows Nixon called a meeting later that day of Kissinger, Mitchell and then CIA Director Richard M. Helms at which he instructed the CIA to foment a military coup against Allende, who was on the verge of becoming Chile's first Marxist president.

Helms told the committee last July in secret testimony which was made public as part of the committee's assassination report, "I have this impression that the President called this meeting... because of Edwards' presence in Washington and what he heard from Kendall about what Edwards was saying about conditions in Chile."

Helms added that he had met privately with Edwards at a Washington hotel, again at Kendall's request, to interview him about Chile.

Both Korry and committee staff members discounted the possibility that Nixon may have ordered U.S. intervention in an effort to save Pepsi Cola's investments in Chile from nationalization by Allende. By all accounts, Pepsi Cola's financial stake in Chile was minimal, especially compared with such corporations as ITT and the various U.S. firms which controlled 80 per cent of Chile's copper production. No one could say for sure whether Edwards gained his audiences with Kissinger, Mitchell and Helms because of his business association with Kendall or because he was publisher of El Mercurio, which the committee staff said served as "a major propaganda channel" for the CIA.

According to Korry, that business association later became even closer when Edwards became international vice president for Pepsi Cola. To Sen. Richard Schweiker, R-Pa., the ease with which Edwards gained access to the administration's innermost circles and the timing of his visit with Nixon's orders to overthrow Allende smacked of "a sweetheart contract."

The CIA failed to prevent Allende's ascension to power, but El Mercurio kept publishing with the help of $1.6 million in U.S. money, according to the committee's staff report. In return, the El Mercurio chain of newspapers, with a total circulation of 300,000, ran CIA-inspired articles, the report said.

NO WAY: Sen. Edmund Muskie, who spoke before the National League of Cities at Miami Beach, Fla., Thursday, let it be known in a letter to the Florida Secretary of State that he would not be a candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomination in the Florida primaries. (AP Wirephoto)

State Senate Backers Of EPA Bill Keep Hopes Alive

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A bill to regulate the use of off-road vehicles in Michigan has won approval in a Senate committee.

The Senate Conservation Committee, on a 3-0 vote Thursday, reported to the full chamber a House-passed measure which would require the registration of such vehicles and spell out where they can be operated on public lands.

The bill gives the Department of Natural Resources wide authority to designate where such vehicles could be used in state parks and game areas — a matter of controversy between ORV enthusiasts and other recreation users.

The bill is intended to curb abuse of the growing recreation sport, — expected to include some 400,000 vehicles within three years — and curtail damage to the environment from the ORVs.

Affected by the bill would be motorcycles, dune buggies, all-terrain and other such vehicles. It would not affect registered snowmobiles or farm, military, fire, emergency, law enforcement or construction machinery.

Vehicles operated only on their owners' land or in special events held with a permit from the government would be exempt from the registration requirement.

But all other ORVs would have to be registered with the Department of State under a three-year fee of $8. The bill also requires vehicle identification numbers and sets insurance standards for renters of ORVs.

Vehicles could be operated only on designated roads, trails or areas while in state game areas, parks and recreation areas. On other state land, the state Natural Resources Commission would establish rules for their operation.

ORVs could not be operated in forest nurseries or planting areas, in dedicated natural areas or where their operation would create erosion or damage or destroy trees or crops.

They could not be operated on private property without the consent of the owner, and the operator would be liable for any damage to private property. Their use would be curtailed during the firearm deer season, and would be banned from cemeteries, railroad rights of way, in streams — except to cross them at designated spots — and for hunting.

The bill spells out required equipment on the ORV. It also permits local governments to regulate ORVs within the new law.

Law enforcement officers could issue tickets for violation of the new act, and violations would be misdemeanors.

Both Brown and Mack voted for Mack's original bill, while VanderLaan opposed it. Representing the House will be Rep. Thomas Anderson, D-Southgate, a staunch environmentalist, and two others to be appointed next week.

The product of the conference committee would then need final approval in both the House and Senate.

Rogers City Dentist Wins $200,000

Senate Panel Okays ORV Bill

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Backers of a bill which critics claim would gut the state Environmental Protection Act have kept their hopes for victory alive in the state Senate.

But chances appear slim that a bill which suits their purposes will be approved by the legislature and signed into law.

The Senate rejected on Thursday a House version of the bill which drastically weakened the attempt to restrict lawsuits under the EPA.

It mustered only 10 votes in support of the House bill, which would have only required that environmental protection suits be moved to the top of a court's calendar.

Twenty-five senators voted against the House version, sending the bill to a conference committee to work out the differences in the two chambers.

As originally passed by the Senate, the bill would have exempted Upper Peninsula mining companies from legal challenges under the EPA.

However, after months of debate in the House and a full-scale attack on the bill by environmentalists, the exemption provisions were killed. The final House version, passed Wednesday, simply directs prompt court consideration of lawsuits filed on environmental grounds.

Backers of the House bill argued that it meets the intent of the original bill — to avoid time-consuming delays in industrial development which, some say, has discouraged some companies from locating in Michigan.

But the original bill's sponsor, Sen. Joseph Mack, D-Ironwood, asked the Senate to reject the House version. Arguing the House had destroyed the measure's purpose, he buttonholed lawmakers around the Senate floor.

Mack won the vote easily, in part from a tradition that a chamber honors a member's request to send his bill to conference if he disagrees with the other chamber's action on it.

Civil Rights Agency Claims Black Denied Promotions

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Officials of Ford Motor Company's Woodhaven Stamping Plant have been charged with denying promotions to a black die-setter because of his race.

The Michigan Civil Rights Department said Thursday its investigation of charges made by die-setter Bobby Batts of Detroit showed enough evidence to warrant a formal charge of employment discrimination.

The charge said actions taken against Batts are "part of an overall pattern" of racial discrimination practiced by plant officials.

The department charges Batts was treated differently than white employees in similar positions when he sought a promotion to crane operator in September 1972.

Batts also was denied promotions two other times since he began working for the plant in October 1968, the charge says.

No date has been set for a public hearing at which all parties involved may present evidence and call witnesses to support their positions.

Ford officials could be ordered to promote Batts and reimburse him for wages he lost after being denied promotions, department officials said.

Alibi Need Not Be Airtight State Appeals Court Rules

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A defendant's alibi does not have to be airtight but need only raise a "reasonable doubt" that he was at the scene of the crime, the state Court of Appeals ruled Thursday.

The appeals court overturned the Detroit Recorder's Court conviction of Melvin Edward Philfer on charges of rape and assault.

The appeals court said Judge Donald Leonard gave an improper alibi instruction to the jury, which shifted the burden of proof from the prosecutor to the defendant. Philfer raised alibi as defense.

The appeals court said that alibi instructions read as a whole "must adequately advise the jury that the defendant must be acquitted if any reasonable doubt exists as to his presence at the scene of the crime."

The appeals court said that in summing up his instructions, Leonard "indicated that the defendant must provide an airtight alibi covering the whole time in question. He also stated that defendant must prove he could not have reached the place in time to commit the crime."

Those portions of the instructions "effectively nullified" Leonard's earlier correct statements of law, the appeals court said.

Cherry Order Vote At Hand; Changes Needed

A good number of growers are dissatisfied with the federal tart cherry marketing order, which faces a "tip and tack" renewal referendum in March.

So thinks Frank Owen, who resigned as the general manager of the Cherry Administrative Board (CAB) this week to manage two orchards in southwestern Michigan and to continue consulting work.

The CAB administers the set-aside marketing order which includes growers and processors in the Great Lakes states.

Owen feels the set-aside order to prevent crop gluts from hitting the market is good for the tart cherry industry. But there are changes that should be made to make it fit conditions better.

He has directed operation of the marketing order since its inauguration in 1971. The set-aside feature was used in two of the five years. Owen and his family will continue to make their home near Lawrence.

The CAB headquarters was moved recently from Hartford to Watervliet.

Owens says growers are unhappy with "too much regulation, and the order is only part of that." Additionally, tart growers did not understand why this year's mandatory early offering of the reserve pool was needed.

The order needs amending, Owens said. The CAB wants to begin proceedings to amend the order after the grower referendum, a course he thinks is unwise. The board should at least let its proposed amendments be known, so the industry knows what it is voting for in March, he said.

Speaking only for himself, Owen pointed out some problem areas in the order and suggested possible solutions.

In a set-aside year many growers chose diversion (leaving trees unpicked) only because they cannot afford to tie up money in package and storage costs for the long time required.

If the federal government financed the pool on a low-interest basis, Owens said, the need for a diversion clause could be eliminated some years. And more cherries would ultimately reach the market.

In his opinion, it is unfair to "hot pack" processors that only frozen cherries are allowed in the pool. In set-aside years they either set up a special freezing line or they can "all of their growers" cherries, then go out and buy their required percentage of frozen tarts, for which, incidentally, they have no ready market.

Why not have four pools, he asks, provided that the more perishable items are rotated. Besides the frozen pool, pools could be established for pie mix, institutional number 10 cans and 30s.

Small volume growers and processors shouldn't be under the order, he suggested.

Paperwork and other practices are costly for both sides, and the small guys don't affect the market that much.

Tart growers in western states should also be included under the order to give the CAB more control of the nationwide market and to make the order more equitable for the entire cherry industry, Owen said.

The CAB in November sold 23.4 per cent of the cherries that were set-aside from the 1975 crop. The remainder cannot be offered for sale again until March 15. Processors who wanted only about a quarter of the set-aside in November paid 25.5 cents a pound for Grade A fruit and 24.5 cents for Grade B.

Wild Geese Spreading Cholera

Midwestern poultrymen are being warned to protect their flocks from fowl cholera because of an outbreak of this disease among wild geese heading south along the central and Mississippi "flyways."

The disease has been confirmed in South Dakota and Wisconsin. A highly virulent strain of the disease was found in 1,000 geese that died in South Dakota. They were from a flock of about 200,000 blue and snow geese.

Wild waterfowl can spread the disease in domestic birds if they land in poultry yards, according to veterinarians from the United States Department of Agriculture. Pet dogs, cats and other animals that come into contact with dead, diseased waterfowl, can also spread the disease.

In case of an unusual death in a domestic flock, farmers should take affected birds to a poultry laboratory.

Fertilizer Group To Build Second Canadian Plant

Canadian Fertilizers Limited has received permission from the government of Alberta to construct a second large anhydrous ammonia manufacturing plant at Medicine Hat.

Canadian Fertilizers, a manufacturing and distribution cooperative, is owned by Michigan Farm Bureau Services and 18 other regional farm supply cooperatives in the United States and Canada.

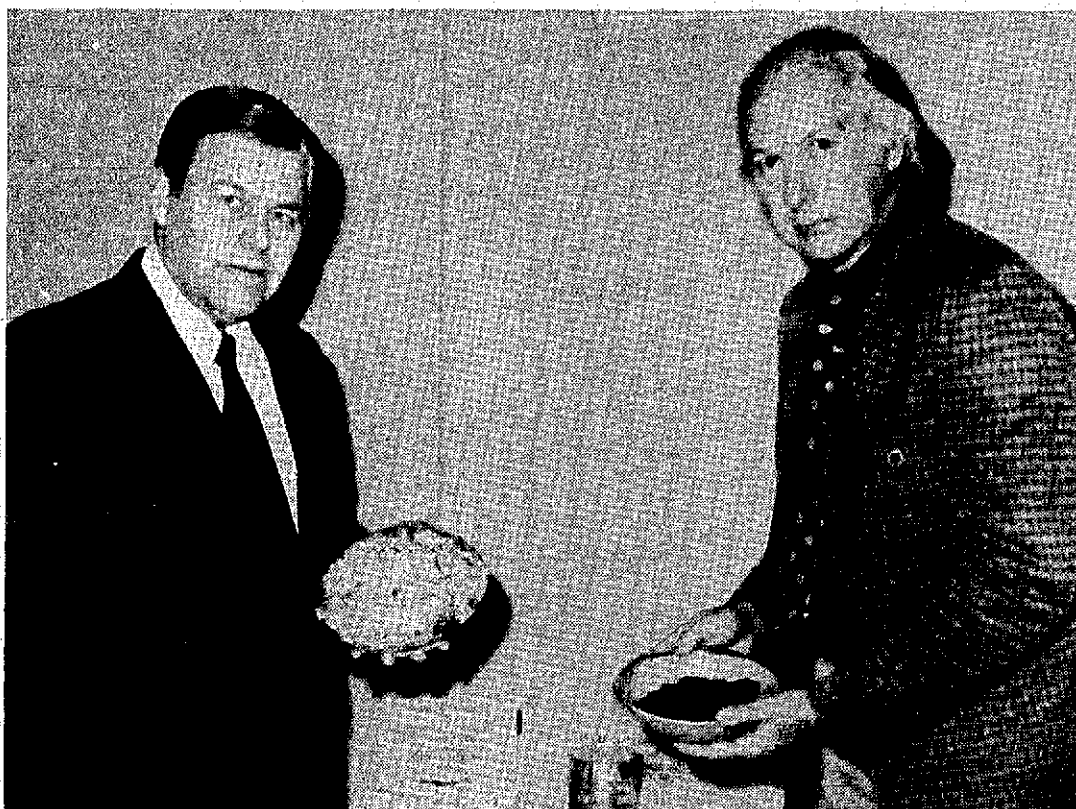

Already under construction at the Medicine Hat complex are two nitrogen manufacturing plants, a 1,200 ton per day ammonia plant and a 1,500 ton per day solid granular fertilizer facility.

The new ammonia plant will produce 1,200 tons a day and will be in operation in early 1977.

Big Dairy Gain

Michigan Dairy Herd Improvement Association reports that milk and butterfat production for the year ending Sept. 30 averaged out to be the highest in the association's history.

Average production per cow was 13,738 pounds of milk and 524 pounds of fat. This represents an increase over 1974 of 390 pounds of milk and 20 pounds of fat.

Early Clothes Made Of Material At Hand

Americans today grow up in centrally heated homes and with warm clothing to face the rigors of winter weather. Colonial settlers, especially the pioneering farmers, had only fireplaces to warm them, often had very few really warm outer clothes and no underwear at all. Then as now, people complained about the weather. But they had a reason.

The very first settlers wore clothing that was homemade and coarse, though serviceable. It was made of the skins of wild animals, mainly deer and bear. The men wore breeches and jackets, and the women, jackets and skirts of enduring buckskin.

Many farmers also wore leather aprons which reached below the knees and covered most of the chest. Knee britches were worn instead of long trousers; they were fastened at the knee with a buckle. Leather leggings and moccasins completed the apparel. Hats, if any, were of beaver skin in winter and rye straw in summer.

Now leather, when dry, did provide a fair insulation. But when it was wet, it was the coldest of garments, and when it dried it stiffened into a kind of mobile prison. "The cold and

INSECT OF YEAR

Alfalfa Weevil Fighter Spreads

FAST LANSING — Insect of the year honors are going to a tiny wasp that may eventually save Michigan alfalfa growers thousands of dollars.

Called Microctonus aethiopis, it lays eggs inside the adult alfalfa weevil which, upon maturing, kills the weevil. "We generally select the most destructive pest of the growing season. But this year we found one of positive benefit," said James K. Liebherr, Michigan State university entomologist.

Left unchecked, the alfalfa weevil will consume the entire alfalfa field. It has been a serious field pest in the eastern U.S. and Michigan for many years.

The parasite of the weevil was spread across Michigan in a project started through the MSU Extension Service in 1969. County Extension agents collected parasitized weevils at MSU's Gull Lake experiment station, where the wasp had been planted, and then spread them in alfalfa fields of their home counties.

Extension entomologists believe aethiopis has a big foothold in the lower peninsula and may reduce alfalfa weevil populations substantially in a few years. Field samples obtained this summer revealed aethiopis larvae were developing in 30 percent of the adult alfalfa weevils throughout Michigan.

The project began in 1968 at Gull Lake and is still in the buildup phase of distributing the weevils. Prospects for success are good, although it is difficult to predict at this time what the final control level will be.

Grass Carp Is Illegal In Ponds

Owners of ponds that contain the illegal fish White Amur will not be prosecuted if they report the fish's presence to the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, said Wayne Hothorn, Cass extension director.

If the state learns that a pond contains the Asiatic grass carp, all fish in the pond will be eradicated without compensation to the owner. The law provides for prosecution in addition to eradication, and the DNR is expected to begin prosecuting offenders soon.

Arkansas breeders promote the White Amur for weed control of ponds, but the DNR claims that this fish is so efficient as a plant eater that it leaves ponds sterile, Hothorn explained.

White Amur is as efficient as a thrashing machine, said Hothorn. Because it eats all plants in a pond, insects are discouraged from moving in and, eventually, insect-eating fish in the same pond starve.

Cherry Order Vote At Hand; Changes Needed

A good number of growers are dissatisfied with the federal tart cherry marketing order, which faces a "nip and tuck" renewal referendum in March.

So thinks Frank Owen, who resigned as the general manager of the Cherry Administrative Board (CAB) this week to manager two orchards in southwestern Michigan and to continue consulting work.

The CAB administers the set-aside marketing order which includes growers and processors in the Great Lakes states.

Owen feels the set-aside order to prevent crop gluts from hitting the market is good for the tart cherry industry. But there are changes that should be made to make it fit conditions better.

He has directed operation of the marketing order since its inauguration in 1971. The set-aside feature was used in two of the five years. Owen and his family will continue to make their home near Lawrence.

The CAB headquarters was moved recently from Hartford to Watervliet.

Owens says growers are unhappy with "too much regulation, and the order is only part of that." Additionally, tart growers did not understand why this year's mandatory early offering of the reserve pool was needed.

The order needs amending, Owens said. The CAB wants to begin proceedings to amend the order after the grower referendum, a course he thinks is unwise. The board should at least let its proposed amendments be known, so the industry knows what it is voting for in March, he said.

Speaking only for himself, Owen pointed out some problem areas in the order and suggested possible solutions.

In a set-aside year many growers chose diversion (leaving trees unpicked) only because they cannot afford to tie up money in package and storage costs for the long time required.

If the federal government financed the pool on a low-interest basis, Owens said, the need for a diversion clause could be eliminated some years. And more cherries would ultimately reach the market.

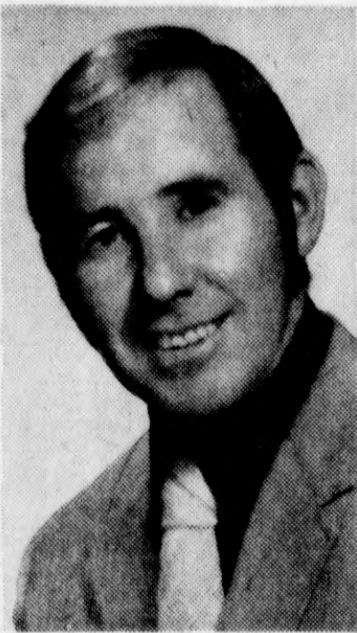

In his opinion, it is unfair to "hot pack" processors that only frozen cherries are allowed in the pool. In set-aside years they either set up a special freezing line or they can all of their growers' cherries, then go out and buy their required percentage of frozen tarts, for which, incidentally, they have no ready market.

Why not have four pools, he asks, provided that the more perishable items are rotated. Besides the frozen pool, pools could be established for pie mix, institutional number 10 cans and 303s.

Small volume growers and processors shouldn't be under the order, he suggested. Paperwork and other practices are costly for both sides, and the small guys don't affect the market that much.

Tart growers in western states should also be included under the order to give the CAB more control of the nationwide market and to make the order more equitable for the entire cherry industry, Owen said.

The CAB in November sold 23.4 per cent of the cherries that were set-aside from the 1975 crop. The remainder cannot be offered for sale again until March 15. Processors who wanted only about a quarter of the set-aside in November paid 25.5 cents a pound for Grade A fruit and 24.5 cents for Grade B.

Wild Geese Spreading Cholera

Midwestern poultrymen are being warned to protect their flocks from fowl cholera because of an outbreak of this disease among wild geese heading south along the central and Mississippi "flyways."

The disease has been confirmed in South Dakota and Wisconsin. A highly virulent strain of the disease was found in 1,000 geese that died in South Dakota. They were from a flock of about 200,000 blue and snow geese.

Wild waterfowl can spread the disease to domestic birds if they land in poultry yards, according to veterinarians from the United States Department of Agriculture. Pet dogs, cats and other animals that come into contact with dead, diseased waterfowl, can also spread the disease.

In case of an unusual death in a domestic flock, farmers should take affected birds to a poultry laboratory.

Fertilizer Group To Build Second Canadian Plant

Canadian Fertilizers Limited has received permission from the government of Alberta to construct a second large anhydrous ammonia manufacturing plant at Medicine Hat.

Canadian Fertilizers, a manufacturing and distribution cooperative, is owned by Michigan Farm Bureau Services and 18 other regional farm supply cooperatives in the United States and Canada.

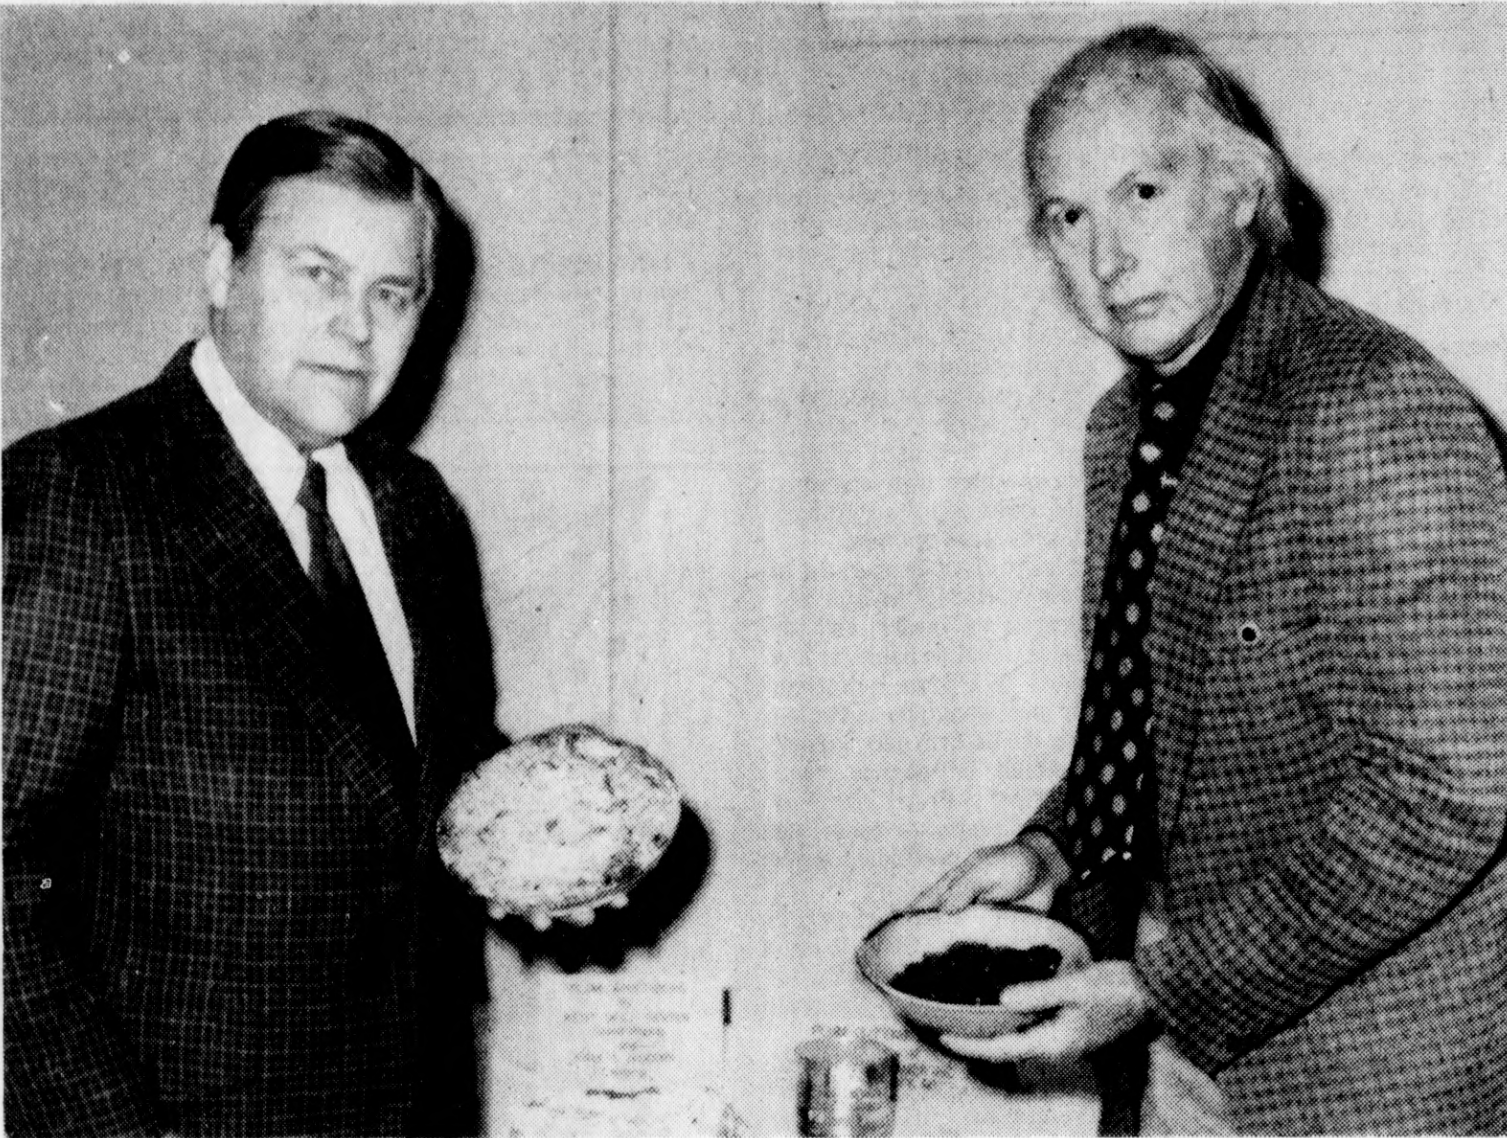

Already under construction at the Medicine Hat complex are two nitrogen manufacturing plants, a 1,200 ton per day ammonia plant and a 1,500 ton per day solid granular fertilizer facility.

The new ammonia plant will produce 1,200 tons a day and will be in operation in early 1977.

Big Dairy Gain

Michigan Dairy Herd Improvement Association reports that milk and butterfat production for the year ending Sept. 30 averaged out to be the highest in the association's history.

Average production per cow was 13,738 pounds of milk and 524 pounds of fat. This represents an increase over 1974 of 350 pounds of milk and 20 pounds of fat.

Early Clothes Made Of Material At Hand

Americans today grow up in centrally heated homes and with warm clothing to face the rigors of winter weather. Colonial settlers, especially the pioneering farmers, had only fireplaces to warm them, often had very few really warm outer clothes and no underwear at all. Then as now, people complained about the weather. But they had a reason.

The very first settlers wore clothing that was homemade and coarse, though serviceable. It was made of the skins of wild animals, mainly deer and bear. The men wore breeches and jackets, and the women, jackets and skirts of enduring buckskin.

Many farmers also wore leather aprons which reached below the knees and covered most of the chest. Knee britches were worn instead of long trousers; they were fastened at the knee with a buckle. Leather leggings and moccasins completed the apparel. Hats, if any, were of beaver skin in winter and rye straw in summer.

Now leather, when dry, did provide a fair insulation. But when it was wet, it was the coldest of garments, and when it dried it stiffened into a kind of mobile prison. "The cold and clammy buckskin, saturated with water, clung fast to our limbs," Francis Parkman wrote about being caught in overnight rain on the Great Plains. "The light wind and sunshine soon dried it and then we were all encased in armor of intolerable stiffness."

In the early 1700's leather began to give way to garments of tow (a coarse material made from the short fibers of the flax plant), wool and linen (also from flax, but the longer, softer fibers).

As soon as the sheep population of the settlers had increased and flax was grown more generally, leather clothes were replaced by homespun garments of wool and linen. Men wore breeches and jackets of tow, coarse linen or linsey-woolsey, which had a warp of flax and a woof of wool.

Farm women wore short gowns and petticoats made of linsey-woolsey in summer and wool in winter. They covered their heads with hoods, shawls or sunbonnets.

Cherry Growers, Inc., processing plant in Grawn. The machine did such a good job that Cherry Growers will have pitted, canned Stanley plums on the market next year. Now, all Michigan canned plums have pits for lack of good pitting machine, according to Glen Antle (left), southwestern Michigan marketing agent. Antle is holding a plum coffee cake, one of several plum desserts created for growers attending a plum meeting held in Grand Rapids in conjunction with the state horticultural convention. Antle said that pitted plums can be sold to markets which cannot use plums and new products probably can be developed. Such markets include old folks homes, Veterans Administration hospitals and school lunch programs. (Staff photo)

INSECT OF YEAR Alfalfa Weevil Fighter Spreads

EAST LANSING — Insect of the year honors are going to a tiny wasp that may eventually save Michigan alfalfa growers thousands of dollars. Called Microctonus aethiops, it lays eggs inside the adult alfalfa weevil which, upon maturing, kills the weevil. "We generally select the most destructive pest of the growing season. But this year we found one of positive benefit," said James K. Lieberr, Michigan State university entomologist.

Grass Carp Is Illegal In Ponds

Owners of ponds that contain the illegal fish White Amur will not be prosecuted if they report the fish's presence to the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, said Wayne Hothem, Cass extension director.

If the state learns that a pond contains the White Amur, also called the Asiatic grass carp, all fish in the pond will be eradicated without compensation to the owner. The law provides for prosecution in addition to eradication, and the DNR is expected to begin prosecuting offenders soon.

Arkansas breeders promote the White Amur for weed control of ponds, but the DNR claims that this fish is so efficient as a plant eater that it leaves ponds sterile, Hothem explained.

White Amur is as efficient as a thrashing machine, said Hothem. Because it eats all plants in a pond, insects are discouraged from moving in and, eventually, insect-eating fish in the same pond starve.

Left unchecked, the alfalfa weevil will consume the entire alfalfa field. It has been a serious field pest in the eastern U.S. and Michigan for many years.

The parasite of the weevil was spread across Michigan in a project started through the MSU Extension Service in 1969. County Extension agents collected parasitized weevils at MSU's Gull Lake experiment station, where the wasp had been planted, and then spread them in alfalfa fields of their home counties.

Extension entomologists believe aethiops has a big foothold in the lower peninsula and may reduce alfalfa weevil populations substantially in a few years. Field samples obtained this summer revealed aethiops larvae were developing in 30 percent of the adult alfalfa weevils throughout Michigan.

The project began in 1969 at Gull Lake and is still in the buildup phase of distributing the weevils. Prospects for success are good, although it is difficult to predict at this time what the final control level will be.

Ford Arrives In Indonesia For An Overnight Visit

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — President Ford arrived today for a 19-hour overnight stay in Indonesia, which the U.S. government regards as the central element in Southeast Asian stability following the Communist conquest of Indochina.

President Suharto and his wife greeted the American president and his wife and daughter as they stepped from Air Force One into a light drizzle and temperature in the 80s. It had been clear and near freezing when the Fords left Peking nearly eight hours before.

The Indonesian airport welcome included a 21-gun salute, a canopied platform to keep the rain off, 400 honor guards and 400 journalists. But the airport was closed to the public, and there was a heavy guard of police and troops with automatic weapons.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger told reporters accompanying the President the visit would be a "review of our relationship and the future of Southeast Asia, in which Indonesia is a key country."

Indonesian Foreign Minister Adam Malik described the President's stay as a "working" visit and not just a courtesy call. But American spokesmen said no major issues required top-level attention. The two presidents met last in July, at Camp David, Md., during a visit by Suharto to the United States.

One subject they were certain to discuss this time was U.S. military and economic aid to Indonesia. Ford has asked Congress to approve a total of $42.5 million worth for the coming year. But a senior American official said, "That's a minor problem. It will be handled on the aide level."

The official said Indonesia, the largest and most populous country in Southeast Asia is "of great consequence" as it and the other four members of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations — Malaysia, Singapore, The Philippines and Thailand — try to organize themselves into a political, economic and "possibly a security grouping."

He said as the five nations cooperate economically, they will be interested in mutual protection, "but it doesn't have to mean military agreements" in legal form.

"There are some military agreements that are legally binding but are politically not terribly useful," he said. "There are others that don't exist in writing but are inherent in the situation. We are not part of this anyway. At this point they are cooperating politically and economically."

The President also was expected to give Suharto an account of his visit to China, with which Indonesia does not have diplomatic relations.

Informed sources said the Indonesians would express their support of the two pro-Indonesian factions in Portuguese Timor and their opposition to the leftist Fretilin movement which declared the island colony independent a week ago and proclaimed the Democratic Republic of East Timor.

The western half of Timor is Indonesian territory, and most observers expect Indonesia to absorb the rest of the island eventually. Fretilin sent two cables to Ford this week, asking him to intercede with Suharto on its behalf, but he and Kissinger were expected to ignore the messages if they ever got them.

Ceremonial banners decorated the streets to welcome the American visitors, and curbs along the main boulevard were given a fresh coat of whitewash. The governor of Jakarta ordered the national flag flown from sunup to sundown today and Saturday.

January Centralization Ruling Possible

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

BERRIEN SPRINGS — A state ruling on whether the Berrien Intermediate school district will build a centralized school for the education of mentally impaired youngsters may come in January, the intermediate board learned last night.

Walter Wend, director of special education, told the board the State Department of Education is attempting to place the matter on the agenda for the January meeting of the State Board of Education.

The centralized school plans are the center of a protest by members of the Parents Advisory Committee (PAC). The centralized school is in the Intermediate District's overall specialized education plans for this school year and next.

The plans must be approved by the State Board of Education before the Intermediate district can build the central facility. Wend noted the state department's staff is studying the special education plans and indicated the staff hopes to place its recommendation for disposition of the plans before the board for consideration in January.

PAC members met with members of the state education department staff on Nov. 21 and 25 to voice objections to the plan, Wend said. The objections by the PAC are to the centralization provisions.

The provisions call for construction of a $2 million facility at Berrien Springs to replace educational facilities now utilized at Lakeview-Gard school in St. Joseph and a school at Niles.

The PAC favors retention of the two-school concept and has offered counter-proposals which call for the upgrading of the present schools.

In another matter, the board denied two property transfer requests which sought a change from River Valley school district to Bridgman schools. The board said the requests were denied because of objections from the River Valley school district, because the transfers would erode district lines, and because no children are affected at the present time.

The requests came from Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Korcek, both of Date road, Bridgman. The Korceks have two children attending parochial schools, Supt. Raymond Srebozh reported, and the Millers do not have any children.

In other matters, the board:

—Employed Mary L. Bizzaro, of South Bend, to serve as a school psychologist with the Niles secondary program, three Lakeshore buildings, and the Galien district.

—Appointed Dr. John Metford, of Buchanan, as an alternate on the PAC.

—Named Watervliet Supt. Sam Gravit to serve on the Berrien Educational and Governmental data processing board.

Two Troopers Suspended For Poaching Deer

By PATRICK CONNALLY
Associated Press Writer

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Two Upper Peninsula State Police troopers have been suspended for 60 days without pay and will be transferred from their Sault Ste. Marie post for poaching deer, it was announced Thursday. State Police troopers Robert Supple, 35, and Michael McNally, 28, were accused of shooting a buck deer with state police ammunition and rifle in rural Chippewa County near the Soo on Nov. 13, two days before hunting season began.

In uniform, they stopped their marked State Police car along the road near the deer and bagged the animal, said Lt. Col. Forrest Jacob, state police deputy director.

The troopers shot the deer about midnight while on night patrol, with McNally actually pulling the trigger, Jacob said. The suspensions were imposed Thursday by State Police Director George Halverson after a 2½-hour police trial board hearing. Maximum suspension could have been six months.

Each trooper also will lose about $4,000 in salary, fringe benefits, sick leave and holiday time, Jacob said.

"Not another citizen in the state will pay more for a piece of deer meat — and that's the way it should be," Jacob said.

Supple and McNally appeared before the police trial board and admitted killing the deer, Jacob

Father Is Jailed Here

A 35-year-old Tennessee man demanded examination yesterday in Berrien Fifth District court on three counts of enticing away his three children from his former wife.

Ronald L. Golladay, 35, of Lexington, Tenn., is charged with enticing away three children in Benton township Oct. 11. According to Benton township police, he is the father of the children, two girls and a boy. A divorce placed them in the custody of Mrs. Virginia Hughes, his former wife. He was jailed in lieu of $5,000 bond.

Claims Tainted Fish Sold

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan lake trout contaminated with PCB chemicals in levels far above the federal maximum are being sold every day, the state natural resources director says. Dr. Howard A. Tanner told the Natural Resources Commission on Thursday that he knows of nothing being done to intercept contaminated fish shipments. A spokesman for the state Department of Agriculture's food inspection division said inspectors have no directive to make special checks of the fish. The fish, taken mostly from Lakes Michigan and Superior, contain polychlorinated biphenyls, heat-resistant compounds used in a variety of industrial processes and products. They are chemically similar to the polychlorinated biphenyl (PCB) involved in the massive contamination of Michigan livestock. The federal Food and Drug Administration has set a maximum allowable PCB contamination level of five parts per million. "Most large lake trout exceed that," Tanner said.

Ready For Winter Battle

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — One thousand workers are ready to spring nearly 800 vehicles into action to battle winter in Michigan, the Department of State Highways and Transportation reports. For an average snowstorm that blankets the entire state, the department will call up about 800 heavy duty vehicles and more than 1,000 workers, according to Joseph Oravec of the department. was one of the youths against whom the extortion charges were dismissed.

The Rheinholtz boy is currently detained at the juvenile home in Berrien Center to await sentencing in the assault case and Caldwell was released to the custody of his parents. The maximum penalty for each of the two boys could be a sentence to the boys' training school until age 19.

The parents of the Rheinholtz boy, Jack Rheinholtz, 34, and Harriet, 31, of 518½ West Buffalo street, were freed when Judge Hammond made his ruling recently after a preliminary examination on the extortion charges.

Eight boys were originally charged with extortion, but one was granted immunity from prosecution earlier in exchange for his testimony.

Commenting on the case, Sullivan said: "I felt the officers acted in good faith."

But Smietanka's summation of the case was stronger.

"Our criminal justice system has weaknesses like any other human institution. It is tragic and frustrating to everyone that this system could not completely cope with the case of Emma Welterich."

"The pleas we obtained were the best we could salvage from the bizarre circumstances of this case. After carefully reviewing Mrs. Welterich's testimony in two of the cases, we felt the dismissals were the only course of action left open to us."

Police originally alleged the youths extorted more than $1,000 from Mrs. Welterich during a nearly year-long period, and had trampled her flowers and poured hot applesauce on her arm when she refused to pay them.

Police also said Mrs. Welterich said she was afraid to tell the police what was going on because she was afraid of police as a result of experiences while living in occupied Europe during World War I.

Noble To Quit Council Seat In Three Oaks

THREE OAKS — Three Oaks village councilman LaVern Noble last night announced he will step down from the village council next March when village elections will be held. He submitted his resignation to the council last night and said he was leaving for "personal reasons." His term was to have run until 1978.

The 48-year-old funeral home director had served a total of seven years on the council. He is an owner of the Connelly-Noble funeral home, 108 East Ash street, Three Oaks.

In other areas, the council passed a resolution allowing President James Hausmann to apply for permits from the state highway department for construction of an emergency power unit within the right-of-way of US-12 east of Three Oaks.

The power unit would supply power to the sewer lift station in the event of a power outage and has been ordered built by the state.

Another resolution was passed allowing Hausmann to apply for a $20,000 grant from the state department of natural resources to be used for an evaluation of the village's sewer system.

The council decided to have another evergreen tree planted in the south side park and later to have the large evergreen now there removed.

The tree to be removed has been used for many years as the village's Christmas tree, but in recent years, it has become too large to decorate.

The council decided to contribute village funds toward purchase of Christmas gifts for the ambulance volunteers, agreed to pay $35 for a sponsorship in a historical book to be published by the Berrien county Bicentennial commission, and authorized the street department to remove several dead trees in the village.

The council set Friday, Jan. 2, as the date for the next meeting due to New Years Day falling on the regular meeting date.

third (Salvatore Briguglio) was here a few weeks ago under subpoena before the grand jury.

Buflino, ironically, was Hoffa's lawyer in a jury tampering case in the 1960s.

Knowledge of the Thursday's proceedings was sharply curtailed when U.S. marshals, saying they were acting under court orders, supervised the erection of 7-foot-tall barricades in the corridor outside the grand jury room.

The barricades gave rise to speculation the jury might hear a witness whom prosecutors did not want reporters to recognize. The eyewitness to the abduction, said Ozer, has not yet testified before the grand jury.

The FBI sought and received federal warrants Tuesday in New Jersey authorizing searches at a landfill; in a Union City, N.J., bank; and in a file cabinet at Teamsters Local 500 in Union City, sources said.

Documents, two handguns and the body of reputed underworld soldier Armand Faugno were the reported objects of the warrants.

Faugno disappeared about a year ago and is still listed by law enforcement officials as a fugitive in a counterfeiting scheme after being convicted in 1973 along with Salvatore Briguglio in connection with a $250,000 counterfeiting scheme involving reserve notes, postage stamps and food stamps.

Salvatore Briguglio has been identified by law enforcement sources as Anthony Provenzano's right-hand man.

A former Teamsters official confirmed that Salvatore Briguglio also was Provenzano's contact with Joseph "Bayonne Joe" Zicarelli, reputed head of the Mafia in Hudson County, N.J.

Authorities say Provenzano's brother, Salvatore "Sam" Provenzano, now president of Local 500, was indicted in the counterfeiting, but later the charges against him were dropped. Faugno and Briguglio were indicted for the crime.

January Centralization Ruling Possible

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

BERRIEN SPRINGS — A state ruling on whether the Berrien Intermediate school district will build a centralized school for the education of mentally impaired youngsters may come in January, the Intermediate board learned last night.

Walter Wend, director of special education, told the board the State Department of Education is attempting to place the matter on the agenda for the January meeting of the State Board of Education.

The centralized school plans are the center of a protest by members of the Parents Advisory Committee (PAC). The centralized school is in the Intermediate District's overall specialized education plans for this school year and next.

The plans must be approved by the State Board of Education before the Intermediate district can build the central facility. Wend noted the state department's staff is studying the special education plans and indicated the staff hopes to place its recommendation for disposition of the plans before the board for consideration in January.

PAC members met with members of the state education department staff on Nov. 21 and 25 to voice objections to the plan, Wend said. The objections by the PAC are to the centralization provisions.

The provisions call for construction of a $2 million facility at Berrien Springs to replace educational facilities now utilized at Lakeview-Gard school in St. Joseph and a school at Niles.

The PAC favors retention of the two-school concept and has offered counter-proposals which call for the upgrading of the present schools.

In another matter, the board denied two property transfer requests which sought a change from River Valley school district to Bridgman schools. The board said the requests were denied because of objections from the River Valley school district, because the transfers would erode district lines, and because no children are affected at the present time.

The requests came from Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Korcek, both of Date road, Bridgman. The Korceks have two children attending parochial schools, Supt. Raymond Sreboth reported, and the Millers do not have any children.

In other matters, the board:

- Employed Mary L. Bizzaro, of South Bend, to serve as a school psychologist with the Niles secondary program, three Lakeshore buildings, and the Gallen district.
- Appointed Dr. John Mefford, of Buchanan, as an alternate on the PAC.
- Named Watervliet Supt. Sam Gravitt to serve on the Berrien Educational and Governmental data processing board.

Two Troopers Suspended For Poaching Deer

By PATRICK CONNALLY
Associated Press Writer

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Two Upper Peninsula State Police troopers have been suspended for 60 days without pay and will be transferred from their Sault Ste. Marie post for poaching deer, it was announced Thursday. State Police troopers Robert Suplee, 35, and Michael McNally, 26, were accused of shooting a buck deer with state police ammunition and rifle in rural Chippewa County near the Soo on Nov. 13, two days before hunting season began.

In uniform, they stopped their marked State Police car along the road near the deer and bagged the animal, said Lt. Col. Forrest Jacob, state police deputy director.

The troopers shot the deer about midnight while on night patrol, with McNally actually pulling the trigger, Jacob said.

The suspensions were imposed Thursday by State Police Director George Halverson after a 2½-hour police trial board hearing. Maximum suspension could have been six months.

Each trooper also will lose about $4,000 in salary, fringe benefits, sick leave and holiday time, Jacob said.

"Not another citizen in the state will pay more for a piece of deer meat — and that's the way it should be," Jacob said.

Suplee and McNally appeared before the police trial board and admitted killing the deer, Jacob said.

"They have regretted it from the time it happened," Jacob said.

Both men had unblemished service records until the poaching incident, Jacob said. Suplee has been a trooper since 1968 and McNally since 1973.

Suplee and McNally were suspended without pay Nov. 14 and the time will be counted into the suspensions imposed Thursday, Jacob said.

The 16-man Soo post will have to operate short-handed until the transfers, he said.

The troopers and a civilian riding with them, Wayne Trepanier, a state Department of Education employee, were fined $103 each by Chippewa County District Court Judge John LaRock on Nov. 24 after they pleaded no contest to a charge of illegal possession of a deer.

Trepanier, a vocational education specialist, was riding along as a "community observer" to suggest ways police might improve service, Jacob said.

A rural county resident notified authorities after he heard shooting, drove out to investigate and saw the police car cruising away from the area, Jacob said.

The deer carcass was found by a conservation officer at Trepanier's home near the Soo, and Suplee and McNally were arrested at the Soo State Police post, Jacob said.

Judge LaRock, who has handled many cases brought before him by Suplee and McNally, said he had high regard for their work.

"The sad part is that both were way above the average good officers," the judge said.

Father Is Jailed Here

A 35-year-old Tennessee man demanded examination yesterday in Berrien Fifth District court on three counts of enticing away his three children from his former wife.

Ronald L. Golladay, 35, of Lexington, Tenn., is charged with enticing away three children in Benton township Oct. 11. According to Benton township police, he is the father of the children, two girls and a boy. A divorce placed them in the custody of Mrs. Virginia Hughes, his former wife. He was jailed in lieu of $5,000 bond.

Claims Tainted Fish Sold

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan lake trout contaminated with PCB chemicals in levels far above the federal maximum are being sold every day, the state natural resources director says. Dr. Howard A. Tanner told the Natural Resources Commission on Thursday that he knows of nothing being done to intercept contaminated fish shipments. A spokesman for the state Department of Agriculture's food inspection division said inspectors have no directive to make special checks of the fish. The fish, taken mostly from Lakes Michigan and Superior, contain polychlorinated biphenyls, heat-resistant compounds used in a variety of industrial processes and products. They are chemically similar to the polychlorinated biphenyl (PCB) involved in the massive contamination of Michigan livestock. The federal Food and Drug Administration has set a maximum allowable PCB contamination level of five parts per million. "Most large lake trout exceed that," Tanner said.

Ready For Winter Battle

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — One thousand workers are ready to spring nearly 800 vehicles into action to battle winter in Michigan, the Department of State Highways and Transportation reports. For an average snowstorm that blankets the entire state, the department will call up about 800 heavy duty vehicles and more than 1,000 workers, according to Joseph Oravec of the department. Snow removal costs an average $12.7 million for the state's 9,330-mile state highway system over the past five years, he said. The record snow-and-ice removal cost was $13.59 million a year ago. Highways with an average daily traffic volume of under 3,500 vehicles will not be kept entirely bare if they become snow-covered in the late afternoon or during the night, he said.

SOUTH HAVEN — Raymond N. Howe, 78, Route 4, Fennville and formerly of Covert, died Wednesday in Douglas Community hospital.

Mr. Howe was born March 26, 1897, in Covert. He was a member of the First English Lutheran church, South Haven.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Joseph (Betty) Marfia, Fennville and Mrs. Troy (Eleanor) Lawson, Holland, Mich.; two sons, Eugene, Coloma and Robert of Berkley, Mich.; five sisters, Mrs. Lydia Sarrington, and Mrs. Mary McConnell, both of South Haven, Mrs. Connie Kuhn, Bangor, Mrs. Alice Smith, Grand Junction and Mrs. Jennie Woods, Wisconsin; five brothers, Joseph, Watervliet, Nelson, St. Joseph, Alfred, Grand Junction, James, Bloomington and George of South Haven.

Funeral services will be held at 1 p.m. Saturday in the Calvin funeral home, South Haven, where friends may call from 7 until 9 this evening. Burial will be in Covert cemetery.

Extortion Charges All Dismissed

was one of the youths against whom the extortion charges were dismissed.

The Rheinoltz boy is currently detained at the juvenile home in Berrien Center to await sentencing in the assault case and Caldwell was released to the custody of his parents. The maximum penalty for each of the two boys could be a sentence to the boys' training school until age 19.

The parents of the Rheinoltz boy, Jack Rheinoltz, 34, and Harriet, 31, of 518½ West Buffalo street, were freed when Judge Hammond made his ruling recently after a preliminary examination on the extortion charges.

Eight boys were originally charged with extortion, but one was granted immunity from prosecution earlier in exchange for his testimony.

Commenting on the case, Sullivan said: "I felt the officers acted in good faith."

But Smietanka's summation of the case was stronger.

"Our criminal justice system has weaknesses like any other human institution. It is tragic and frustrating to everyone that this system could not completely cope with the case of Emma Welderich."

The pleas we obtained were the best we could salvage from the bizarre circumstances of this case. After carefully reviewing Mrs. Welderich's testimony in two of the cases, we felt the dismissals were the only course of action left open to us."

Police originally alleged the youths extorted more than $1,000 from Mrs. Welderich during a nearly year-long period, and had trampled her flowers and poured hot applesauce on her arm when she refused to pay them.

Police also said Mrs. Welderich said she was afraid to tell the police what was going on because she was afraid of police as a result of experiences while living in occupied Europe during World War I.

The FBI sought and received federal warrants Tuesday in New Jersey authorizing searches at a landfill; in Union City, N.J., bank; and in a file cabinet at Teamsters Local 560 in Union City, sources said.

Documents, two handguns and the body of reputed underworld soldier Armand Faugno were the reported objects of the warrants.

Faugno disappeared about a year ago and is still listed by law enforcement officials as a fugitive in a counterfeiting scheme after being convicted in 1973 along with Salvatore Briguglio in connection with a third (Salvatore Briguglio) was here a few weeks ago under subpoena before the grand jury."

Bufalino, ironically, was Hoffa's lawyer in a jury tampering case in the 1960s.

Knowledge of the Thursday's proceedings was sharply curtailed when U.S. marshals, saying they were acting under court orders, supervised the erection of 7-foot-tall barricades in the corridor outside the grand jury room.

The barricades gave rise to speculation the jury might hear a witness whom prosecutors did not want reporters to recognize.

The eyewitness to the abduction, said Ozer, has not yet testified before the grand jury.

Council Calls For Evangelism

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — The assembly of the World Council of Churches has called for a new commitment to evangelism, in both word and deed.

"We do not have the option of keeping the good news to ourselves," the interdenominational organization of Christians declared in a 6,000-word document approved late Thursday.

Cash Crimp Could Close New Buffalo Schools

NEW BUFFALO — The school system here faces an unprecedented financial threat because the state tax commission has not yet completed its investigation of New Buffalo township's tax rolls, according to New Buffalo school Supt. Walter Schwarz.

He said that without the 1975 tax roll that the tax commission still has, the township cannot send out tax bills to township residents. Their property taxes are expected to finance 41 per cent (about $600,000) of the school's $1.6 million budget this year.

Schwarz said a delay in tax revenues could force the school to close its doors to 1,430 students in February or go deeper into borrowed debt to finance continued operations. The school has already borrowed $300,000 and Schwarz said he is not sure the state would allow it to seek additional loans.

Edward Kane of the state tax commission said he expects tax commission action on the township's tax roll "...in a week or two."

The commission seized the 1975 roll in April after receiving complaints of alleged unequal or unfair property valuations. The tax roll was also seized in 1973 after similar complaints. Normally, said Schwarz, the tax bills are sent out in early December and local tax revenues start coming in in early January.

The superintendent said he has been told by township officials that it will take an additional two or three weeks for township officials to audit the tax roll after it is returned by the state. On top of that, he said, state law makes it mandatory for the school to put in escrow the first tax funds it receives to pay back a $200,000 loan due on April 1.

With the delay, and the April note due, the school could be without operating funds in February, he said. Local tax funds from the township, New Buffalo city and a small area in Chikaming township account for about 70 per cent of the school's revenue, he said.

He called the financial threat "unprecedented" in the school's history and said he has appealed to the tax commission and the governor's office to have the tax roll investigation speeded up.

It takes about $125,000 per month to operate the school, and 85 per cent of that sum is for payroll, Schwarz said.

The school has received a state aid payment this month but will not get another until February.

"When the biggest share of your funds come from one entity like this, you have to worry," Schwarz said.

"Maybe I'm crying 'wolf,' but I want everyone to know well ahead of time about the serious problem we will face if that tax roll is not returned soon," he said.

GUNS EXAMINED: State policeman from Niles post examines some of 100 guns valued at $20,000 believed taken in armed robbery of Niles township gun shop yesterday. Guns were taken to state police post to be checked after three men were arrested in house south of Niles and charged with armed robbery.

Niles Store Looted; Three Men Arrested

By JOHN DYE

NILES — Three men were arrested on armed robbery charges south of here yesterday afternoon some seven hours after some 100 guns valued at $20,000 and $1,000 in cash were taken in an armed robbery of a north Niles township gun shop.

Lodged in the Niles city jail were Ackley King Jr., 22, of Niles, and Blair Anderson, 24, and James Flint, 21, both of Chicago.

State police from the Niles post said the three were arrested in connection with the daring late morning armed robbery of the James Kehrer Guns shop, 3405 North Fifth street (M-51), Niles township.

Kehrer, 46, and two employees, Kathy Sykes, 18, and Jill Hoskins, 19, both of Niles, were not injured as three men spent nearly 25 minutes hauling pistols, rifles and shotguns from the store and loading them in a car, police said.

Det. Sgt. Wayne Long of the Niles post said the trio surrendered without incident shortly before 5 p.m. in a house on Fort street. State police and Berrien Metro crime unit officers, fearful of a shootout, joined in the apprehension.

They went to the house after receiving an anonymous telephone tip.

Long said that two other adults in the house, Beverly Osmer, 19, who rented the 1126 Fort street residence, and Don Coultus, 20, of the same address, were questioned but not arrested. Four children, Miss Osmer's child and three children she was watching, were also in the house when the arrests were made, he said.

Most of the guns believed taken in the holdup were recovered from the house and from a car parked nearby, but the cash has not been found, Long said. The car belonged to Miss Osmer, officers said.

The robbery occurred shortly after 10 a.m. yesterday when one man entered the store, located behind Kehrer's residence, brandished a sawed-off shotgun and announced the holdup, Long said. Kehrer told police the man ordered him and Miss Sykes to lay face down behind them.

Kehrer told police he heard two more men enter the store and begin hauling weapons from the business. Long said Miss Hoskins had left the store briefly, returned to find the robbery in progress and was ordered to join the other two behind the counter.

Long said Kehrer and the two women were bound with their hands behind their heads; a telephone was ripped from the wall and the trio fled.

Miss Sykes was able to free herself, assisted the other two and Miss Hoskins ran to a nearby house to telephone police and report the robbery.

The holdup touched off a massive search of the Niles area by state police, Berrien county sheriff's deputies, Niles city police and Niles township police.

Long said, an anonymous telephone caller instructed police to check the Fort street house and police first spotted the car, which matched the description of the one used in the robbery, parked near the house.

Plainclothes state police and Metro officers approached the house and the three gave themselves up, Long said. He said no shots were fired and no one was injured.

Police described Miss Osmer as a friend of the three arrested men.

Judge Anderson Retiring From Van Buren Bench

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — Judge David Anderson Jr. said this morning he plans to retire as Van Buren circuit court judge effective Jan. 1, ending 16 years on the bench.

Anderson, 66, said his post will be filled by an appointment by Gov. William Milliken, with the appointee serving until November, 1976.

"He (the governor) can't make an appointment until after Jan. 1, because legally there will not be a vacancy until then, but I expect the groundwork will be done before then," Anderson said.

Adding that until an appointment was made, circuit court cases will probably be handled by judges assigned by the state courts' administrator's office.

The judge added that he hopes quick action will be taken because of the court backlog. Anderson's current term does not expire until 1978, but he cited his health as one reason why he wants to retire now.

"If I stayed on another three years, my health might not be the same and I might not be able to do some of the things I want to," he said.

"My wife and I have a lot of things we would like to do and a lot of places we would like to see," he added.

Anderson's wife, Mary, has been his secretary and court clerk for the past 15 years.

Anderson dispelled rumors that he planned to retire in 1972 when he successfully gained reelection by defeating Van Buren known for his sharp wit and sense of humor, Anderson also had the reputation as a no-nonsense judge known to come down hard on young attorneys who failed to make their point or were wasting the court's time.

In the past, he has called for the addition of a second circuit court judge, citing an ever-increasing case load.

He said yesterday there is no indication that the state is considering a second circuit court judge for the county.

Anderson is now serving his third term on the bench. He was first elected to the Cass-Van Buren circuit in 1959.

Van Buren and Cass counties were separated into separate circuits in 1969 when Anderson became Van Buren's circuit court judge.

He was born in Paw Paw, Dec. 27, 1908, and graduated from Paw Paw high school, Al-

Probate Judge Meyer Warshawsky.

Warshawsky, as well as District Court Judges William C. Buhl of Paw Paw and Donald Goodwillie Jr. of South Haven, are all now considered possible candidates for the post.

A Pro-Consumer Stand

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A Detroit attorney who has argued for power users in utility rate cases said Thursday the legislature should act to give consumers interests a regular seat in the rate-setting arena. James Smith told a special House committee the Public Service Commission staff itself could present the consumers' position to the three commissioners who decide electric, gas and phone rates in the state. The PSC staff now tries to balance utility and consumer interests in recommending rate levels to the commissioners. Smith suggested legislation could require the PSC staff to spend "at least part of its rate case work presenting the position most favorable to the consuming public."

LAKESIDE — Chikaming township board voted last night to put a one-mill property tax levy for police and fire equipment on the May 18 presidential primary election ballot.

Township Clerk Mrs. Lena Abrahamson said the board did not determine for how long the one-mill tax levy would run if approved by township voters.

It is estimated the levy would produce about $35,000 the first year for purchase of needed equipment, she said.

In other action, the board accepted the low bid of $28,022 from FESCO fire equipment company of Niles on a fire truck body and equipment.

In October, the board purchased a fire truck chassis from Jim Hall Ford of Three Oaks for $12,439.

The new truck will be the seventh vehicle of the township's fire department.

Also last night, the board appointed Mrs. Martin (Elsie) Priest, Flynn road, to fill the vacancy on the township park board. John North had resigned from the board last month.

Mrs. Priest will have to seek re-election in November of next year if she wants to complete North's six-year term that expires in 1978, Mrs. Abrahamson said.

The township board also announced that tax bills to township residents will be delayed and are not expected to be sent out for another two weeks.

The clerk said a delay in the county's computerized tax service is responsible for the delay.

She said the township board also endorsed an all-township observance of Memorial Day, an idea proposed by the Lakeside Association.

Mrs. Abrahamson said the board voted to hold its next meeting on Jan. 8.

MSU Must Keep NCAA Decision, Penalties Secret

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association has issued its decision and proposed penalties in a case involving alleged Michigan State University football recruiting violations, the school said Thursday.

The NCAA ordered school officials not to divulge the findings or penalties, said MSU President Clifton R. Wharton Jr.

"Michigan State University has received the decision of the NCAA Committee on Infractions and will be appealing certain findings and proposed penalties in their decision," Wharton said in a terse statement issued from his office.

The appeal will be heard by the NCAA council Jan. 11-13, Wharton said.

"The University has been ordered by the NCAA not to reveal either the findings or the proposed penalties," Wharton said.

Jack Shingleton, MSU athletic director, was not immediately available for comment.

An MSU sports information officer said, "That is all there is to be said from here at this time. The NCAA has a long standing policy of saying nothing" until investigations are completed.

The NCAA and Michigan State have kept a tight lid on the investigation, and it has not been disclosed publicly who made the original complaints about football recruiting.

Most observers believe the probe centers around MSU's efforts to recruit high school players in the Midwest, especially Ohio.

However, news leaks and media reports have said the NCAA is looking into about 70 charges of recruiting violations, most of which are against Howard Weyers.

Weyers, defensive end coach and MSU's chief Ohio recruiter, and Charlie Butler, who coaches offensive guards and centers, reportedly took and passed lie detector tests prior to appearing before the NCAA infractions committee in Denver in October.

The Detroit News has said there are indications MSU will be put on probation.

Anthony V. DeCollo, attorney for Weyers and Butler said in October he will go to federal court if either of his clients are found guilty of NCAA recruiting violations.

During the investigation, reporters unearthed details of how one football player used a credit card belonging to an MSU booster to buy clothes, and quarterback Charlie Baggett had to return a 1975 Buick he bought in a special payment deal.

The investigation threw a cloud over the Spartan's football program this season. The team finished 7-4 overall and 4-1 in Big Ten play.

The football program was muddled further when Burt Smith was ousted as athletic director, in what MSU officials claimed was an unrelated move to shore up administration of the program.

Football head coach Denny Stolz and his players have steadfastly refused to talk about the situation.

Delvecchio Assumes Dual Role

Red Wings Fire Barkley

DOUG BARKLEY

DETROIT (AP) — Doug Barkley has been fired as coach of the Detroit Red Wings, marking the team's ninth coaching change in the last eight years.

General Manager Alex Delvecchio will assume the dual role of coach and general manager for the time being, the National Hockey League Red Wings said Thursday.

Delvecchio, 44, had held both positions prior to Barkley's appointment as coach on June 30th.

The announcement came one day after the Wings' 9-1 loss to the Vancouver Canucks.

The NHL said Thursday they have suspended indefinitely Detroit's right wing Phil Roberto after a spearing incident in the Vancouver game.

"Over the past couple of weeks, I have not seen sufficient improvement in the team that I had expected," Delvecchio said in a statement.

Detroit, in fifth place of the National Hockey League Norris

Division, has a record of 7-15-4. The Red Wings did not score a victory until the 11th game of the season this year.

"I have made my coaches aware of my feelings, and in my judgment the deterioration continued," Delvecchio said.

"I have confidence in this team, and there's still time left in this season to make the playoffs. If they continue to improve, they could make a challenge for the Stanley Cup."

Delvecchio said he recommended Thursday night to club owner Bruce Norris that Barkley be relieved of coaching responsibilities.

Reached at his office in Miami, Norris confirmed that Barkley's firing was Delvecchio's decision.

"Alex felt very strongly about it," said the Wings' owner. "He called me and told me that the players were getting restless and that we had a better team than this."

"He just felt that the players were upset ... and they had a right to be, getting beat like that."

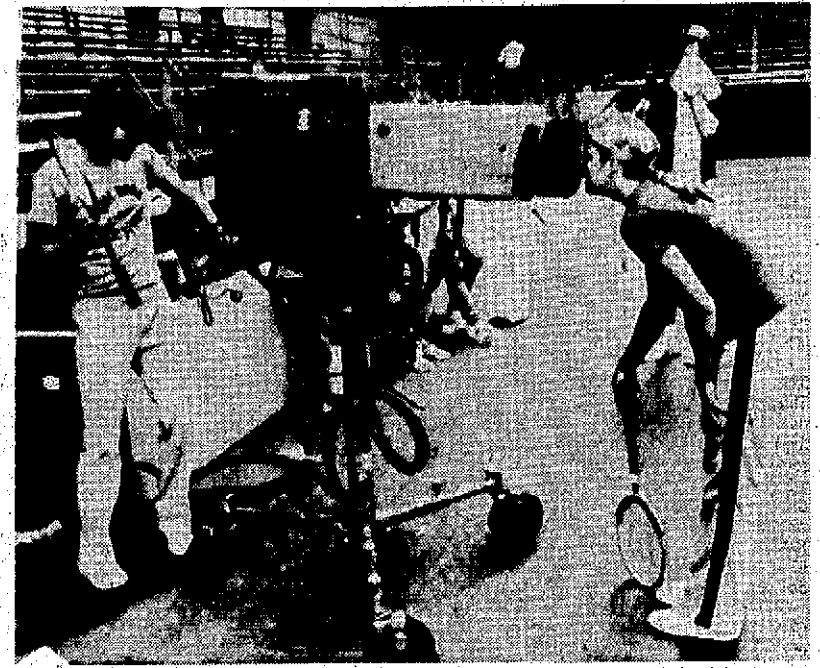

"So I said to him, 'You're the general manager. You hired him, so you make the decision.'"

Norris said he will try to find a spot for Barkley in the organization. "Doug's been a real loyal guy and I think he just lost momentum."

"I have been very friendly with Doug for many years ... and so I said to him, 'Just come on down and sit in the sun for a weekend and we'll talk about it.'"

"This kind of thing is hard on people. It's hard on everyone," Norris said.

It is the second time Barkley has left the Red Wings coaching position. He resigned from the job in November 1971, saying he didn't feel he was ready to coach in the NHL. He was the youngest coach in the league when he was named to the post in January 1971.

Daley And Kaye Splashing In Chisox' Muddy Waters

CHICAGO (AP) — The fate of the Chicago White Sox lies mired in muddy financial, legal and even political waters, with everyone from Mayor Richard J. Daley to entertainer Danny Kaye splashing in them.

Daley reacted sharply Thursday to the American League's rejection of a purchase offer by a group headed by Bill Veeck which would have kept the team in Chicago. The mayor, a White Sox fan since 1910 who still lives within earshot of the ballpark organ, said the city would do everything it could to retain the team.

The White Sox, Daley said, "are as much a part of Chicago as the Water Tower or the Art Institute, and we are going to work hard to keep the White Sox here where they belong."

While stating flatly that the team would be in Chicago next year, Daley declined to discuss any concrete plans for financing the shifty franchise.

In rejecting Veeck's offer on financial grounds, the league gave the flamboyant promoter a Wednesday deadline for raising an additional $1.2 million in solid capital. Veeck's original proposal, which was endorsed by current Sox owner John Allyn, provided for the purchase of an 80 per cent interest in the franchise through a $4.75-million bank loan and $4.8 million in cash. Allyn would retain a 20 per cent interest in the club and would be kept on as a consultant for 10 years.

The AL owners rejected the offer because all but $720,000 of the cash would be raised through the sale of subordinated debentures — the equivalent of issuing IOUs. "There was a feeling," said AL

President Lee McPhail, "that Mr. Veeck's original proposal contained too much debt and not enough equity."

While insisting that the owners want Veeck back in the league, McPhail said they felt his original plan would only lead the club back into debt problems.

The financially pressed Allyn, meanwhile, said that if the deal with Veeck falls through his only alternative will be to sell the team to Seattle baseball interests. Those interests, who include Kaye and his business partner, Les Smith, have taken encouragement from the rejection of Veeck's offer.

Kaye, who did not attend the Cleveland AL meeting while Veeck's first proposal was pending, now says he will attend next week's baseball meetings in Hollywood, Fla.

While unpopular in Chicago, a White Sox move to Seattle would eliminate one AL problem — a lawsuit filed against the league by the state of Washington over transfer of the short-lived Seattle Pilots to Milwaukee in 1970.

The move, however, also would create an AL vacuum in Chicago, something Oakland A's owner Charles O. Finley says league officials could not tolerate. As far as filling that vacuum with his own team, though, he shot down the persistent rumor that he would move the A's to his home town.

"I don't care what others have said," Finley insisted Thursday. "I have never said I would move my club to Chicago. I'm set in Oakland and have no intentions of leaving."

Daley, meanwhile, has met with Veeck, and presumably with his own influential friends in Chicago finance.

Cancer Claims Mollenkopf

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP) — Former Purdue University football coach Jack Mollenkopf died with fond memories of his coaching days but with regret that coaching friends from yesteryear had lost their jobs.

Mollenkopf, 71, died Thursday of cancer. In what probably was his last interview, he recently recalled his 14 years as the Boilermakers coach.

Football had changed in recent years, Mollenkopf said, but the need for aggressive play never lessened.

Mollenkopf retired in 1969 against the urging of Purdue President Fred Hayde and Athletic Director Red Mackey. He was one of only 24 Big Ten coaches who served 10 years or more and he ranked 12th in longevity.

Mollenkopf entered Methodist Hospital in Rochester Oct. 13. It was the third time in 14 years he had been hospitalized with cancer. Death came early Thursday.

Interviewed by Bob Abbott of the Rochester Post Bulletin on Oct. 21, Mollenkopf said tradition still plays a big part in the college football recruiting game. He wasn't surprised that Ohio State and Michigan again dominated the Big Ten this year.

"It's obvious why they stayed on top," Mollenkopf said. "They do the best job of recruiting and both teams have outstanding coaches. You can't win without talent and good coaching. Bo Schembehler and Woody Hayes are two of the most intense men I've ever been around."

He was saddened, Mollenkopf said, that some fine coaches had lost their jobs after failing to keep up with the pacesetters year after year. He mentioned Minnesota's Murray Warmath, Michigan State's Duffy Daugherty, Iowa's Red Nagel, Illinois' Jim Valek and Wisconsin's John Crotta.

"Murray Warmath is just as good a football man today as he was when Minnesota won the national championship in 1960 and went to the Rose Bowl two years in a row," Mollenkopf said.

"Sure, football has changed some," Mollenkopf went on. "But a part that has never changed is the necessity to play a hard-hitting aggressive style. Michigan and Ohio State play that way year-in and year-out. That's why they're winning."

Purdue compiled an 84-39-9 record under Mollenkopf's coaching, including records of 9-2 in 1966 and 8-2 in 1967, 1968 and 1969. Mollenkopf's 1968 Boilermakers finished second to Michigan State but went to the Rose Bowl and beat Southern California 14-13.

MSU Must Keep NCAA Decision, Penalties Secret

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association has issued its decision and proposed penalties in a case involving alleged Michigan State University football recruiting violations, the school said Thursday.

The NCAA ordered school officials not to divulge the findings or penalties, said MSU President Clifton R. Wharton Jr.

"Michigan State University has received the decision of the NCAA Committee on Infractions and will be appealing certain findings and proposed penalties in their decision," Wharton said in a terse statement issued from his office.

The appeal will be heard by the NCAA council Jan. 11-13, Wharton said.

"The University has been ordered by the NCAA not to reveal either the findings or the proposed penalties," Wharton said.

Jack Shingleton, MSU athletic director, was not immediately available for comment.

An MSU sports information officer said, "That is all there is to be said from here at this time. The NCAA has a long standing policy of saying nothing" until investigations are completed.

The NCAA and Michigan State have kept a tight lid on the investigation, and it has not been disclosed publicly who made the original complaints about football recruiting.

Most observers believe the probe centers around MSU's efforts to recruit high school players in the Midwest, especially Ohio.

However, news leaks and media reports have said the NCAA is looking into about 70 charges of recruiting violations, most of which are against Howard Weyers.

Weyers, defensive end coach and MSU's chief Ohio recruiter, and Charlie Butler, who coaches offensive guards and centers, reportedly took and passed lie detector tests prior to appearing before the NCAA infractions committee in Denver in October.

The Detroit News has said there are indications MSU will be put on probation.

Anthony V. DeCello, attorney for Weyers and Butler said in October he will go to federal court if either of his clients are found guilty of NCAA recruiting violations.

During the investigation, reporters unearthed details of how one football player used a credit card belonging to an MSU booster to buy clothes, and quarterback Charlie Baggett had to return a 1975 Buick he bought in a special payment deal.

The investigation threw a cloud over the Spartan's football program this season. The team finished 7-4 overall and 4-1 in Big Ten play.

The football program was muddled further when Burt Smith was ousted as athletic director, in what MSU officials claimed was an unrelated move to shore up administration of the program.

Football head coach Denny Stolz and his players have steadfastly refused to talk about the situation.

Red Wings Fire Barkley

DOUG BARKLEY

DETROIT (AP) — Doug Barkley has been fired as coach of the Detroit Red Wings, marking the team's ninth coaching change in the last eight years.

General Manager Alex Delvecchio will assume the dual role of coach and general manager for the time being, the National Hockey League Red Wings said Thursday.

Delvecchio, 44, had held both positions prior to Barkley's appointment as coach on June 30th.

The announcement came one day after the Wings' 9-1 loss to the Vancouver Canucks.

The NHL said Thursday they have suspended indefinitely Detroit's right wing Phil Roberto after a spearing incident in the Vancouver game.

"Over the past couple of weeks, I have not seen sufficient improvement in the team that I had expected," Delvecchio said in a statement.

Detroit, in fifth place of the National Hockey League Norris

Division, has a record of 7-15-4. The Red Wings did not score a victory until the 11th game of the season this year.

"I have made my coaches aware of my feelings, and in my judgment the deterioration continued," Delvecchio said.

"I have confidence in this team, and there's still time left in this season to make the playoffs. If they continue to improve, they could make a challenge for the Stanley Cup."

Delvecchio said he recommended Thursday night to club owner Bruce Norris that Barkley be relieved of coaching responsibilities.

Reached at his office in Miami, Norris confirmed that Barkley's firing was Delvecchio's decision.

"Alex felt very strongly about it," said the Wings' owner. "He called me and told me that the players were getting restless and that we had a better team than this."

"He just felt that the players were upset ... and they had a right to be, getting beat like that."

"So I said to him, 'You're the general manager. You hired him, so you make the decision.'"

Norris said he will try to find a spot for Barkley in the organization. "Doug's been a real loyal guy and I think he just lost momentum."

"I have been very friendly with Doug for many years ... and so I said to him, 'Just come on down and sit in the sun for a weekend and we'll talk about it.'"

"This kind of thing is hard on people. It's hard on everyone," Norris said.

It is the second time Barkley has left the Red Wings coaching position. He resigned from the job in November 1971, saying he didn't feel he was ready to coach in the NHL. He was the youngest coach in the league when he was named to the post in January 1971.

Barkley lasted only 11 games of the 1971-72 season before quitting and becoming coach and general manager of the Red Wings' Virginia team in the American Hockey League.

Earlier in the year, Delvecchio had said of Barkley's second appointment as coach: "We spent a lot of time on it and Doug was the guy we wanted. We could have gone outside the organization to get somebody, but we felt we had the man we wanted right here."

"He always put a winner on the ice in the minor leagues."

Delvecchio said Barkley had left the team in Vancouver Thursday night for a meeting in Miami, Fla., with Norris and Vice President John Ziegler.

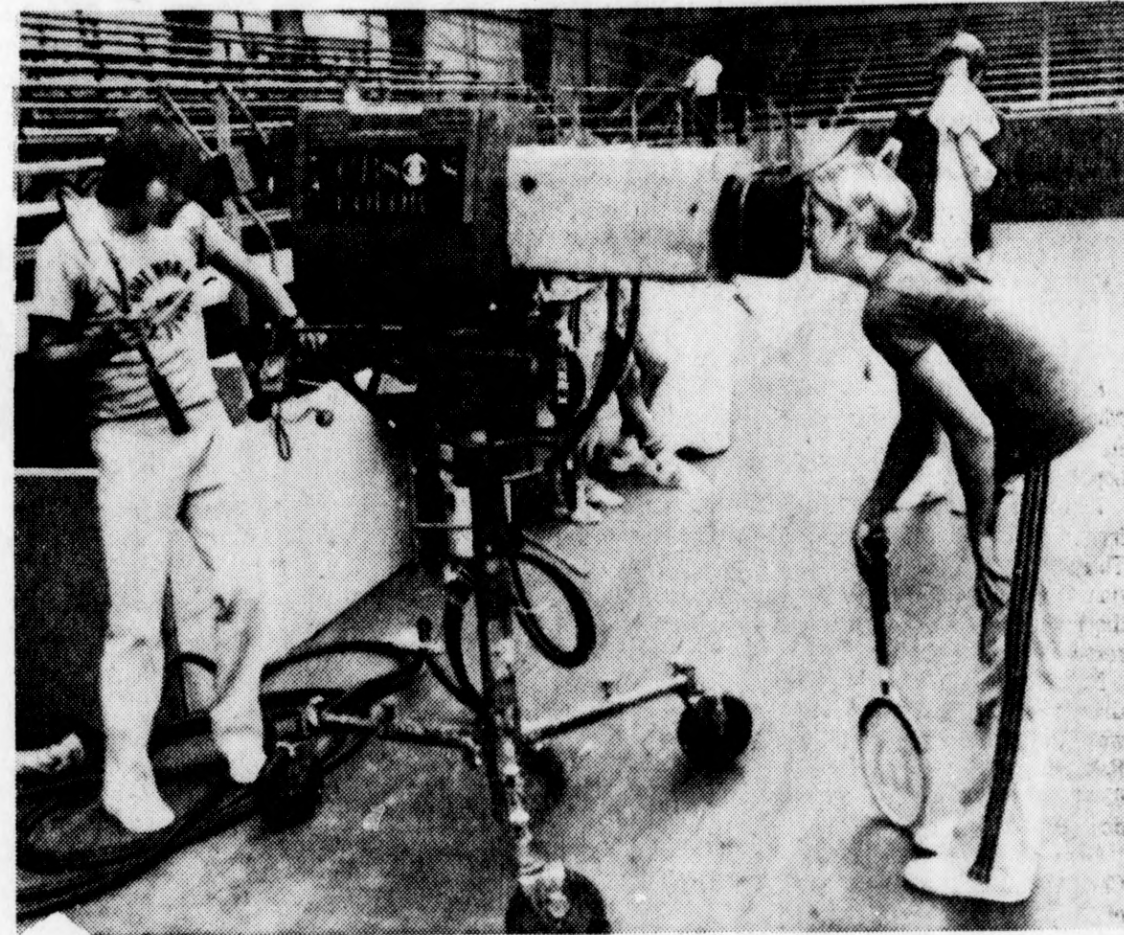

Barkley broke into the NHL 12 years ago when he was acquired by the Red Wings in a trade with Chicago. His playing career ended during the 1965-1966 season when he lost the sight of an eye after being hit by a stick in a game.

Since the 1967-1968 season, the Red Wings have made nine coaching changes, involving seven different men. Detroit's best season during that period was 1969-1970 when they finished third with 40-21-15 record under Bill Gadsby.

Delvecchio was named coach in November 1973, succeeding Ted Garvin, who was fired after 12 games. In 1974, Delvecchio was appointed general manager replacing Ned Harkness. Under Delvecchio, the Red Wings finished in sixth place in 1973-74 with a 29-39-10 record and fourth in 1974-75 with a 23-45-12 record.

One of Delvecchio's first challenges will be to deal with the Roberto suspension. Delvecchio said he had not been officially informed of the NHL action, which was announced by league president Clarence Campbell in Montreal.

Delvecchio said he did not think the penalty was justified, though he conceded he didn't see much of the incident.

Cotton Bowl Spot On Line Saturday

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — For Scott Bull, Texas A&M's victory over Texas was like the death row inmate getting a reprieve from the governor: It meant a second chance.

Bull made a disastrous "big game" debut as Arkansas quarterback against Texas on Oct. 18, when Arkansas lost five of eight fumbles and Bull sustained three interceptions in a 24-18 loss.

Arkansas held tough from then on, and now is one victory away from the Cotton Bowl.

The Razorbacks play A&M Saturday at Little Rock. A victory means a share of the Southwest Conference title and a spot in the Jan. 1 Cotton Bowl against Georgia.

A&M is 6-0 in the SWC; Arkansas is 5-1, and Texas is 6-1. A three-way tie would mean a trip to Dallas for the Razorbacks because A&M and Texas have played in the Cotton Bowl since Arkansas lost to Louisiana State University in 1966.

The loser of Saturday's game goes to the Liberty Bowl Dec. 22 against Southern California.

Bull said the A&M game is "another chance for me to prove I can play well in a big game."

"Nobody said anything to me, but I think most people probably think I choked in the Texas game," Bull said. "Well, I don't think I did."

Bull said he watched every play in the Aggies' 20-10 victory over Texas last week.

"I thought they had the best defense I've seen all year," said Bull. "I think we can run on them, like no one has this year, and score on them, like no one has."

A&M has been devastating on defense. The Aggies lead the nation in total defense, allowing an average of 175.5 yards per game, and in rushing defense, permitting an average of 71.9 yards per game.

Bull started the season as Arkansas' No. 2 quarterback, but took over the starting role when Mike Kirkland was injured in the third game of the season.

Mike Jay started at quarterback for A&M last week, but injured his back and will not play Saturday. David Shipman, the starter at the first of the season, will direct the Aggies' attack.

Rabbers Puts Lancers In 'B' Title Tilt Lakeshore Edges Coldwater Girls

COMSTOCK — Jodi Rabbers led a frantic fourth-quarter charge here Thursday night as the Lakeshore girls upset Coldwater 59-57 in the Comstock Class B regional of the state basketball tournament.

Lakeshore, which was down seven points with 2:10 to play in the game, refused to fold and finally took the lead for the first time in the game on a lay-up by Mandy Smith with 41 seconds left.

Coldwater then was called for a technical foul for an illegal substitution. Cool Rabbers then hit the technical foul shot for the final margin of victory.

Lakeshore was awarded the ball out of bounds with about 30 seconds remaining. The Lancers went into a four-corner stall with Rabbers dribbling out most of the clock.

"When you're hot you're hot," noted Lakeshore coach Penny Knola of Rabbers' shooting.

"She was just hot out there...many came in the 15 to 20 foot range. I think she only had one lay-up."

Knola called the victory "the best and biggest of the season."

"We were behind twice by as many as 10 points, so we had to come from behind twice. We were down by seven with 2:10 to go and we started to press. We hadn't pressed to that point."

The Lakeshore girls showed a lot of character as they made up most of the deficit without starters Deb Swishelm and Sue Kunkel, both who fouled out

Kunkel also turned in a stand-out job as she hit 14 points and pulled down 16 rebounds. A big factor in the outcome was Lakeshore's ability to rebound taller Coldwater.

Coldwater, which held quarter leads of 18-14, 33-28 and 45-38, got 18 points from Mary Jo Henderson, Cathi Heater had 13 and Tammy Miller, a 6-1 center, swished 12, but only two in the last half.

Denny's Dollies now take on

Gull Lake at 1:30 p.m. Saturday for the regional title.

"Sure, I think we'll be underdogs again," commented Knola. "But we like to be underdogs. We have nothing to lose."

"We're looking forward to playing Gull Lake. I think they're much like Coldwater...they have one big girl. They also have a good record. We'll do the best we can...win or lose Gull Lake will know they're in a ball game."

The Lancers are now 17-7 overall.

Goins Nets 34, Puts Cass In Finals

KALAMAZOO — Lake Michigan Catholic couldn't find its shooting eyes, but Cassopolis' Billie Goins sure did. Lake Michigan was ousted from the state tournament here Thursday as Kalamazoo Christian dropped the Lakers 37-24 in the Kalamazoo Hackett Class C regional.

But Cassopolis survived thanks chiefly to Billie Goins, who poured in 34 points, as the Rangers crushed Marcellus 62-44 in the nightcap of the doubleheader.

Lake Michigan never led as Christian took quarter margins of 12-4, 17-11 and 25-13.

"I would have to say we just had a bad night all around," offered Lake coach Sue Morningstar. "Nothing went in for us. We couldn't drive through the middle and we're not that good of an outside shooting team."

"Bad passes and rebounding also hurt us. But Christian really had good hands...they really anticipated the ball. I guess we just had a lot of tournament jitters."

Lake Michigan, which fell behind 8-0, got 10 points from Ann Donahue and six from Sharrie Johnson. Norma Lemmer led Kalamazoo with nine points.

Catholic bows out with an 11-6 mark.

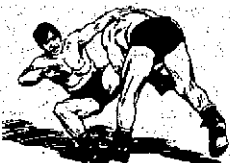

Cass won the right to meet Christian for the regional crown Saturday at 1:30 p.m. with its easy win over Marcellus.

Marcellus double and triple teamed high-scoring Denise Goins and "limited" her to 19 points. But that inside guarding opened up sister Billie outside and she responded with her 34 points on 17 field goals.

Karen Ringle led Marcellus with 17 points while Denise Brown added 16.

Camden, Fouls Eliminate Gobles

COLON — Gobles couldn't overcome foul woes and lost 36-32 to Camden-Frontier here Thursday night in the Colon Class D regional of the girls state basketball tournament.

Starts Saturday

The eight-team Benton Harbor Recreation Department men's basketball league opens play Saturday at Fairplain junior high school.

The league, which will also play on Wednesdays at Bard school, includes South Haven, Johnnie's Fashion, City Hall, Durable Products, Bertuca Bonding, Auto Specialties, Village Variety and Haynes Construction.

Saturday's games start at 12:30 p.m.

Five of the Gobles starters had three fouls or more in the first half but the Tigers went on to lead with about three minutes left in the game. But then the fouls took their toll with two starters fouling out.

Gobles bows out of the tourney at 12-8.

Camden-Frontier will now take on Allendale Saturday at 7:30 p.m. for the regional championship.

Rabbers Puts Lancers In 'B' Title Tilt

Lakeshore Edges Coldwater Girls

COMSTOCK — Jodi Rabbers led a frantic fourth-quarter charge here Thursday night as the Lakeshore girls upset Coldwater 59-57 in the Comstock Class B regional of the state basketball tournament.

Lakeshore, which was down seven points with 2:10 to play in the game, refused to fold and finally took the lead for the first time in the game on a lay-up by Mandy Smith with 41 seconds left.

Coldwater then was called for a technical foul for an illegal substitution. Cool Rabbers then hit the technical foul shot for the final margin of victory.

Lakeshore was awarded the ball out of bounds with about 30 seconds remaining. The Lancers went into a four-corner stall with Rabbers dribbling out most of the clock.

Rabbers put on one of her most impressive efforts of her great Lakeshore career. She ended with a game-high 27 points and scored 13 of the 21 Lancer points in the last quarter.

"When you're hot you're hot," noted Lakeshore coach Denny Knola of Rabbers' shooting.

"She was just hot outside...many came in the 15 to 20 foot range. I think she only had one lay-up."

Knola called the victory "the best and biggest of the season."

"We were behind twice by as many as 10 points, so we had to come from behind twice. We were down by seven with 2:10 to go and we started to press. We hadn't pressed to that point."

The Lakeshore girls showed a lot of character as they made up most of the deficit without starters Deb Swisselm and Sue Kunkel, both who fouled out with less than two minutes to go. Patty Hoge and Kathy Mensinger turned in solid jobs off the bench.

Kunkel also turned in a stand-out job as she hit 14 points and pulled down 16 rebounds. A big factor in the outcome was Lakeshore's ability to rebound taller Coldwater.

Coldwater, which held quarter leads of 18-14, 33-28 and 45-38, got 18 points from Mary Jo Henderson. Cathi Heater had 13 and Tammy Miller, a 6-1 center, swished 12, but only two in the last half.

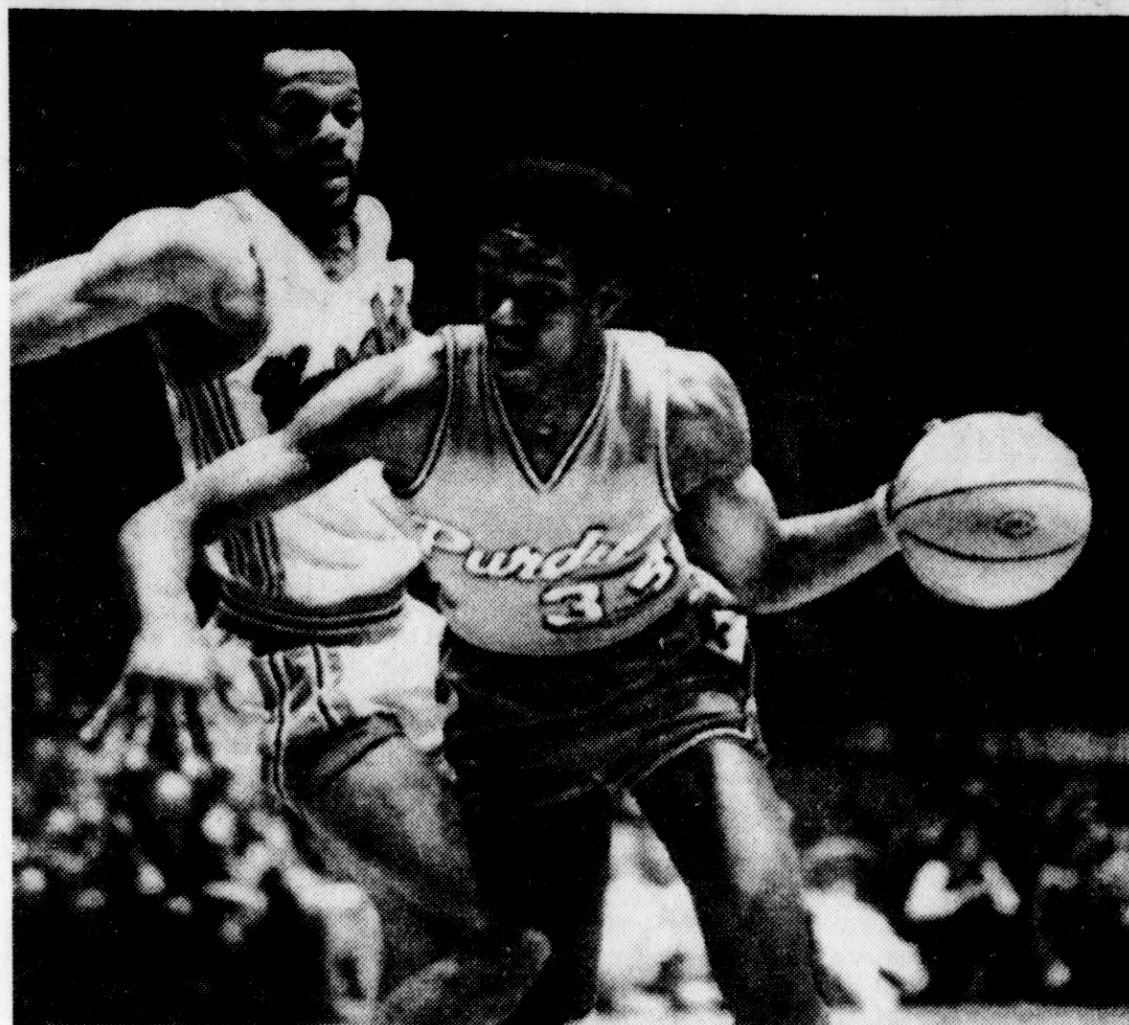

Denny's Dollies now take on

Gull Lake at 1:30 p.m. Saturday for the regional title.

"Sure, I think we'll be underdogs again," commented Knola. "But we like to be underdogs. We have nothing to lose."

"We're looking forward to playing Gull Lake. I think they're much like Coldwater...they have one big girl. They also have a good record. We'll do the best we can...win or lose Gull Lake will know they're in a ball game."

The Lancers are now 17-7 overall.

Lakers 'C' Regional Loser

Goins Nets 34, Puts Cass In Finals

KALAMAZOO — Lake Michigan Catholic couldn't find its shooting eyes, but Cassopolis' Billie Goins sure did.

Lake Michigan was ousted from the state tournament here Thursday as Kalamazoo Christian dropped the Lakers 37-24 in the Kalamazoo Hackett Class C regional.

But Cassopolis survived thanks chiefly to Billie Goins, who poured in 34 points, as the Rangers crushed Marcellus 62-44 in the nightcap of the doubleheader.

Lake Michigan never led as Christian took quarter margins of 12-4, 17-11 and 25-13.

"I would have to say we just had a bad night all around," offered Laker coach Sue Morningstar. "Nothing went in for us. We couldn't drive through the middle and we're not that good of an outside shooting team."

"Bad passes and rebounding also hurt us. But Christian really had good hands...they really anticipated the ball. I guess we just had a lot of tournament jitters."

Lake Michigan, which fell behind 6-0, got 10 points from Ann Donahue and six from Sharrie Johnson. Norma Lemmer led Kalamazoo with nine points.

Catholic bows out with an 11-6 mark.

Cass won the right to meet Christian for the regional crown Saturday at 1:30 p.m. with its easy win over Marcellus.

Marcellus double and triple teamed high-scoring Denise Goins and "limited" her to 19 points. But that inside guarding opened up sister Billie outside and she responded with her 34 points on 17 field goals.

Karen Ringle led Marcellus with 17 points while Denise Brown added 16.

Hammond Explodes After Shaky Start

Finishes Big With 277 Game

By JERRY DYKSTRA
Staff Sports Writer

After sub-par games of 140 and 131, Keith Hammond looked like he was in for one of those "off" bowling nights every bowler experiences.

But then the Benton Harbor kiegler found his mark and zeroed on in.

Hammond, rolling Monday night in the Junior Classic league at Blossom Lanes, opened his third game with two spares but then went wild with nine strikes in a row and an eight-count on his final toss to finish with a 277 game.

The 277 ties Hammond with Elwyn Gillette for the top men's game this season in southwestern Michigan.

"I had trouble adjusting to the alleys," explained Hammond, who carries a 166 average in the league. "I kept on changing all night in trying to find my right spot on the alleys. I'm a spot bowler and if I can find my spot I usually can lay my ball down there."

"I just happened to find my spot at the start of my third game...I finally felt comfortable out there."

Hammond, 22, termed the 277 his biggest thrill in four years of bowling. He also carries averages of 165 and 170 in two other leagues.

Hammond helped his Twin City Embroidery team to a big 1036 team game with his whirlwind windup.

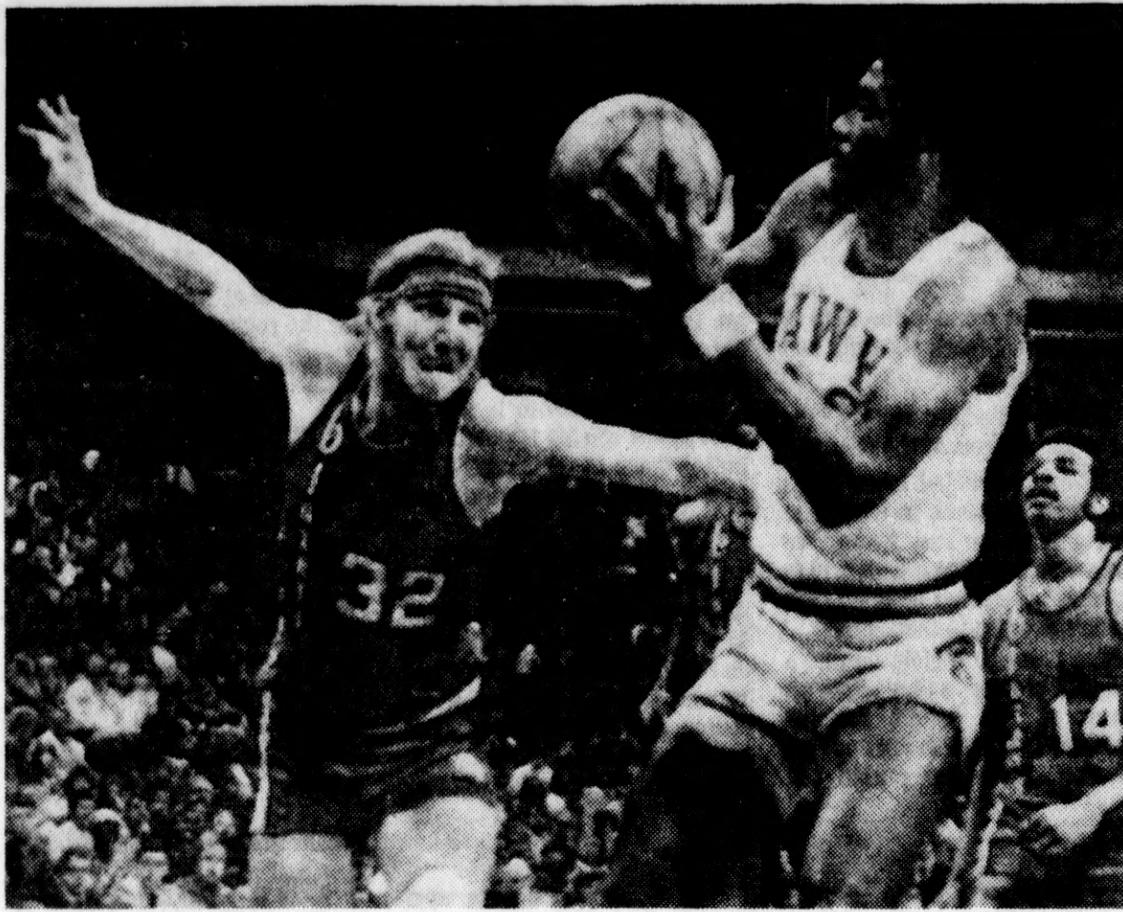

Barb Hersh became the first area woman to notch two 600's this season when she pitched a 635 as a sub in the Wednesday Night Ladies league at Gersonde's. She flung games of 191-234-210.

Hersh, who had eight 600's last year and has won the area 600 title for the last three years, smashed a 662 series in October. She now has 59 career 600's.

Ruth Williams also got into the 600 series picture as she threw a 642 series Thursday in the Sundown league at Blossom Lanes. The 642 is the third best ladies high series score of the season. Tiki Boutique also made the team listings (third) with 2526 in the league.

Mary Lou Pilley came up with a 245 game to take over fifth spot (tie) in the women's high games standings. She flipped the 245 in the Friday Night 9 O'Clock Mixed league at Wil-O-Paw Lanes.

ART OF INTIMIDATION: As Portland center Bill Walton (32) makes a defensive move, Atlanta's Mike Sojourner decides to pass the ball away. At the right is Trail Blazers guard Lionel Hollins (14). The Hawks won the NBA game played Thursday night in Atlanta 94-87. (AP Wirephoto)

Atlanta Coach Fitzsimmons Happy Over Tight Defense

ATLANTA (AP) — Long concerned about his defense, Atlanta Hawks Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons can stop worrying.

"We had to play good defense to win — and we did," said Fitzsimmons after his Hawks whipped the Portland Trail Blazers 94-87 in a National Basketball Association game Thursday night. "I was afraid with a guy like (Geoff) Petrie out, they might be up and play above their heads."

Fitzsimmons, troubled after the Hawks gave up 114 points to Boston last week, breathed a lot easier while watching his team Thursday night. Tom Henderson engineered the Hawks to their ninth victory in the last 13 games with two steals in the final seconds which he converted into successful layups.

In the only other NBA game, the Kansas City Kings whipped the Cleveland Cavaliers 105-101.

Atlanta led 89-87 with 41 seconds to play when Henderson stole the ball and made the first layup for a 91-87 lead. After a Trail Blazer time out, Henderson snatched the ball again and scored to make it 93-87.

Tom Van Arsdale, who scored 16 points for the night, hit a free throw after a technical foul against Portland rookie guard Lionel Hollins. Portland's Bill Walton led all scorers with 24 points and won praise from both Fitzsimmons and Portland Coach Lennie Wilkins, a former Hawks guard.

"Bill Walton is a great player," said Fitzsimmons. "With Petrie out, I guess he knew he had to shoulder the load, and he did. My only criticism of Walton is that he's too unselfish and he's not dominant enough, normally. But he was tonight."

Wilkins, asked about the difference in Walton's playing this year compared to last season, had a one-word reply: "Health."

"When you're healthy, you can do all the things you are capable of doing," he said. "He moves to the basket very well, and that's what I want him to do."

Scott Wedman and Ollie Johnson combined for 45 points and Jimmy Walker tacked on six straight in the fourth quarter to pace Kansas City over Cleveland.

Wedman finished as the high scorer with 24 points while Johnson added 21. Bobby Smith led Cleveland with 19 points and Jim Clemons chipped in with 18.

Ballard Trips Milton Twice

St. Joseph Milton junior high school opened its basketball season Wednesday night with a pair of defeats at the hands of Niles Ballard.

Joe Sharkey scored 16 points to spark Ballard to an easy 46-16 win in the seventh grade game. Jim Lewallen tossed in 15 to pace the Niles team to a 43-36 win in the eighth grade contest. Wes Rice scored 16 and Jim Mix 14 for the Milton eighth graders.

Jets' Hull Cracks 800-Goal Barrier

From Associated Press
Bobby Hull has reached a lot of goals in his life, but his latest have to be among his most memorable.

The Winnipeg Jets' superstar cracked the 800-goal barrier Thursday night and thus became only the second player in the history of hockey to do it.

Hull, who played 15 years with the Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League and now is in his fourth year in the World Hockey Association, scored two goals to help the Jets whip the San Diego Mariners 5-4.

Hull's 800th goal put him 56 behind Gordie Howe, who has done his 856 with the Detroit Red Wings and the WHA's Houston Aeros.

In the other WHA games, the Phoenix Roadrunners whipped the New England Whalers 3-1 and the Indianapolis Racers walloped the Cincinnati Stingers 7-1.

Winger Willy Lindstrom broke a 4-4 tie with 57 seconds remaining to give the Jets their victory over San Diego. Lindstrom's game-winning goal was slapped by Mariner goalie Ernie Wakely. Hull's second goal of the night tied the game at 4-4.

Del Hall scored two goals and set up another as Phoenix took a 3-1 lead and then fought off New England. Rob Forek scored the other Phoenix goal in the first period.

John Gray scored in the second period for the

Racers Unbeaten String At 8

KALAMAZOO — The Benton Harbor Racers extended their winning streak to eight games as they beat the Kalamazoo Sabres 3-1 at Wings Stadium Thursday night.

Steve Chinick put the Racers ahead in the first period but the Sabres tied the score midway through the second period.

Scott McFall scored what turned out to be the winning goal at 14:09 of the second stanza. Joe Davies scored into an open net with three seconds left in the game.

Danny Wild was the winning goalie. The Racers are now 7-0-1 and in first place in the league.

Mitchell's Wins With Just Four

PAW PAW — Mitchell's had just four players and trailed by as many as 10 points in the first half, but the Paw Paw men's basketball league powerhouse rallied for a 101-86 triumph over Tappan Olds here Thursday night.

Louie Abnet had 40 points as Mitchell's hiked its record to 11-1. Larry Jacobs netted 32 for the losers.

Other action saw the Bangor Coolers remain atop the league at 12-1 after a 113-52 romp over Lovely Ladies Homes. Len Streffling netted 24 for Bangor and Barney BarnesDell had 21 for Lovely Ladies.

Also, Lapines whipped the Lawton Bombers 70-58.

Schultz Tops Flyer Victory

Maybe Hawks' Reay Will Get Name Straight

From Associated Press
Maybe Dave Schultz wants Chicago Coach Billy Reay to get his name straight.

Schultz scored two first-period goals Thursday night to boost the Philadelphia Flyers to a 5-2 National Hockey League victory over the Black Hawks.

But Reay, whose team had tied the Flyers in their two previous meetings this season, continued to voice his low opinion of the Philadelphia winger.

"It's the first time I've seen him earn his pay," Reay said after the game. "But I'm still not worried about him."

Reay has been saying for several seasons that Schultz lacks skill and fights too much. And to add to the insult, the coach refers to Schultz as "Schwartz."

The victory shattered a 15-game unbeaten string for Chicago, and extended Philadelphia's winning streak to seven.

In other NHL games Thursday night, Montreal stopped St. Louis 4-1, Boston edged Washington 3-2, the New York Islanders crushed Pittsburgh 6-1 and the New York Rangers and Buffalo skated to a 6-6 tie.

Chicago had taken a 1-0 lead in the first period on a 35-foot slap shot by John Marks. But the Flyers tied it about eight minutes later on a power-play goal by defenseman Andre Dupont.

Schultz' goals made it 3-1, and Philadelphia increased the edge to 4-1 on a 15-foot shot by Rick MacLeish. Tom Bladen slammed in the Flyers' fifth goal in the third period.

Goals 55 seconds apart by Yvan Cournoyer and Murray Wilson highlighted a three-goal second period that boosted Montreal over St. Louis. The Canadiens now have won seven of their last eight games while St. Louis has dropped five straight. Pete Mahovich and Doug Jarvis scored the other Montreal goals while Red Berenson spoiled Canadiens goalie Ken Dryden's bid for a shutout with an unassisted goal in the third period.

Rene Robert scored his second goal of the game with 6½ minutes remaining in the third period to lift Buffalo into its tie with the New York Rangers. Phil Esposito scored twice for New York. The Rangers took a 4-2 lead in the opening period, but Buffalo came back to tie it at 5-5 on Jerry Korab's 80-foot shot.

Al Sims scored twice in the third period to lift Boston to its victory over Washington. The frustrated Capitals had only 13 shots on goal, and only two in the final period. Ace Bailey gave Washington a first period lead before defenseman Sims tied it at 3:32 of the final period. He scored again at 11:09 to put Boston ahead, then John Bucyk scored what proved to be the winning goal. Bailey finished the scoring with his second goal of the night.

Two goals by Bill Harris led the New York Islanders to a rout of the Pittsburgh Penguins. Dennis Owchar, who tallied Pittsburgh's lone goal, later hurt his right hand in a third period fight and had to be taken from the game. Penguins center Pierre Larouche was hospitalized for a possible concussion after a second period injury.

Classy Guard Sinks Seton Hall Ford Drives Tar Heels

From Associated Press
Listen to Dean Smith and you get the idea that Phil Ford is the best guard in America. Watch Phil Ford and you get the idea that it may be true.

"I can't think of a better backcourt man in the country," the North Carolina coach said after Ford drove his fourth-ranked Tar Heels to a 75-63 college basketball victory over Seton Hall Thursday night. "Ford runs my offense as well as any guard that ever played in the Atlantic Coast Conference." The apple of Smith's eye scored 27 points, handed out 10 assists and directed the Tar Heel machine with poise.

"I couldn't say that Ford was the best guard in the country last year," Smith said. "He wasn't as good a shooter as he is this year." He worked all summer on his shooting and has really come along. He has tremendous quickness and he's now taking the proper shot selection."

North Carolina's super sophomore was almost upstaged by Seton Hall's Greg Tynes, another 6-1 guard. Tynes scored 23 points for the New Jersey team, keeping the stubborn Pirates within shooting range of the Tar Heels most of the game.

The game was the opener of a doubleheader at Madison Square Garden in New York. In the second game, Rutgers beat Purdue 81-73, led by Phil Sellers with 31 points.

In other games around the country, Austin Peay crushed Armstrong State 101-63; Penn State beat Delaware 86-61; Drake smashed Mankato State 88-78; Mississippi State turned back Chicago State 113-81; George Washington University whipped William and Mary 79-69; Centenary defeated Northwestern-Louisiana 82-67; South Florida nipped Old Dominion 77-76; West Texas downed Southwestern Texas 77-63; St. Mary's shaded Tulsa 73-69; California stopped Idaho State 78-65; the University of Pacific turned back Brigham Young 71-66 and Air Force defeated Regis 78-70.

Tim Glass scored 14 points to lead Austin Peay's romp over Armstrong State; Penn State's Nittany Lions got 14 each from Tommy Doty and Chris Erichsen in their victory over Delaware; Ken Harris led Drake's victory with 23 points; Ray White and Gary Hooker pumped in 18 each to pace Mississippi State past Chicago State; George Washington defeated William and Mary behind Pat Tallent's 20 points and Robert Parrish fired in 31 to trigger Centenary past Northwestern-Louisiana.

Eddie Davis' two free throws with 17 seconds left led South Florida past Old Dominion; Brad Schreck scored 23 points as West Texas beat Southwestern Texas; Larry Gooding's 19 points led St. Mary's past Tulsa; Rock Lee came off the bench to score 10 points and help California beat Idaho State; Vick Baker poured in 21 points and collected 12 rebounds to lead Pacific's victory and Air Force rallied behind Rick Schoenlein to whip stubborn Regis.

Nastase Presents Flowers To Ashe, Both In Semis

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Arthur Ashe and Ilie Nastase, who quarreled on court five days ago at the start of the Masters Tennis Tournament, are friends again.

Nastase said it with flowers. He stopped Ashe in the foyer of their hotel and handed him a bouquet. "The flowers came from one of my fans," said Nastase as he learned that both he and Ashe had moved into the semi-finals of the $100,000 tournament.

"I like giving flowers to people if they are nice. Ashe is a nice guy. I like him very much."

That was a turn-around from last Sunday, when Nastase was disqualified for his antics during a match against Ashe, who vowed, "I will never play that man again."

Now a rematch could come earlier than either expected. They could be rivals for the first prize of $40,000 in the final next

Sunday. In Saturday's semi-finals, Ashe plays Bjorn Borg, the 19-year-old Swedish star, and Nastase will face the defending champion, Guillermo Vilas of Argentina.

Nastase, however, may still bear more of last Sunday's scenes, when he acted around until Ashe walked off court in exasperation. The Professional Tennis Council is meeting in Stockholm and discussing a code of conduct for players, and it was learned that Nastase's behavior has already come up for discussion. He has now been disqualified three times this year.

The formula of the Masters, which features the leading players in the year-long Grand Prix, has caused a lot of head-scratching.

It is played in two round robin groups, with the two top men in each group advancing to the semi-finals. If two players finish even, precedence is decided by the percentage of sets won, and after that by the percentage of games won.

As the group play reached its final stage Thursday night, some strange situations were possible. Ashe, already sure of a semi-finals place, could have kept Nastase out of the line-up by losing to Manuel Orantes of Spain.

If Orantes had beaten Ashe by two sets to one, the two would have been even on matches and sets percentage, and officials would then have had to work out a complicated formula to decide which of them was top man in the group. Ashe saved them the trouble by rising to his best form and winning 6-4, 6-1, so Orantes went out.

In the other group, Vilas defeated Borg 7-5, 4-6, 6-1 to the disappointment of a crowd of 4,000, headed by King Carl Gustaf of Sweden.

Classy Guard Sinks Seton Hall Ford Drives Tar Heels

From Associated Press
Listen to Dean Smith and you get the idea that Phil Ford is the best guard in America. Watch Phil Ford and you get the idea that it may be true.

"I can't think of a better basketball man in the country," the North Carolina coach said after Ford drove his 75-63 college basketball victory over Seton Hall Thursday night. "Ford runs my offense as well as any guard that ever played in the Atlantic Coast Conference."

The apple of Smith's eye scored 27 points, handed out 10 assists and directed the Tar Heel machine with poise.

"I couldn't say that Ford was the best guard in the country last year," Smith said. "He wasn't as good a shooter as he is this year. He worked all summer on his shooting and has really come along. He has tremendous quickness and he's now taking the proper shot selection."

North Carolina's super sophomore was almost upstaged by Seton Hall's Greg Tynes, another 6-1 guard. Tynes scored 23 points for the New Jersey team, keeping the stubborn Pirates within shooting range of the Tar Heels most of the game.

In other games around the country, Austin Peay crushed Armstrong State 101-63; Penn State beat Delaware 66-61; Drake smashed Mankato State 99-78; Mississippi State turned back Chicago State 113-81; George Washington University whipped William and Mary 76-69; Centenary defeated Northwestern Louisiana 82-67; South Florida nipped Old Dominion 77-76; West Texas downed Southwestern Texas 77-63; St. Mary's shaded Tulsa 73-69; California stopped Idaho State 76-65; the University of Pacific turned back Brigham Young 71-66 and Air Force defeated Regis 78-70.

Tim Glass scored 14 points to lead Austin Peay's romp over Armstrong State; Penn State's Timmy Lyons got 14 each from Tommy Doty and Chris Erichsen in their victory over Delaware; Ken Harris led Drake's victory with 23 points; Ray White and Gary Hooker pumped in 18 each to pace Mississippi State past Chicago State; George Washington defeated William and Mary behind Pat Tallent's 20 points and Robert Parrish fired in 31 to trigger Centenary past Northwestern Louisiana.

Eddie Davis' two free throws with 17 seconds left led South Florida past Old Dominion; Brad Schreck scored 23 points as West Texas beat Southwestern Texas; Larry Gooding's 19 points led St. Mary's past Tulsa; Rock Lee came off the bench to score 10 points and help California beat Idaho State; Vick Baker poured in 21 points and collected 12 rebounds to lead Pacific's victory and Air Force rallied behind Rick Schoenlein to whip stubborn Regis.

Nastase Presents Flowers To Ashe, Both In Semis

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Arthur Ashe and Ilie Nastase, who quarreled on court five days ago at the start of the Masters Tennis Tournament, are friends again.

Nastase said it with flowers. He stopped Ashe in the foyer of their hotel and handed him a bouquet. "The flowers came from one of my fans," said Nastase as he learned that both he and Ashe had moved into the semi-finals of the $100,000 tournament.

"I like giving flowers to people if they are nice. Ashe is a nice guy. I like him very much."

That was a turn-around from last Sunday, when Nastase was disqualified for his antics during a match against Ashe, who vowed, "I will never play that man again."

Now a rematch could come earlier than either expected. They could be rivals for the first prize of $40,000 in the final next

Sunday. In Saturday's semi-finals, Ashe plays Bjorn Borg, the 19-year-old Swedish star, and Nastase will face the defending champion, Guillermo Vilas of Argentina.

Nastase, however, may still hear more of last Sunday's scenes, when he acted around until Ashe walked off court in exasperation. The Professional Tennis Council is meeting in Stockholm and discussing a code of conduct for players, and it was learned that Nastase's behavior has already come up for discussion. He has now been disqualified three times this year.

The formula of the Masters, which features the leading players in the year-long Grand Prix, has caused a lot of head-scratching.

It is played in two round robin groups, with the two top men in each group advancing to the semi-finals. If two players finish even, precedence is decided by the percentage of sets won, and after that by the percentage of games won.

As the group play reached its final stage Thursday night, some strange situations were possible. Ashe, already sure of a semi-finals place, could have kept Nastase out of the line-up by losing to Manuel Orantes of Spain.

If Orantes had beaten Ashe by two sets to one, the two would have been even on matches and sets percentage, and officials would then have had to work out a complicated formula to decide which of them was top man in the group. Ashe saved them the trouble by rising to his best form and winning 6-4, 6-1, so Orantes went out.

In the other group, Vilas defeated Borg 7-5, 4-6, 6-1 to the disappointment of a crowd of 4,000, headed by King Carl Gustaf of Sweden.

Unbeaten Broncos Taking To Road

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Western Michigan, the Mid-American Conference basketball favorite, is showing early indications that they're talking about.

The Broncos have a 2-0 record in two home games so far, posting a 77-74 victory over Wisconsin-Parkside and a lopsided 107-73 triumph over Grand Valley State.

"It's evident that we'll get more help from more people this year," said Coach Eldon Miller, preparing his veteran Broncos for a road trip to Wisconsin-Green Bay Saturday.

Miller's confidence must be buoyed the way Western Michigan triumphed at Wisconsin-Parkside Wednesday night. But he warned, "It will be as difficult to win at Green Bay as on the road in the conference."

All but three of the 10 MAC teams — Miami (Ohio), Toledo and Northern Illinois — face activity Saturday.

Ohio University and Bowling Green, off to shaky starts, draw the most difficult assignments.

The Bobcats, 1-2 after escaping college division Marietta Wednesday night, go to Northwestern. The Big Ten hosts stunned highly regarded Kentucky earlier this week.

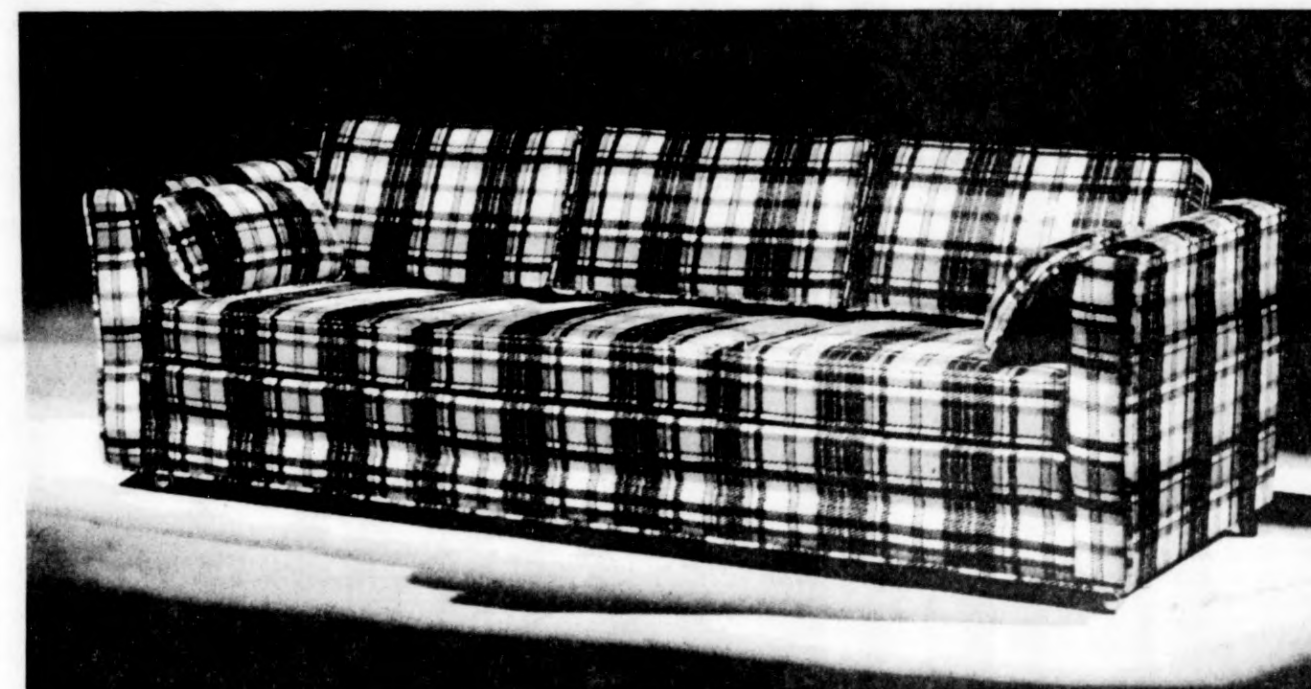

Bowling Green, trying to shake off an upset to Wittenberg Wednesday night, visits St. Joseph's (Pa.), one of the East's perennial powers.

In other games involving MAC squads Saturday, Eastern Michigan hosts Michigan State, Ball State entertains Morehead State, defending champion Central Michigan plays the visiting Titans from the University of Detroit and Kent State goes to Akron.

Ford Won't Have Minicar Till '79

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — Ford Motor Co. will not have a U.S.-built minicar to compete with General Motors' Chevette until 1979 at the earliest, and maybe not at all, a top Ford official said Thursday.

"We probably will build (one) in the U.S. by 1980-81 if ever," said William O. Bourke, executive vice president in charge of Ford's North American automotive operations. "I'd say 1979 is the earliest," Bourke said. Ford has not locked itself into building a Chevette-type car in the United States because of the huge investment required — about $1 billion — and uncertainty over how large and competitive the minicar market will be by 1980.

Meanwhile, Ford plans to be represented in the U.S. minicar segment with a front-wheel drive car imported from West Germany for introduction here around the spring of 1977.

Bourke said the car will be based on a new model scheduled to go into production in West Germany this spring. Comparable in size to the Chevette, the auto, called the Bobcat abroad, will have a 91-cubic-inch engine built in Britain and a transmission-axle system built in France. The U.S. version will be altered only to meet federal emissions and safety standards, Bourke said, adding that Ford hopes to sell about 100,000 units in the first year.

Meanwhile, Ford Motor said Thursday it is adding 22,500 vehicles to its North American production schedules for January and canceling plans for temporary shutdowns of five car plants.

Ford said that additional units would increase previously-set January production schedules by about 9 per cent to 279,000 cars and trucks. That would be a 67 per cent increase over Ford's depressed output of last January.

"The automobile market is bouncing back in fine fashion," said Bourke in announcing production plans.

Officials at Ford, proud of their traditional small-car

leadership, obviously have been rankled by the Chevette, which GM rushed onto the market this fall to combat the growing sales of fuel-slinging imports. The Chevette, based on a car GM has been building in several other countries, is the smallest car produced in America.

Ford's immediate response to the Chevette this fall is an economy version of the subcompact Pinto with improved fuel mileage and a price tag that undercuts Chevette by just $4.

Because of the huge cost to develop and build a minicar — including the engine and transmission — in the United States, Bourke said Ford would have to count on sales of 400,000 to 500,000 a year to justify a U.S. program.

Ford Won't Have Minicar Till '79

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — Ford Motor Co. will not have a U.S.-built minicar to compete with General Motors' Chevette until 1979 at the earliest, and maybe not at all, a top Ford official said Thursday.

"We probably will build (one) in the U.S. by 1980-81 if ever," said William O. Bourke, executive vice president in charge of Ford's North American automotive operations. "I'd say 1979 is the earliest." Bourke said Ford has not locked itself into building a Chevette-type car in the United States because of the huge investment required — about $1 billion — and uncertainty over how large and competitive the minicar market will be by 1980.

Meanwhile, Ford plans to be represented in the U.S. minicar segment with a front-wheel drive car imported from West Germany for introduction here around the spring of 1977.

Bourke said the car will be based on a new model scheduled to go into production in West Germany this spring. Comparable in size to the Chevette, the auto, called the Bobcat abroad, will have a 91-cubic-inch engine built in Britain and a transmission-axle system built in France. The U.S. version will be altered only to meet federal emissions and safety standards, Bourke said, adding that Ford hopes to sell about 100,000 units in the first year.

Meanwhile, Ford Motor said Thursday it is adding 22,500 vehicles to its North American production schedules for January and canceling plans for temporary shutdowns of five car plants.

Ford said that additional units would increase previously-set January production schedules by about 9 per cent to 279,000 cars and trucks. That would be a 67 per cent increase over Ford's depressed output of last January.

"The automobile market is bouncing back in fine fashion," said Bourke in announcing production plans.

Officials at Ford, proud of their traditional small-car

leadership, obviously have been rankled by the Chevette, which GM rushed onto the market this fall to combat the growing sales of fuel-sipping imports. The Chevette, based on a car GM has been building in several other countries, is the smallest car produced in America.

Ford's immediate response to the Chevette this fall is an economy version of the subcompact Pinto with improved fuel mileage and a price tag that undercut Chevette by just $4.

Because of the huge cost to develop and build a minicar — including the engine and transmission — in the United States, Bourke said Ford would have to count on sales of 400,000 to 500,000 a year to justify a U.S. program.

Enroll Now For Spring Classes

PERSONS OVER 62 YEARS OF AGE WHO ARE RETIRED AND ARE RESIDENTS OF THE LAKE MICHIGAN COLLEGE DISTRICT ARE ELIGIBLE TO RECEIVE A TUITION GRANT FOR ANY LAKE MICHIGAN COLLEGE COURSE WHICH HAS AN ENROLLMENT OF 15.

REGULAR REGISTRATION (JANUARY 21-22, 1976)

REGISTRATION FOR SPRING 1976 WILL TAKE PLACE WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 21, AND THURSDAY, JANUARY 22, 1976 FOR STUDENTS WHO HAVE NOT ALREADY REGISTERED FOR CLASSES. REGISTRATION WILL BE HELD IN THE STUDENT CENTER ON THE NAPIER AVENUE CAMPUS OF LAKE MICHIGAN COLLEGE LOCATED ¾ MILES EAST OF I-94 (EXIT 30). FULL-TIME STUDENTS (12 SEMESTER HOURS OR MORE) MUST HAVE APPLIED AND BEEN FORMALLY ACCEPTED INTO A PROGRAM AND SHOULD SEE AN ADVISOR. YOUR PROGRAM PLAN SHEET SHOULD BE SIGNED BY AN ADVISOR. ADVISORS WILL BE AVAILABLE ON JANUARY 22, 1975.

Arabs Of Israel Have A Problem

JERUSALEM (AP) — The 600 Israeli Arabs studying at the Hebrew University in Jerusalem have balked at an order to help guard the campus against Arab terrorist attacks. Their refusal to watch over dormitories is symptomatic of a dilemma among the 500,000 Arabs of Israel — Palestinians who chose to be part of the Jewish state that came into being in 1948, rather than become refugees.

The university controversy, which has sparked demonstrations and sporadic violence, puts into focus the problem of dual loyalty faced by Israel's Palestinians. "We should not be asked to do this," says Nadir Gogaisy, a 24-year-old law student who speaks for the Arab group. "Our situation is too delicate for us to be subjected to such risks."

The university administration has threatened to evict them from the dormitories, which they share with 8,000 Jewish students. The Arabs have offered to perform any alternative duty, even to swab floors, rather than stand guard. The issue has been made more ticklish because of the recent United Nations resolution branding Zionism, the movement that brought about a Jewish homeland in the Middle East, as racist. Some Jewish students claim that extremists among the Arabs have seized upon the security problem as a weapon with which to embarrass the Israelis. "They want to be evicted so they can say the U.N. was right in calling Zionism a form of racism," argues one student.

The guard duty amounts to a two-hour vigil for every 40 days in the company of an armed Jewish student. The Arabs would be unarmed. The Arabs say that if an incident occurs during their stint, they may be accused by the Israelis of working for the terrorists. But if they fail an attack, they will be branded as collaborators by the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO).

The Arabs also point out that Israel does not draft them into the army because of the dual-loyalty problem and they ask why they should be forced to perform guard duty. "Living in the dormitories is a privilege for both Jews and Arabs," replies David Asulin, 27, of the campus student union which is demanding the Arabs do guard duty. "If a bomb explodes, is it going to discriminate between Jews and Arabs?"

Abraham Harman, president of Hebrew University, says: "Guard duty is a necessary nuisance. But we're not asking any Arab to point a machine gun at Syria or Lebanon. If anyone, Jew or Arab, feels it is against his conscience to report a timebomb to the police, then he shouldn't be allowed on the campus."

Arabs Of Israel Have A Problem

JERUSALEM (AP) — The 600 Israeli Arabs studying at the Hebrew University in Jerusalem have balked at an order to help guard the campus against Arab terrorist attacks. Their refusal to watch over dormitories is symptomatic of a dilemma among the 500,000 Arabs of Israel — Palestinians who chose to be part of the Jewish state that came into being in 1948, rather than become refugees.

The university controversy, which has sparked demonstrations and sporadic violence, puts into focus the problem of dual loyalty faced by Israel's Palestinians. "We should not be asked to do this," says Nadir Gegaissy, a 24-year-old law student who speaks for the Arab group. "Our situation is too delicate for us to be subjected to such risks."

The university administration has threatened to evict them from the dormitories, which they share with 6,000 Jewish students. The Arabs have offered to perform any alternative duty, even to swab floors, rather than stand guard. The issue has been made more ticklish because of the recent United Nations resolution branding Zionism, the movement that brought about a Jewish homeland in the Middle East, as racist. Some Jewish students claim that extremists among the Arabs have seized upon the security problem as a weapon with which to embarrass the Israelis. "They want to be evicted so they can say the U.N. was right in calling Zionism a form of racism," argues one student.

The guard duty amounts to a two-hour vigil for every 40 days in the company of an armed Jewish student. The Arabs would be unarmed. The Arabs say that if an incident occurs during their stint, they may be accused by the Israelis of working for the terrorists. But if they foil an attack, they will be branded as collaborators by the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO).

The Arabs also point out that Israel does not draft them into the army because of the dual-loyalty problem and they ask why they should be forced to perform guard duty. "Living in the dormitories is a privilege for both Jews and Arabs," replies David Asulin, 27, of the campus student union which is demanding the Arabs do guard duty. "If a bomb explodes, is it going to discriminate between Jews and Arabs?"

Abraham Harman, president of Hebrew University, says: "Guard duty is a necessary nuisance. But we're not asking any Arab to point a machine gun at Syria or Lebanon. If anyone, Jew or Arab, feels it is against his conscience to report a timebomb to the police, then he shouldn't be allowed on the campus."

Researchers Say Eggs May Not Be So Bad After All

By JOHN MORGANTHAU
Associated Press Writer

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Will eating eggs increase your chance of a heart attack? Should you switch to some product such as Egg Beater or Second Nature? Or is the whole egg-increase-cholesterol argument wrong?

New research at the University of California at Los Angeles seems to say eggs won't hurt you if you're healthy and don't have a cholesterol problem — which most people don't. "If the good Lord hadn't intended for us to eat good eggs, unadulterated, He'd have changed them," says Carlin Hooper, one of San Diego County's biggest egg producers.

"The egg yolk is the single highest source of cholesterol in the diet," said Ben Patrusky, chief of science information for the American Heart Association. That group recommends people eat no more than three eggs a week. "Nonsense. There is absolutely no basis for saying that," said Florence Coats, a spokesman for the National Commission on Egg Nutrition, a producer group.

AWAITING COURT DECISIONS

The commission is awaiting decisions by two federal judges, in Washington and Chicago, on what it can say in ads about eggs and cholesterol, which is a fat-soluble substance in cells and body fluids. People who have heart attacks often have too much of it. The Federal Trade Commission, at the urging of the heart association, brought suit to stop the producers from saying in ads that "There is no scientific evidence that eating eggs contributes to heart attacks."

Since then the egg men changed their ads to substitute "scientific proof" for "scientific evidence." At a hearing in Washington, both sides marshaled prestigious heart doctors and nutritionists to back them up.

Meantime, most egg producers say they are having one of the worst, if not the worst, year in history. They lost money for months but are back to breaking even at about 43 cents a dozen. "It's the worst year I can ever remember," said W. R. Cramer, who has nearly 400,000 chickens in Riverside County and has been in the egg business for 25 years. He figures his loss for the year might hit $200,000 or 50 cents a bird.

He blamed rising costs and the cholesterol scare. "Cholesterol is a problem because certain manufacturers want to play on it," Cramer said. "I mean the corn oil people."

$1 MILLION AD CAMPAIGN

He noted that California's egg producers are spending about $1 million a year for advertising and research to combat the cholesterol scare. "But that's just a drop in the bucket," complained Cramer. "When Fleischmann's hits the tube for Egg Beater they go $5 million at a time."

"That's very, very high," said a spokesman for Standard Brands, maker of both Fleischmann's margarine and Egg Beater. But he wouldn't say how much is being spent to promote the product, which is 83 per cent egg whites, with synthetic yolks and corn oil. It sells for about 95 cents for a 16-ounce carton, equivalent to 10 eggs — but no cholesterol. It's made in St. Louis and Modesto, Calif.

Second Nature, which is somewhat like Egg Beater but contains soy bean oil and is fresh instead of frozen, is made in Gustine, Calif., by Avoset Corp., a wholly owned subsidiary of the Smith, Kline pharmaceutical firm. Avoset won't say how much it spends on national radio and newspaper ads featuring Arthur Godfrey, nor will it say how many egg whites it uses.

Nulaid Food Products sells egg whites to both Egg Beater and Second Nature, but they won't say how much. Hooper, the San Diego egg farmer, says he isn't sure whether the new no-cholesterol products will hurt producers in the long run, since they are mostly eggs. The cracking plants that sell the whites, peddle the yolks to the bakers.

BAD YEAR FOR EGG MEN

Hooper also doesn't feel that it has been an exceptionally bad year for egg men. "We made good money the first four months, and, as usual we lost from Easter to Labor Day," he said. "But we've been making money since Labor Day, and I expect it to continue."

Pushing hard for a strengthening of this apparent upward trend is the state Egg Advisory Board which recently financed a $20,000 research project at UCLA, headed by nutritionist Roslyn Alfin-Slater and her husband biochemist Grant Slater. They fed two extra eggs a day for eight weeks to 25 young men, mostly medical and dental students. Slater said their cholesterol levels rose for three weeks, but then dropped to normal and continued normal the rest of the eight weeks. He said it was probably because their systems adjusted to the increased cholesterol intake after three weeks.

They also fed extra eggs to a group of 27 older men, aged 39 to 66. Most of them were Mormons, simply because one recruit brought along a group from his church. Mormons don't smoke, drink alcohol, coffee or tea, and as a result they were below the

That group was given one egg more each day than they were normally eating — and one man was eating 21 a week. Slater said six of the older men were scratched from the experiment for "not being truthful." The remaining 21, "as a group" showed no change in cholesterol levels, he said. Three of them had up to 10 per cent more cholesterol, but another three had about 5 per cent less. Slater said there was some slight evidence that coronary heart disease may not be caused by high cholesterol, even though there is a positive correlation between the two. "There's a question of cause and effect. Maybe something else is damaging the blood vessels, and cholesterol accumulates as a protective mechanism," he said.

The Federal Trade Commission, at the urging of the heart association, brought suit to stop the producers from saying in ads that "There is no scientific evidence that eating eggs contributes to heart attacks."

Since then the egg men changed their ads to substitute "scientific proof" for "scientific evidence." At a hearing in Washington, both sides marshaled prestigious heart doctors and nutritionists to back them up.

Meantime, most egg producers say they are having one of the worst, if not the worst, year in history. They lost money for months but are back to breaking even at about 43 cents a dozen. "It's the worst year I can ever remember," said W. R. Cramer, who has nearly 400,000 chickens in Riverside County and has been in the egg business for 25 years. He figures his loss for the year might hit $200,000 or 50 cents a bird.

He blamed rising costs and the cholesterol scare. "Cholesterol is a problem because certain manufacturers want to play on it," Cramer said. "I mean the corn oil people."

$1 MILLION AD CAMPAIGN

He noted that California's egg producers are spending about $1 million a year for advertising and research to combat the cholesterol scare. "But that's just a drop in the bucket," complained Cramer. "When Fleischmann's hits the tube for Egg Beater they go $5 million at a time."

"That's very, very high," said a spokesman for Standard Brands, maker of both Fleischmann's margarine and Egg Beater. But he wouldn't say how much is being spent to promote the product, which is 83 per cent egg whites, with synthetic yolks and corn oil. It sells for about 95 cents for a 16-ounce carton, equivalent to 10 eggs — but no cholesterol. It's made in St. Louis and Modesto, Calif.

Second Nature, which is somewhat like Egg Beater but contains soy bean oil and is fresh instead of frozen, is made in Gustine, Calif., by Avoset Corp., a wholly owned subsidiary of the Smith, Kline pharmaceutical firm. Avoset won't say how much it spends on national radio and newspaper ads featuring Arthur Godfrey, nor will it say how many egg whites it uses.

Nulaid Food Products sells egg whites to both Egg Beater and Second Nature, but they won't say how much. Hooper, the San Diego egg farmer, says he isn't sure whether the new no-cholesterol products will hurt producers in the long run, since they are mostly eggs. The cracking plants that sell the whites, peddle the yolks to the bakers.

BAD YEAR FOR EGG MEN

Hooper also doesn't feel that it has been an exceptionally bad year for egg men. "We made good money the first four months, and, as usual we lost from Easter to Labor Day," he said. "But we've been making money since Labor Day, and I expect it to continue."

Pushing hard for a strengthening of this apparent upward trend is the state Egg Advisory Board which recently financed a $20,000 research project at UCLA, headed by nutritionist Roslyn Alfin-Slater and her husband biochemist Grant Slater. They fed two extra eggs a day for eight weeks to 25 young men, mostly medical and dental students. Slater said their cholesterol levels rose for three weeks, but then dropped to normal and continued normal the rest of the eight weeks. He said it was probably because their systems adjusted to the increased cholesterol intake after three weeks.

They also fed extra eggs to a group of 27 older men, aged 39 to 66. Most of them were Mormons, simply because one recruit brought along a group from his church. Mormons don't smoke, drink alcohol, coffee or tea, and as a result they were below the average cholesterol level — "superhealthy," said Slater.

That group was given one egg more each day than they were normally eating — and one man was eating 21 a week. Slater said six of the older men were scratched from the experiment for "not being truthful." The remaining 21 "as a group" showed no change in cholesterol levels, he said. Three of them had up to 10 per cent more cholesterol, but another three had about 5 per cent less.

Slater said there was some slight evidence that coronary heart disease may not be caused by high cholesterol, even though there is a positive correlation between the two. "There's a question of cause and effect. Maybe something else is damaging the blood vessels, and cholesterol accumulates as a protective mechanism," he said.

Rail Bill Faces Ford's Veto

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate-approved bill that would provide funds for rebuilding the nation's rail system still faces a threatened veto from President Ford.

The Senate voted 53 to 38 late Thursday to authorize the controversial expenditure of $8.8 billion on the rail system, despite a pledge from Ford to veto the bill as too costly.

Rail Bill Faces Ford's Veto

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate-approved bill that would provide funds for rebuilding the nation's rail system still faces a threatened veto from President Ford.

The Senate voted 53 to 38 late Thursday to authorize the controversial expenditure of $8.6 billion on the rail system, despite a pledge from Ford to veto the bill as too costly.

Second Fisherman's Body Found

SOUTH HAVEN — The body of Richard Baginski, 26, missing in Lake Michigan since a fishing boat was swamped near St. Joseph Oct. 23, was found near here yesterday.
State police at South Haven said the body was found on the beach near 109th avenue in Allegan county's Casen township, north of South Haven.
According to officers, identification was made by a driver's license found on the body.
Officers said the body was found by a hiker around 12:20 p.m. The body was taken initially to Calvin Funeral home, South Haven and then to the Dey-Florin funeral home, St. Joseph, where arrangements were being made.
Baginski was one of two men missing in the lake after the boat was swamped. A third man was rescued after spending nearly 25 hours in the water.

Baginski resided at 2182 Glenford road, St. Joseph, at the time of the accident. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Baginski and had been employed at Auto Specialties Manufacturing company's Riverside plant.

Fire Razes House In Pipestone
EAU CLAIRE — An unoccupied, two-story frame house was destroyed by fire last night about four miles northwest of here on Hartman road in Pipestone township.

Volunteer firemen from the Eau Claire village, Berrien and Pipestone townships department said the blaze was reported at 12:05 a.m. after it was discovered by Mrs. Larry Zielke, who lives across the road.
Firemen said the fire was believed to have started in the attic but cause has not been determined. They said the house had been recently purchased by Carl Siler of Sodus.
The volunteers, assisted by units from the Sodus township fire department, were on the scene until 5 a.m. when the blaze was finally extinguished. No injuries were reported.

It's Tax Time In Bainbridge

Bainbridge township residents will be able to pay 1975 property tax bills Saturday, Dec. 6, at the home of Bainbridge Treasurer James Lull on Hill road from 9 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 5 p.m.

Lull said taxes will also be collected Dec. 12 at the downtown Benton Harbor branch of the Farmer's and Merchants National bank, on Dec. 19 at the Millburg bank, and on Dec. 26 at the Bainbridge township hall.

Times will be the same as on Saturday.

Taxes for 1975 to be collected by Lull total $521,679. He said $347,853 will be distributed to school districts serving the township and $13,808 will be retained for township operations.

The balance will go to county government and the Intermediate school district.

Market Reacts To News

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market gained ground today with a lift from news of a decline in the unemployment rate.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up a fraction in the early going, and gainers took a 5-3 lead over losers on the New York Stock Exchange.

As trading began, the Labor Department reported that the jobless rate dropped to 8.3 per cent last month from 8.6 in October.

Analysts said the statistics helped ease some recent concern that the economic recovery might be faltering.

Today's early prices included Sony, down 1/4 at 10; Pittsburg, off 1/4 at 28 1/4; Southern Co., up 1/4 at 13 1/4; and Ramada Inns, ahead 1/4 at 37 1/4.

In Thursday's mixed market the Dow Jones industrial average picked up 3.62 to 829.11.

But losers held a slight overall edge on gainers at the NYSE. The Exchange's composite index rose .10 to 46.35.

Big Board volume was a moderate 16.38 million shares.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index edged up .04 to 82.77.

Second Fisherman's Body Found

SOUTH HAVEN — The body of Richard Baginski, 26, missing in Lake Michigan since a fishing boat was swamped near St. Joseph Oct. 23, was found near here yesterday.

State police at South Haven said the body was found on the beach near 109th avenue in Allegan county's Casco township, north of South Haven.

According to officers, identification was made by a driver's license found on the body.

Officers said the body was found by a hiker around 12:20 p.m. The body was taken initially to Calvin Funeral home, South Haven and then to the Dey-Florin funeral home, St. Joseph, where arrangements were being made.

Baginski was one of two men missing in the lake after the boat was swamped. A third man was rescued after spending nearly 25 hours in the water.

It's Tax Time In Bainbridge

Bainbridge township residents will be able to pay 1975 property tax bills Saturday, Dec. 6, at the home of Bainbridge Treasurer James Lull on Hill road from 9 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 5 p.m.

Lull said taxes will also be collected Dec. 12 at the downtown Benton Harbor branch of the Farmer's and Merchants National bank, on Dec. 19 at the Millburg bank, and on Dec. 26 at the Bainbridge township hall.

Times will be the same as on Saturday.

Taxes for 1975 to be collected by Lull total $521,679. He said $347,853 will be distributed to school districts serving the township and $13,809 will be retained for township operations.

The balance will go to county government and the Intermediate school district.

The body of the other missing man, Michael Schulz, 26, was found Nov. 14 on the beach a half-mile north of Rocky Gap park in Berrien county's Benton township.

Baginski resided at 2182 Glenford road, St. Joseph, at the time of the accident. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Baginski and had been employed at Auto Specialties Manufacturing company's Riverside plant.

Fire Razes House In Pipestone

EAU CLAIRE — An unoccupied, two-story frame house was destroyed by fire last night about four miles northwest of here on Hartman road in Pipestone township.

Volunteer firemen from the Eau Claire village, Berrien and Pipestone townships department said the blaze was reported at 12:05 a.m. after it was discovered by Mrs. Larry Zielke, who lives across the road.

Firemen said the fire was believed to have started in the attic but cause has not been determined. They said the house had been recently purchased by Carl Siler of Sodas.

The volunteers, assisted by units from the Sodas township fire department, were on the scene until 5 a.m. when the blaze was finally extinguished. No injuries were reported.

Watervliet Tax Notices

WATERVLLET — Winter tax notices are being mailed to Watervliet city residents this week, according to William B. Rogers, city treasurer.

Rogers reported nearly 1,200 notices will be sent out, with the amount to be collected for distribution to schools and county functions totaling $385,420. None of the winter tax money is retained for city services, according to city officials.

Rogers announced the only tax collection date scheduled for this month will be Wednesday, Dec. 17, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Watervliet city hall. The final date for payment of the winter tax without penalty is Feb. 15 according to Rogers.

Annual Niles Benefit

NILES — Frank Frucel Jr. will stage his 16th annual benefit for the Niles Association for Exceptional Children at his restaurant here Tuesday, Dec. 9. Patrons at Franky's restaurant will dine as Frucel's guests from 11 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

All contributions will be donated to the association's programs for retarded residents of the Niles area. The association's programs include an activity center, sports and social activities.

TODAY In History

By Associated Press
Today is Friday, Dec. 5, the 339th day of 1975. There are 26 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
On this date in 1833, prohibition ended in the U.S. as Utah became the 30th state to ratify the 21st constitutional amendment, repealing the 18th.

On this date:
In 1492, Columbus discovered the West Indian island of Santo Domingo.

In 1782, the eighth American president, Martin Van Buren, was born in Kinderhook, New York.

In 1848, President James Polk announced that gold had been discovered in California. The gold rush of '49 followed.

In 1918, in World War I, German naval forces blockaded the Baltic Sea.

In 1934, 66 persons were executed in Russia after purge trials.

Ten years ago: The U.S. two-man Gemini Seven spacecraft was circling the earth prior to attempting the first linkup with another craft while in orbit.

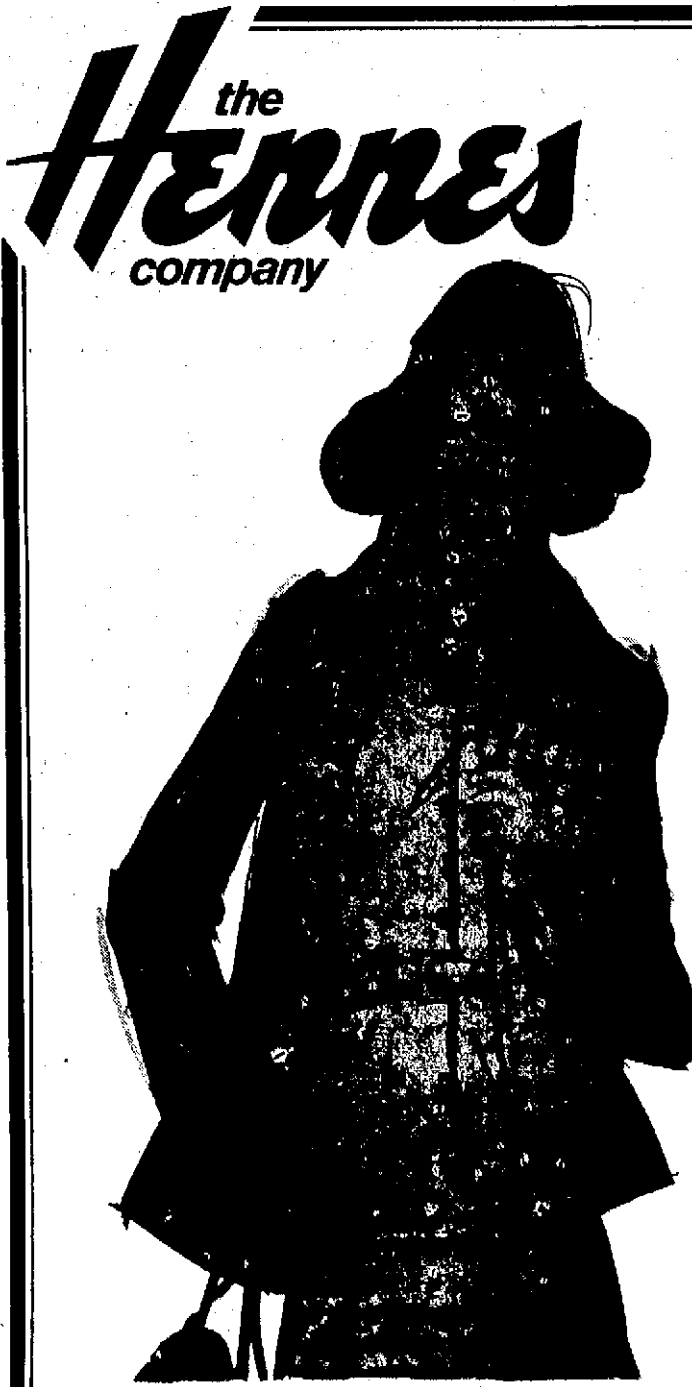

Five years ago: 11 men were arrested in Ireland in a widening search for underground terrorists accused of conspiring against the government.

One year ago: West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt conferred at the White House with President Ford and agreed to close consultations with the U.S. on oil and other economic matters.

Today's birthdays:
Republican Senator Strom Thurmond of South Carolina is 73 years old. Former Army Secretary Stanley Resor is 58.

Thought for today: Meet success like a gentleman and disaster like a man — Lord Birkenhead, English statesman, 1872-1930.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, it was reported that British soldiers besieged in Boston in the early days of the Revolutionary War were cold and were disobeying orders and tearing down fences and houses for firewood.

Quality means something more to us.

You might say that we've become accustomed to quality brand names after being in business since 1884 and offering men's and women's clothing made by Hart Schaffner & Marx, Pendleton, H. Freeman, Lady Manhattan, and London Fog. Merely stocking such apparel is not reason enough (to our way of thinking) for you to shop here.

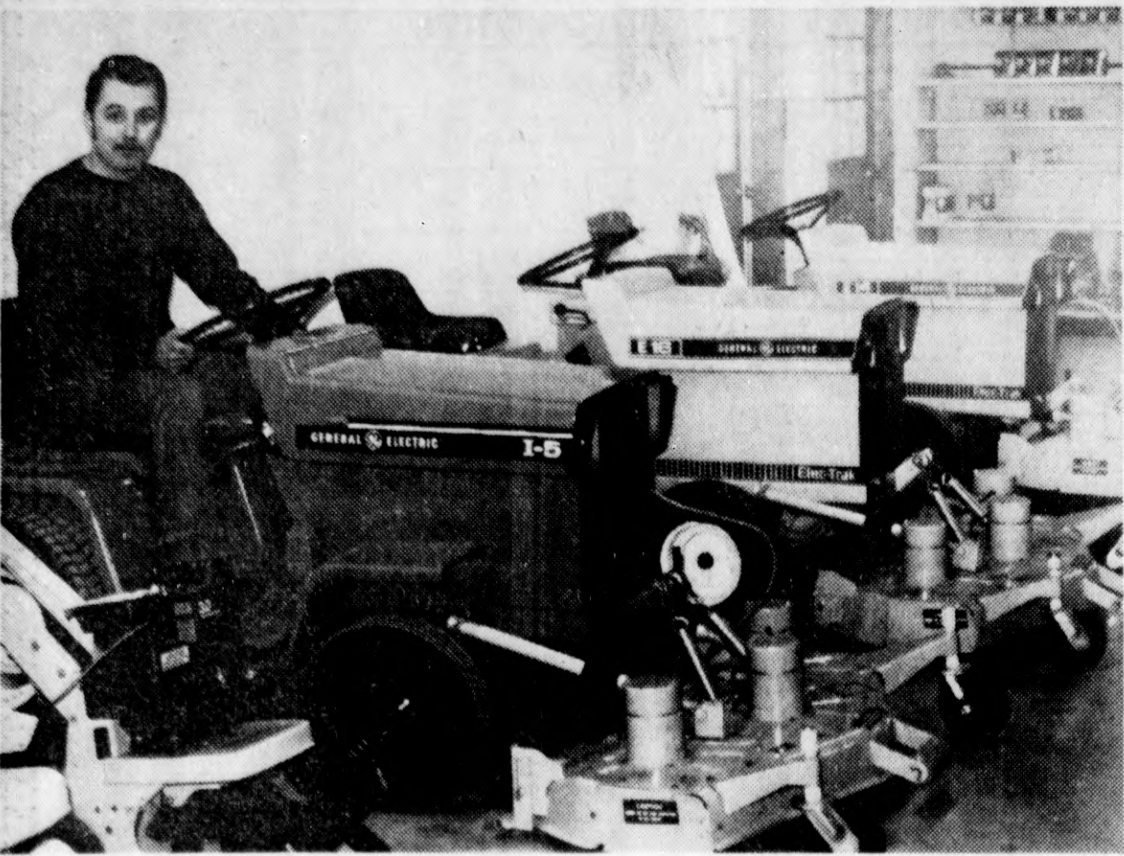

There are other things just as important. Quality at The Hennes Company means friendly, helpful service; expert tailoring and a perfect fit; convenient hours and front door parking; and any other effort we can make to ensure your complete satisfaction on every purchase.

So if you're looking for a little more than fine apparel, perhaps we ought to get together and we could call it Quality, Plus.

Christmas Hours:
Weekdays 9:30 a.m. to 8:30 p.m.
